STRICT CONTROL OF LIQUOR GIVEN TO U. S. BY CODE

Rule Distillers by License.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—In the proposed distillers' code made public today the Agricultural Adjustment administration revealed President Roosevelt's plan for strict government control of the production and marketing of intoxicating liquor from the moment the repeal of national prohibition becomes effective.

Under the terms of the code, distillers' views of which will be heard Friday, the distilling of spirituous liquors is to be placed under the supervision of a federal alcohol administration empowered to rule the industry with an iron hand.

The code includes provisions calculated to divorce distilling concerns from any interest in saloons or other retail selling places, to eliminate bootlegging and racketeering, to insure profitable returns to American farmers for the ingredients of liquor, and to regulate prices to consumers.

Distillers' Code Discarded.

George Peek, agricultural adjustment administrator, tossed the code submitted by the distillers into the waste basket, in a manner of speaking, and tentatively accepted the code framed by the President's intradepartmental committee, of which Herman Oliphant, the new general counsel to the secretary of the treasury, is chairman.

The pertinent portions of the code were read to Mr. Roosevelt over the long distance telephone this morning. Although the committee had rejected the President's suggestion of liquor control by a government corporation, Mr. Roosevelt indicated that he would approve the code in the form now proposed. The indications, therefore, are that the code will be imposed on the distillers in the near future whether they like it or not.

The code is primarily designed merely to bridge the interregnum between Dec. 5, when prohibition will be formally repealed, and such time next year as congress shall enact legislation governing the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor. The administration, however, contemplates putting through congress legislation erecting the same machinery of control as is provided in the code.

Similar Codes for Beer and Wine.

According to the AAA similar but considerably less drastic codes will be adopted to control the brewing of malt liquors and the manufacture of wines. The aim is to carry out the President's notion that the best thing for this country would be less hard liquor and more wine and beer.

The distillery code provides that the federal alcohol control administration consist of five members appointed by the President. No person is to be permitted to engage in distilling except under a permit issued by the director of the administration.

The provision for divorce of the saloon from the distillery forbids any member of the industry "to hold any interest in any license for the sale of distilled spirits at retail, or in any premises used therefor, or in any way, directly or indirectly, to participate or engage in the retail sale of distilled spirits; or to have control of, employ, manage, or financially assist in any manner, any person engaging in the retail sale of distilled spirits."

Racketeers Outlawed.

Racketeers are to be outlawed by the provision that the sale of liquor to any retail outlet not licensed either under state law or the code itself is prohibited. The code declares it an unfair practice "to sell or otherwise dispose of distilled spirits to any person not authorized by license in full force and effect; to sell, manufacture or distribute distilled spirits if such a license is required of such person by state law, or to sell or otherwise dispose of distilled spirits to any member of an industry covered by any intoxicating beverages code under the act, if such member is engaged in business without a permit in full force and effect under such code and such a permit is required by the code."

Distillers are forbidden to transport or import spirits into any dry state or dry political subdivision thereof. For violation of any of these provisions permits to operate distilleries are to be withdrawn.

Distillers are to be required to post all prices and conditions of sale. To assure fair returns to the industry, on the one hand, and discourage moonshining and bootlegging, on the other.

Fire Lee Tracy for an Insult to Mexicans

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—When Lee Tracy gets back to Hollywood tomorrow he will be a man without a job.

Louis B. Mayer, executive in charge of the studio which employed the actor, tonight wired a telegram of apology for Tracy's conduct in Mexico to the president of the southern republic. The telegram also announced to Mexican authorities that Tracy has been fired. His five year contract had four years to run.

Tracy was twice arrested in Mexico City and fined on a charge of "offending public morals."

Message to President.

The message to President Abelardo Rodriguez praised the Mexican people and gave some praise also to the film "Viva Villa," which the American company was producing in Mexico, a picture which, the telegram said, was nevertheless one "of which Mexico, as well as the United States, might be proud."

"The unfortunate incident involving one of the actors in the film, Lee Tracy," it added, "and the insult offered by this actor to the Mexican cadet corps has embarrassed and shocked the M-G-M organization fully as deeply as the Mexican people.

"As a result of this actor's deplorable behavior M-G-M has removed him not only from the film 'Viva Villa' but has dismissed him entirely from its employ and canceled his long term contract.

"The officials of this company wish to take this opportunity of apologizing for the wretched conduct of one of its employés and of assuring its regrets to the Mexican people and the cadets against whom the indignity was visited."

Arrested on Two Complaints.

Tracy, who was accused of standing on the hotel balcony and making opprobrious sounds when the San Jacinto Military academy cadets marched by his hotel, was arrested shortly afterward. A Mexican attorney, who said that he and his twelve year old daughter witnessed the episode, complained to Mexico City police that Tracy had appeared on the balcony almost nude.

Several Americans interceded for the actor and he was released, but was rearrested on a second complaint and fined 500 pesos.

The Tracy incident was only one of a series of complications which beset the American film troupe which left here for Mexico last month. It brought redoubled disapproval upon the Hollywood company that had already been charged in Mexican newspapers with "distorting history."

Soon after Tracy slipped out of Mexico, the company tried to send the completed part of the film out of the country by plane. The film, valued at $75,000, was burned when the plane crashed near the border.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 22.—(AP)—He wasn't nude—he had on pajama pants—and he didn't thumb his nose—he "framed a picture" with his hands.

That's how Lee Tracy described the balcony scene in Mexico, D. F., that led to his arrest for offending military cadets during a parade last Sunday.

The actor declared Mexican newspapers erred in saying he appeared unclad on a hotel balcony and thumbed his nose at the cadets.

"I was just helping them celebrate. I'd been on a cabaret party and had some drinks and, like any drunk, I began yelling," said Tracy.

"Some one yelled back and I shouted, 'Why don't you go to ——?'"

"It's probable I was gesturing with my hands in front of my face, 'framing' a picture. But I didn't thumb my nose to any one. I'm always 'framing' pictures, but that habit won't get me in trouble again. From now on I'm just going to try to act in 'em."

YOUNG COAL DEALER WINS $320,000 PRIZE IN FRENCH LOTTERY

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Louis Ribiere, 32, who keeps a little coal and wood shop in Avignon, was taking a cup of coffee at a bar he frequents at 6 a. m. today when the newspapers arrived containing the winning numbers of the French national lottery. The barman passed one of the papers to Ribiere, who, after reading part of the numbers, dropped his spoon on the bar, whirled out of the building, and disappeared running down the street. Ribiere ran as fast as his legs would carry him to his home, where he got out his lottery ticket and verified the fact he had won five million francs ($320,000 at present rate of exchange).

Shouting like a wild man, he dashed out and raced through the narrow streets to a building where his mother works as a janitress. "Mother, wake up, wake up!" he shouted. "We're rich."

Many similar stories are being told in the French press today about winners of lottery prizes, among whom were a Paris concierge, a hired man on a farm near Nimes, who won one million francs, and a man who loads trucks in the Paris central markets who won 500,000 francs.

Bankers Ask U. S. Return to Gold Basis

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The advisory council of the federal reserve board, composed of leading bankers in each of the twelve federal reserve districts, has gone on record in favor of the reëstablishment of the currency on a gold basis, coupled with safeguards to be agreed upon by international action.

The members of the council met here on Monday and Tuesday and adopted a resolution setting forth its views on the currency problem. The resolution will be circulated among all the member banks in the federal reserve system.

Text of Resolution.

The text of the resolution, as given out by an authoritative source, is as follows:

"While the council is in sympathy with the general purposes of the administration, it believes these are not to be accomplished by a currency of fluctuating value.

"The members of the federal advisory council believe:

"1. That a higher price level is beneficial only if accompanied by higher natural income, and that can only be brought about by increased volume of business and increased employment.

"2. That a depreciating and fluctuating currency value will not adjust existing discrepancies in the price level.

"3. That as long as there is uncertainty in regard to the future value of the monetary unit there can be no lasting or fundamental improvement in business.

Point to U. S. Bond Prices.

"3. That this uncertainty tends and has tended to depress the market price of government securities and corporate and municipal bonds, which, in turn, has affected and will continue to affect adversely the entire economic structure and thus stand in the way of recovery."

The resolution further states that unless there is monetary stabilization it will become increasingly difficult for the government to finance its large commitments for reconstruction purposes and to refinance its maturing obligations. "The resulting uncertainty will especially affect and cause great uneasiness among the millions of wage earners, savings depositors, and holders of insurance policies."

Tom K. Smith, president of the Boatmen's National bank in St. Louis, Mo., since June 1, 1929, today was invited to become adviser to the treasury, succeeding Prof. O. M. W. Sprague.

U. S. WILL BUY OWN BONDS TO BOLSTER PRICES

Plan Announced by Morgenthau.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Warned that the whole fate of the Roosevelt new deal rests in the continued ability of the government to borrow the billions it is spending, Henry Morgenthau Jr., acting secretary of the treasury, brushed the fears aside today and confidently stated that "the credit of the United States is as good as the Rock of Gibraltar."

But almost in the same breath Mr. Morgenthau disclosed that in order to bolster up the sagging prices of United States government securities the treasury department itself will buy federal bonds with some of its surplus funds.

Critics of the Roosevelt-Morgenthau policies immediately pointed out that the necessity of the government to buy its own paper to maintain its values augurs ill for the time when the treasury must sell billions of new securities to finance the new deal activities.

See Peril in Position.

As the advocates of the Roosevelt monetary policies settled in their duties in the Morgenthau régime, and the sound money men continued their exodus, a capitulation was made by some of the latter to show the perilousness of the treasury's position.

The budget bureau, departing from a custom of years, has refused to disclose preliminary figures concerning the probable deficit for the present fiscal year ending next June 30. But it was learned today that the deficit will be greater than ever before during any peace time year; that the deficit will be at least 4 billion dollars, and may run to a maximum of 5 billion 300 million dollars.

To meet this deficit will require all of the money the treasury has already borrowed and the revenues it will receive, and additional sums ranging from 2 billions to 3 billion 200 million dollars.

In addition to this borrowing for the drastic expenditures of the Roosevelt recovery program, the treasury must refinance large portions of the public debt, and before June 30 must obtain for this purpose the sum of 2 billion 558 millions.

Billions to Be Required.

Thus, it was pointed out, Mr. Morgenthau must obtain from banks and the general investing public, during the next seven months, a huge sum ranging from 4 billion 558 millions to 5 billion 758 millions of dollars. Mr. Morgenthau is making light of the treasury's predicament, but some of the experts who have left his department, chiefly Prof. Oliver M. W. Sprague, who resigned yesterday, see the doom of the recovery program in the offing.

Prof. Sprague said today that the administration would be driven to uncontrolled inflation to obtain funds to continue the public works program, the farm relief measures, the financing of farm and home mortgages, the loans to business enterprises.

So long as the investing public and the nation's bankers had confidence in the currency of the country and knew that the government's paper would be stable in its future value there was hope, Prof. Sprague said, that the treasury would be able to finance the operations of the new deal.

Fears Refusal to Loan.

But as he visioned the treasury, under Mr. Morgenthau, pursuing the Roosevelt policy for smashing the value of the American dollar in an effort to push up prices, Dr. Sprague expressed his fears that the public would refuse to loan their savings to the government.

Under the Sprague reasoning, the outlook, after the breakdown of the government's credit, would be first toward the spending of the government's remaining assets, its surplus funds, the gold it holds in treasury and federal reserve vaults, and then printing press inflation.

At the end of such a profligate path, the exiled experts point out, lies the end of the Roosevelt revolution, for without money, they declare, the whole new deal program must collapse.

The Republican critics of Mr. Roosevelt are circulating over the country pamphlets quoting from his campaign speech at Pittsburgh in which he condemned emphatically the deficits of the Hoover administration.

The Hoover deficit in 1931 was 903

Pal Gives Alibi for Husband of Dead Girl

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 23 [Thursday].—[Special.]—Stanley Young, companion of Earle Wynekoop on a photographing expedition to the Grand canyon, was questioned by police here early this morning and established a record of the whereabouts of Wynekoop at the time the latter's wife, Rheta, was found slain in a murder mystery in Chicago Tuesday afternoon.

"Earle and I were almost constantly together from Monday night until ten or twelve hours ago," he said.

Tells of Movements.

Young then detailed, according to his best recollections, his and Wynekoop's movements.

"On Monday night," he said, "we slept at the home of George E. Q. Johnson, former district attorney in Chicago. He is my uncle. We left his home about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, and we drove to Beverly Hills. We left there around 10 o'clock in Earle's car, our ultimate destination being Arizona.

"Our first stop was in Peoria. While in Peoria, Earle sent a telegram to Chicago. At the time of the murder, as I understand it, we were in or near Peoria.

"Then we drove on to Kansas City, and put up at the Pickwick hotel. I was with Earle almost constantly. In the afternoon [Wednesday] Earle learned of his wife's death. He was upset, and immediately made plans to return to Chicago."

Gives Up Plane Trip.

Young told police that Wynekoop planned to return home by plane and that he accompanied him to the airport to make reservations. Wynekoop, he said, gave up the plane trip when told the weather was rough.

Late in the afternoon [Wednesday] Wynekoop telephoned Young, the latter said, telling him he planned to go to Chicago on the 6 o'clock train. Young did not hear from him after that and presumed he departed by rail as he had announced.

Young, when questioned about their return to Chicago a few days ago after they had already been in Kansas City, told about Wynekoop's apparent desire not to get in touch with his wife Rheta. Earle, he said, did not want Rheta to know he was in town.

POLICE DO SOME SPEEDY WORK IN BLACKMAIL CASE

During the last few weeks Charles Di Biase, 3233 Union avenue, owner of a news stand at Dearborn and Washington streets, has received three threatening letters demanding $3,500.

The last letter, decorated with pictures of skull and crossbones and a graveyard, ordered him to place the money beneath the horse of the Logan monument at 11th street and Michigan avenue at 10:30 o'clock last night.

Di Biase notified the police and prepared to place a decoy package. Five detectives hid near the monument last night, and at 10:30 they saw a man run up the monument mound, look under the horse, and run down again. Police seized him just as Di Biase arrived tardily to place the dummy package. The prisoner was Robert Maynard, 35 years old, a Negro living at 9 West 21st street. He denied the blackmail attempt, but is being held.

MOTHER TELLS OF KILLING; FIND CLEWS IN HOME

Prowler Is Blamed by Woman Doctor.

A full page of pictures of the principals in the strange murder case of Mrs. Rheta Wynekoop will be found on the back page.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

A mass of evidence was accumulating last night to indicate that some one close to the strange household of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop either killed or is shielding the killer of Mrs. Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, daughter-in-law of the noted woman physician. The victim was 23 years old.

Meanwhile the young victim's husband, Earle Wynekoop, son of Dr. Wynekoop, is reported on his way to Chicago from Kansas City by train, due to arrive here this morning. It was informally established early this morning that he was in or near Peoria on an automobile trip west with a friend, Stanley Young, at the time of the slaying. Wynekoop left Chicago only a few hours before the crime was committed, however, and police wish to question him in the hope of uncovering facts which may help to solve the murder.

Detectives Disclose Clews.

Aside from interest in examining young Wynekoop, the police concentrated their investigation on the physical evidence at hand. Such evidence, according to detectives, tended to disprove explanations that Mrs. Wynekoop was a victim of an unknown marauder.

Three blood stained blankets, a chloroform mask, and Dr. Wynekoop's own revolver comprised the chief articles of physical evidence. They were found in the death house at 3406 West Monroe street, the home of Dr. Wynekoop and the slain wife. Since Tuesday night, when young Mrs. Wynekoop was found shot once in the back and almost nude on an operating table in the basement by Dr. Wynekoop, detectives have examined every possible foot of space.

A Prowler, Says Mother.

Supervising Captain John Stege questioned the woman physician during a greater part of the night in the Fillmore police station and she held steadfastly to the theory that her daughter-in-law was slain by an intruder, perhaps a burglar or drug addict who sought narcotics. To support that explanation Dr. Wynekoop pointed out that whoever it was had stolen $6 from her office desk and had also taken the gun with which Mrs. Wynekoop was slain.

The story of the missing $6—and necessarily the implication of an intruder—was scouted by Capt. Stege.

Rheta Wynekoop, he insisted—and he pointed to physical evidence—was either in the hands of some one in whom she reposed full confidence as she disrobed on the operating table, or possibly she was unconscious from the bullet wound and some one was preparing to operate to save her life, giving it up when it was discovered she was dead.

That some anaesthetic was administered was indicated by burns around the young woman's mouth. These burns were due to chloroform, according to Dr. Thomas L. Dwyer, coroner's physician who made the post-mortem examination.

Tells of Meeting Son.

Until early this morning Dr. Wynekoop submitted to questioning. She appeared willing to aid the police, but seemed tired as hour after hour passed. Once she admitted to Acting Captain Thomas Duffy of Fillmore street station that she last saw her son Earle last Sunday afternoon. At that time, she said, she met him at 67th street and Kedzie avenue following a telephone call from him asking her to meet him. She did not explain why Rheta Wynekoop did not meet him. She said she and Earle talked about his expected journey to the west on a camera expedition with Young.

Police said that they saw in the association of the mother and son a close bond and an indication that Dr. Wynekoop's affection for him was strong. At the same time they recalled the fact that Earle had not been home for five days before the killing, although in Chicago at the time.

A Terrible Ordeal.

Shortly after midnight this morning Capt. Stege released Dr. Wynekoop and several other witnesses in care of her attorney, Frank Tyrrell. As she left the station Dr. Wynekoop showed the first trace of emotion.

"It has been a terrible ordeal here," she said. "I have to face the world with a feeling of guilt or at least of carelessness. Besides I have to go back to that empty house with my daughter gone."

A few minutes later Dr. Wynekoop was back at the house of death on Monroe street. A crowd of more than 100 neighborhood men and women stood outside. In front passed a string of automobiles. It had been that way all night. Inside the house and without removing her hat or coat, Dr. Wynekoop picked up a morning newspaper and read the story of the murder of Rheta and the attendant investigation.

Insurance Is Revealed.

Capt. Stege during the night had followed a number of angles in his investigation. He had been inclined, he said, to hold Dr. Wynekoop for the resumption of the coroner's inquest on Dec. 4, to which time it was continued yesterday. At the inquest Dr. Wynekoop testified that she knew of no insurance on the life of her daughter-in-law. But later inquiry disclosed that Dr. Wynekoop had taken out a $5,000 double indemnity insurance policy on Rheta's life eleven days ago, paying the first premium out of her own purse and having herself named as beneficiary.

"Of course, at this time we have not a complete solution of the case," said Capt. Stege. "There are several matters that must be developed, some of which have been necessarily delayed."

G. E. Q. Johnson Tells of Trip.

Details of the trip west were given last night by George E. Q. Johnson, former United States district attorney, uncle of Stanley Young. Mr. Johnson told questioners that Earle Wynekoop and Stanley had left Chicago for the west last week, but had returned last Thursday and had departed again Tuesday morning after spending Monday night at his home on the south side.

Mr. Johnson, seen in his home at 7327 Crandon avenue, told of the movements of the boys, and their plans to go out west to make color photographs. He discussed the all important Peoria telegram supposedly wired by Earle to his mother stating that "Stanley had domestic trouble. Left this [Tuesday] morning instead. Arrived tonight." Mr. Johnson expressed himself puzzled over it.

"Stanley isn't married," he said.

"The boys left Chicago around Nov. 12 to go to the Grand Canyon to make pictures of the Santa Fe and the Harvey restaurants," said Judge Johnson. "They hoped to get contracts. They reached Kansas City on Nov. 13, and then, to complete arrangements for their work, returned to Chicago. They got back on Thursday, Nov. 16.

"Last Sunday night, Nov. 19, they visited my home for a while, then left, Stanley to go to his home, and Earle Wynekoop presumably to go to his.

Ask to Stay All Night.

"They returned to my home the next evening, Monday, Nov. 20, after Stanley had called saying: 'Expect two for dinner.' While here they asked me if they could stay at my home all night, so they could get an early start in the morning. At 10:30 Tuesday morning, the day of the murder, they left my home on their trip."

According to Mr. Johnson the Youngs had recently moved from a Harper avenue address and were not quite settled. Stanley's mother, Mrs. Sophia Young, is a sister of Judge Johnson's wife. Mrs. Young, during the moving period, has stayed a night or two with the Johnsons.

Members of the Wynekoop household and the doctor's family remained at Fillmore station yesterday afternoon and last night while the woman physician was being questioned. In the group were her daughter, Dr. Katherine Wynekoop, a physician at the county hospital; her son, Walker Wynekoop, a label manufacturer living in Glencoe, and her sister, Mrs. Harvey Woods, wife of a former mayor of Joliet.

Recall Four Other Deaths.

But the sinister atmosphere surrounding the moldy Wynekoop mansion in Monroe street was deepened when gossiping neighbors, assembled at the inquest into Rheta Wynekoop's death, began to recall the circumstances surrounding four others deaths occurring there in the last four years.

The first of these deaths, as the neighbors recalled them, was that of the woman physician's husband, Dr. Frank E. Wynekoop, a man of apparent strong constitution, who suddenly sickened and died in January of 1929. The second was that of an adopted daughter, Mary Louise, whose death last March occasioned less comment, she having been less robust than her foster father.

The third death was that of Miss Catherine Porter, a spinster of Dr. Wynekoop's own age, whom Dr. Alice Wynekoop had treated for heart disease and cancer and who, according to the neighbors, had shared a $2,000 bank account with Dr. Wynekoop. Police were investigating a story that Miss Porter's body had been cremated at Dr. Alice Wynekoop's order within a day of her death and that the deceased woman's brother, James Porter, had subsequently taken legal steps to recover some of the $2,000 of her estate.

Teacher's Father Dies.

The fourth death was that of the 85 year old father of Miss Enid Hennessey, school teacher who resides in the Wynekoop home and who was in the house Tuesday night when Rheta's body was found. Miss Hennessey's father, who also had been a member of the Wynekoop household, died last may, neighbors recalled.

Protesting wistfully that she felt quite tired, but wanted to answer all questions fully, the tall, quiet physician in her old fashioned clothes held patiently to her story that she had been downtown all Tuesday afternoon, returned home for evening dinner, and found her daughter-in-law dead on the operating table about 8:30 p. m., with evidences of robbery scattered about the office.

In the face of Capt. Stege's skeptical attitude, she insisted that her relations with Rheta had always been fond, that she loved her a much as the dead girl's husband, Earle, her son, and that the procuring of the insurance policy was only a kindly ruse to persuade the girl that, having passed the insurance company's medical examination, she need not worry further about her health, which had previously been delicate.

Seeking to break down her robbery theory, Capt. Stege stressed in his examination the absurdity of assuming that Rheta would have stripped off her clothing at the intruder's entrance and that the robber, having shot her in the back, would have paused to wrap the body in a blanket and tucked in the folds before taking flight.

Undertaker Notifies Police.

Nor could he understand, the captain indicated, why Dr. Alice Wynekoop, after discovering the murder and the circumstance that $6 was missing from her desk, had first summoned her daughter, Dr. Katherine Wynekoop, from the county hospital, and an undertaker, James Ahern, from a nearby mortuary, before taking any steps to overtake the killer. It was the undertaker who finally notified the police, nearly two hours after Dr. Wynekoop said she found the body.

Capt. Stege also delved into the subject of the doctor's finances. He had ascertained, he said, that she had only a $26 bank balance on last Oct. 31, that there was a $7,500 mortgage on her home, and that she owed Miss Hennessey $30 for housekeeping services at a rate of $1 a week. Conceding her immediate shortage of cash, Dr. Wynekoop said she had shared a $75,000 inheritance of her husband's with her children and that she had a regular income of $8,000 a year.

Explains Other Deaths.

Concerning the deaths of Dr. Alice Wynekoop's husband, the adopted daughter, the woman with whom she was alleged to have shared a bank account and the father of her lodger, she was equally complacent. All had died of natural causes and the death certificates were in due form, she maintained.

Finally Capt. Stege ordered his men to search the Wynekoop residence from garret to cellar, paying particular attention to a recently installed oil furnace, the modernity of which was in contrast to the old fashioned plumbing of the rest of the house.

At an interlude in the examination, Capt. Stege declared he was convinced that "the robbery story is a pure hoax and that some one in the house knows all about this murder." Besides Dr. Wynekoop, the only person there when the body was supposedly first discovered was Miss Hennessey, the school teacher-lodger.

Stege Pictures Slaying.

"Every circumstance indicates that the girl was killed by some one in whom she had confidence," Stege pointed out. "She had taken off her clothes, probably as she sat on the edge of the operating table, and dropped them at her feet. She had then lain back, as if submitting to an examination.

"While she was in that position, apparently, the killer placed her under an anesthetic, turned her halfway on her face, and fired the shot into her back at a point where it struck her heart and caused instant death. Finally the killer, in an apparent fit of remorse, tried to stanch the blood which was flowing from her mouth, and, perceiving she was dead, wrapped the body in a blanket."

His reconstruction of the killing, the captain explained, was based upon the physical evidence in the death chamber and the result of a post-mortem examination conducted by Dr. Thomas L. Dwyer of the coroner's staff.

In his report Dr. Dwyer pointed out that no holes had punctured the girl's clothing and that first degree powder burns surrounded the opening of the wound, indicating that she had been shot with the muzzle of a gun pressed against her flesh after she had disrobed. The report also stated that seared tissue around the girl's mouth indicated that chloroform had been applied there shortly before her death.

During the examination of Dr. Alice Wynekoop the slain girl's father, Burdine H. Gardner of Indianapolis, who arrived here on the report of his daughter's death, told reporters the murder had confirmed suspicions he had long entertained concerning her welfare since she married Earle Wynekoop four years ago.

"I had been against the marriage from the start," the father said. "Young Wynekoop met her at a fraternity dance here and persuaded me to let her come to Chicago, where greater opportunity existed for a musical career. Then I heard they were married.

"I came to a wedding dinner which was held at the Midwest Athletic club here and met the family. Dr. Alice Wynekoop struck me as a peculiar person. We visited the Wynekoop home and I recalled that my daughter seemed taken aback at the gloomy, old fashioned room which Dr. Alice Wynekoop intended that she and Earle would occupy.

"The bridal couple spent their wedding night at a hotel, but I recall that Dr. Alice Wynekoop insisted they return next day and that Rheta moved all her belongings in. I left and have heard little from my daughter since. Once last summer she wrote that she was ill, and I replied that I would come at once. This brought a letter from Dr. Alice Wynekoop saying that Rheta's illness was not serious, and that I needn't come."

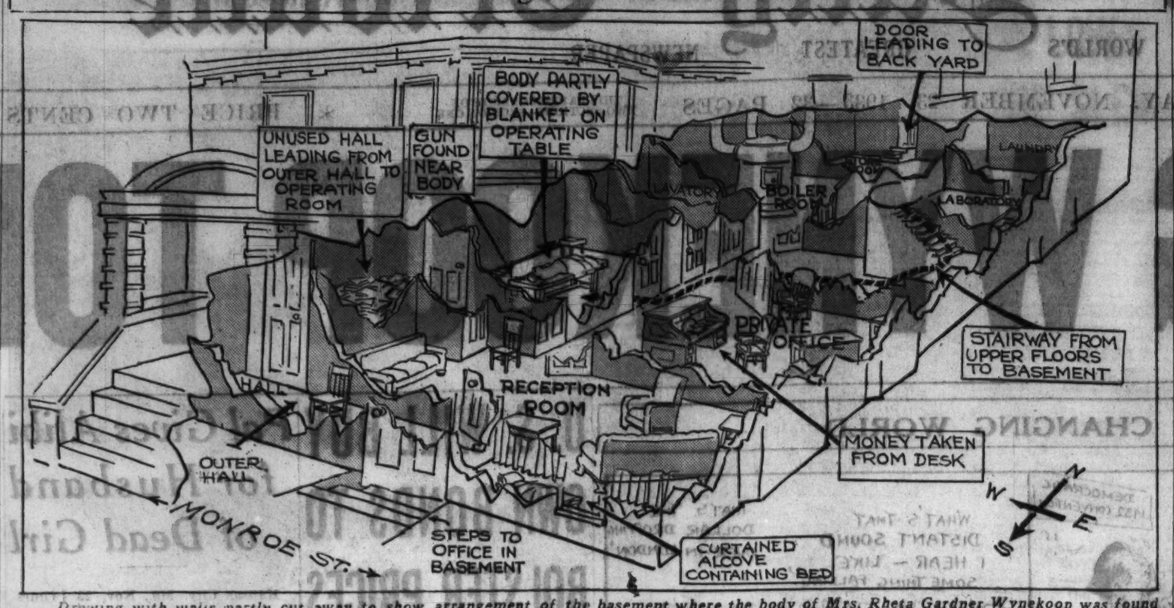
The father said he had heard nothing since, until he was notified, first by police, and then by Dr. Alice Wynekoop, that his daughter was dead. In connection with Dr. Wynekoop's message, he said, he had noted "a peculiar thing"—namely: that she had asked him, if questioned on his arrival, to say that his daughter had suffered from tuberculosis, and that this disease might have caused her death.

Find Moth Eaten Coat.

Searching the macabre Wynekoop mansion last night, the police found several oddities, they said. Behind a bundle of newspapers, in the doctor's expensively furnished but ill kept office, they found a moth eaten brown coat, of the kind which some of the neighbors insisted Rheta had worn on Tuesday.

On a door panel of the brick coach house in back they found a button which, when pressed, opened a panel, which afforded a secret entrance to the house. The whole atmosphere of the place, they said, with its musty walls, tall windows, draped with dusty velvet, odd staircases, queer closets, and general air of neglected opulence, provided a scene which a movie director might fancy for a murder mystery thriller.

Artist's Sketch Shows Arrangement of Basement in Murder House



Drawing with walls partly cut away to show arrangement of the basement where the body of Mrs. Rheta Gardner Wynekoop was found in the home of her mother-in-law, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop. The old mansion is at 3406 West Monroe street.

Wynekoop Home a Maze of Rooms

The 16 room house at 3406 West Monroe street, where Mrs. Rheta Wynekoop was found murdered late Tuesday presents a prosaic red brick front as it faces south on Monroe street. It is an old house and the soot of years has turned the brick a darker hue. White brick trims three pillars.

A half dozen steps lead up to the main entrance, by which the first floor is entered. Below this is the basement, which contains eight rooms and two hallways. The basement, where Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop's office is located, may be entered from the outside by a separate doorway at the street level. On th door in gold letters are the words: "Dr. Lindsay Wynekoop. Office hours, 7 to 9 p. m."

This door opens into a small hall leading to a reception room on the right, furnished in massive, old fashioned furniture. A curtained alcove conceals a couch. A hallway leads from the reception room northward to the rear of the basement.

Next Is Private Office.

North of the reception room and to the right of this hallway is Dr. Wynekoop's private office containing an old fashioned roll top desk, leather upholstered furniture and a profusion of thick medical books. It is from this desk that Dr. Wynekoop said thieves stole six $1 bills.

On the west side of the hall, across from the private office, is the operating room, where Mrs. Wynekoop's body was found on the operating table. In one corner was a cabinet containing drugs and surgical instruments.

In the south end of the operating room is another small room which opens onto a closet. This was found jammed with papers and debris. An unused hallway along the west wall connected the operating room with the front entrance. It was piled high with old papers.

North of the operating room was a lavatory, a boiler room and two storerooms, one of which was used as a laboratory and laundry at times. In the rear a stairway led to the first floor, where an exit connected with the back yard. Another stairway led upward from the central part of the basement, just north of the private office and almost opposite the operating room.

Dining Room on Main Floor.

It opened onto the main floor, which was a series of rooms without doorways. A bay window with a cushioned seat was opposite the stairway. A telephone was installed there. Just north of that was the dining room, where Dr. Wynekoop and her boarder, Miss Enid Hennessey, ate dinner on Tuesday evening.

Upstairs are several bedrooms, where dark wallpaper, worn, heavy furniture and faded rugs add to the gloomy effect of the lower rooms.

An attic occupies the entire third floor.

FATHER'S NOTES SHOW FONDNESS FOR SLAIN GIRL

Warm family affection is displayed in letters which were written to Mrs. Rheta Gardner Wynekoop by her father, stepmother, and brother in Indianapolis. The letters, telling in homely language of life "back home," were examined by the coroner's staff yesterday in the faint hope that they might aid in the investigation of the murder of Mrs. Wynekoop.

Most of the letters came from her father, B. H. Gardner, wholesale flour and salt dealer. These were written by him on the office typewriter and on the blue letterheads of his concern, usually on Sunday afternoons when he went to the office "to take care of a few matters." They date from before her marriage until within a few days of her death.

In letters to his daughter while she was touring in 1928 with the Marie Hesson Concert company as a violinist, Mr. Gardner cautioned her to guard her health and rejoiced at her success. He wrote "We think of you often," and closed: "with love."

His letters are the usual letters of a loving father. He told of short auto trips, inclosed a recipe for wheat muffins, complained of business conditions, gave family gossip and reported news of her former associates. Frequently he wrote: "There is no news here."

There was no indication in any of the notes that Mrs. Wynekoop's father knew that she was other than happy. Nor was there any intimation that she had written complaining of her lot.

Letters from her stepmother, Mrs. Visa Jane Gardner, told of the growth of "the most wonderful baby in the world." This is the young daughter of the Gardners, Elizabeth, the half sister of Mrs. Wynekoop. The stepmother's letters told of the baby's first teeth, first step and first words.

There were also pencil and ink scrawls from Mrs. Wynekoop's brother Hugh, a high school student. These missives ranged from expressions of endearment to comments on Bobby Jones' golf victories.

DESCRIBE SLAIN GIRL'S LIFE IN WYNEKOOP HOME

Rheta Was Adorable, Says Mother-in-Law.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The character of Mrs. Rheta Gardner Wynekoop and her life in the strange household at 3406 West Monroe street, where she went to live after her marriage in 1929 and where she was slain late Tuesday, were described yesterday by the Wynekoops and others. The Wynekoop family has lived in the Monroe street home for more than 80 years.

It was admittedly an unhappy household, according to Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, mother-in-law of the slain girl, where death and grief and worry had prevailed for four years, since the death of her husband, Dr. Frank E. Wynekoop. But in the four years her daughter-in-law had lived with her "there was never a cross word between us," said the woman doctor.

Betrays Love for Son.

While she described the dead girl in a way which suggested an almost spiritual character, one of wistfulness and extreme sensitivity, and pointed out the harmony in which she lived with her daughter-in-law, Dr. Wynekoop betrayed an apparently absorbing love for her son Earle, the deceased girl's husband.

At one point in her talk with officials and reporters she folded her thin arms over her narrow chest and said: "That love letter that was printed in the papers—that was not from Rheta.

"It was a love letter from a mother to her son. I wrote it myself. I had not had a chance to say good-by to Earle. I felt lonely for him, so I wrote him the letter. Then I decided it would only make him feel badly, would make him feel sorry for me. I have not been in good health. So I sent another written in a calmer tone."

"Do you write in a large hand?" a coroner's office official asked.

"Sometimes I write in a very large hand, sometimes I write in a very small hand," she replied.

Meet at Fraternity Party.

The former Rheta Gardner, the daughter of H. H. Gardner, wholesale flour dealer of Indianapolis, met young Wynekoop at a fraternity party in Indianapolis where she was playing a violin in a trio. That was in 1927, when young Wynekoop and his sister, Dr. Katherine Wynekoop, now a resident physician in the Cook county hospital, had gone to Indianapolis for the party, the latter said. She said it was given by a woman doctor whose name she did not remember, for a woman's medical fraternity.

"After that Rheta and my brother saw each other quite often, and in August, 1929, they were married," Dr. Katherine Wynekoop said. She was asked if she thought her sister-in-law had been worried about financial matters or found it a source of chagrin that her husband was employed only irregularly since their marriage. In reply the young doctor brushed back her curly auburn hair and said with decision:

"I'm sure I don't know. I didn't know her very well. We don't go blabbing out our troubles in this family, anyway. We never talk of such things.

"I know very little about her. I think she was born in Indianapolis. She had a stepmother and I have met her and her father. I should describe Rheta as a sweet, retiring sort. She was a nice little girl, very refined. Mother treated her just like a daughter.

Call Them Ideal Couple.

"I live at the hospital and I didn't see much of my brother or Rheta. They were unusually happy together, however, I think. People said they were an 'ideal couple.' We made a sort of joke of it, in fact, it was said so often."

Previously Dr. Wynekoop was observed in lively conversation with her brother, Walker, who is married and lives in Glencoe. He is head of a label manufacturing company.

"Did you see this picture of mother?" the sister asked him, bending over a newspaper. "It makes her look like a hyena. Here's one that's better."

Dr. Lindsay Wynekoop, who talked freely to reporters, was interviewed later. Her gray hair, straggled from a large knot low on the back of her head, and her eyes appeared tired behind her spectacles. With a large hand she stroked her forehead once.

Wants to Protect Rheta.

"The curious thing is that the reason I did not notify police after the three robberies I've had in the last months was because Rheta was so delicate, and so easily depressed, that I didn't want policemen coming through the house and upsetting her," she declared.

"Rheta was adorable," she said. She studied violin with Hugh McGibeny in Indianapolis after she was graduated from high school. She was giving radio broadcasts and would have gone on the Chautauqua circuit but her marriage interfered. She was young, but my son didn't want to delay, and neither did she. We had had so much unhappiness here that I thought, 'Let them get married, and I will take care of them while he continues his studies, and she can bring youth and brightness into this old house.'

"A good wife to my son? Yes, she was. There were some things some wives would have done which she didn't do. But she was a child. She was 23 years old, but really wasn't 23, but a child, an adorable child."

Another member of the household, Miss Enid Hennessey, a short, plump woman with graying hair, shrilly urged Dr. Wynekoop "to say nothing more to those reporters." Young Walker Wynekoop tried to soothe and quiet her.

Dr. Wynekoop revealed that she had sent after chloral hydrate after dinner the night of the murder "because I was out of it, and knew I wouldn't go to sleep, as I so often can't without hypnotics." She said that the thieves who had broken into her home had stolen in addition to money three bottles of narcotics.

She said Rheta's mother had died of tuberculosis when she was small.

ENDS LIFE WITH BULLET.

Frank Coppy, 42 years old, shot and killed himself yesterday in his home at 3708 Cottage Grove avenue. Police learned that Coppy had been despondent over his inability to find work.

WALSH REVEALS $5,000 POLICY ON SLAIN GIRL'S LIFE

Traps Woman Physician in a Denial.

Coroner Frank J. Walsh yesterday abruptly halted the inquest into the mysterious murder of pretty Mrs. Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, who was shot to death Tuesday afternoon in the home of her mother-in-law, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, at 3406 West Monroe street. Widely known in medical circles, Dr. Wynekoop has practiced in Chicago for nearly forty years as Dr. Lindsay Wynekoop, Lindsay being her maiden name.

After hearing testimony from two policemen, a neighbor, and from Miss Enid Hennessey, a school teacher who resides in the Wynekoop household, Coroner Walsh announced that the hearing would be resumed on Dec. 4.

The coroner said there were "several important developments" to be verified before they are presented to the jury at that time. In the evidence to be prepared will be a report by officials of the New York Life Insurance company, who informed the coroner yesterday that Dr. Wynekoop is the beneficiary of a $5,000 double indemnity life insurance policy on the life of her son's wife. This revelation came while Dr. Wynekoop was denying from the witness chair that her daughter-in-law had any insurance.

Plan Chemical Investigation.

Another report will be that prepared by the coroner's chemist who will analyze the contents of the dead girl's stomach. After a post-mortem examination made while the inquest hearing was in session, Coroner's Physician Thomas Dwyer said that the stomach contained partially digested food from a meal eaten by the slain wife shortly before she was shot through the heart.

It was asserted by detectives that the dead girl should have had no food in her stomach if she were killed between 3 o'clock and 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon as indicated in the stories of Dr. Wynekoop, Miss Hennessey, and the doctor's daughter, Katherine, who is a resident physician in the children's ward at the county hospital.

After a whispered consultation with his physician, Coroner Walsh also announced that there is a possibility that an anesthetic had been administered to the slain girl before she was shot. The chemical analysis will include tests for such an anesthetic, he said.

Testimony Adds to Mystery.

The evidence as given by Miss Hennessey, Dr. Wynekoop and the neighbor, Mrs. R. L. Duncan, 3408 West Monroe street, merely added to the mystery surrounding the crime. It became clear, however, that Dr. Wynekoop had known of the murder of her daughter-in-law nearly two hours before the police were notified.

Yesterday's inquest hearing was held in a mortuary at 3246 West Jackson boulevard. Scheduled to begin at 9:30 o'clock, it was an hour later before the first witness took the stand.

During this time Dr. Wynekoop, dressed in a light green coat, a small toque, which did not conceal her gray hair, and wearing pince-nez glasses, sat in an outer room and calmly discussed the events preceding and immediately after the murder.

It was during this discussion with reporters that Dr. Wynekoop asserted that there had been three burglaries in her home within the last two months. She said that her offices had been entered and that burglars had also looted the garage at the rear of her home. None of these burglaries had been reported to the police, she said.

Rheta "Just a Child."

"I didn't want to have policemen at the home annoying Rheta," she said. "She was just a child, you know, even though she had been married to my son Earle for four years.

"They were an extremely devoted couple. Never was there a moment of discord. Their friends used to jest about their devotion."

She explained that she owned the revolver found beside the girl's body, that Earle had purchased the fresh box of 50 .32 caliber cartridges found in the house. She said he had filled the five chambers of the revolver with cartridges from the box only a few days before Nov. 12, when he left Chicago headed for the Grand Cañon of Colorado to make color photographs.

As the elder Dr. Wynekoop spoke, her daughter, Dr. Katherine Wynekoop, and another son, Walker Wynekoop, head of a label manufacturing company at 300 West Austin avenue and a resident of Glencoe, sat quietly beside her. Also in the room was Miss Hennessey, who wore a gray tweed coat and a gray hat.

Dr. Alice Wynekoop then added that Earle had attended St. Albans academy at Sycamore, that he had graduated from high school at the Central Y. M. C. A. school and later taken a B. S. degree at Lewis institute. She said he had then become an airplane pilot and held a private pilot's license.

Tells of Rheta's Marriage.

Called to the witness stand, Dr. Wynekoop related that her daughter-in-law was born in Indianapolis and was 23 years old. She married Earle Wynekoop on Aug. 31, 1929, she said. The couple had lived at her home since their marriage.

Coroner Walsh then asked if Mrs. Earle Wynekoop's life had been insured.

"I know that she had no insurance," said the mother-in-law, sitting very straight in her chair. "She tried to obtain policies from the Metropolitan and several other companies, but the negotiations fell through."

While Dr. Wynekoop was replying Coroner Walsh leaned toward half a dozen newspaper reporters who were sitting beside him and in a low voice related that the slain woman had been insured for $5,000 by the New York company, and that Dr. Wynekoop was named as the beneficiary.

The witness was immediately excused.

Lieut. Sam Peterson and Sergt. Walter Kelly, both of the Fillmore street police station, were called, and from their stories the jury learned that Mrs. Wynekoop had probably been shot on the table where her body was found. Her clothing, which lay on the floor, had not been torn and was not pierced by the bullet. There were scratches on her left cheek and a bruise on her left arm.

Tell of Scene at Home.

The two policemen said that when they reached the home Dr. John M. Berger, 4458 West Madison street, an undertaker, Dr. Alice Wynekoop and Katherine Wynekoop, and Miss Hennessey were there. The women told them that Rheta had last been seen alive by the mother-in-law when the latter left home at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Dr. Wynekoop told them that she had returned at 4:30, had missed her daughter-in-law, and did not discover her body until 8:30 in the evening.

Mrs. Duncan, the neighbor, said she had seen Rheta at 3 o'clock in the afternoon on Madison street near Homan avenue. In conversation at that time, Mrs. Duncan said, she had received the impression that Rheta was going home to remain while Dr. Wynekoop went out. She added that she had believed from what Rheta told her that Dr. Wynekoop was at home at that time.

Miss Hennessey, small, composed, was the last witness. She said that breakfast on Tuesday had been prepared by Rheta. When she returned home at 6 o'clock she found Dr. Wynekoop placing dinner on the table. They had dinner and then she was sent to the drug store to fill a prescription for Dr. Wynekoop, she said, returning home about 7:40 in the evening.

After talking for a short time she went to her room. She said she had not learned of the murder until after 8:30 o'clock.

WYNEKOOP FAMILY PROMINENT HERE IN MEDICAL FIELD

Dr. Frank Wynekoop, father-in-law of the slain young woman in the Wynekoop murder mystery, was the first of the family to establish himself professionally in Chicago. Dr. Wynekoop, who died on Jan. 1, 1929, came here from the family home in Indianapolis in 1892 to enter the University of Illinois medical college. Later his three brothers and two sisters came to Chicago. The various members of the family are:

DR. CHARLES I. WYNEKOOP, brother of the late Dr. Frank Wynekoop.

DR. GILBERT WYNEKOOP, brother of the late Dr. Frank Wynekoop. The third brother, Attorney Harrey E. Wynekoop, died two years ago.

DR. ALICE LINDSAY WYNEKOOP, widow of Dr. Frank Wynekoop and mother-in-law of Rheta Gardner Wynekoop. For years she has been known professionally as Dr. Lindsay Wynekoop, using her maiden name of Lindsay in preference to Alice, her given name.

EARLE WYNEKOOP, husband of the slain woman. He is a graduate of St. Albans academy, Sycamore, and of the Lewis institute, Chicago. A photographer and amateur aviator.

WALKER WYNEKOOP, brother of Earle, head of Walker Wynekoop, Inc., manufacturers of labels.

DR. KATHERINE WYNEKOOP, sister of Earle.

MRS. OTTO BOSYE, Kansas City, sister of Dr. Frank Wynekoop.

MRS. LAURA E. FELZ, sister of Dr. Frank Wynekoop, matron at Ravenswood hospital.

ARTHUR H. FELZ, Western Electric company, son of Mrs. Laura Felz.

IRA FELZ, Wayside, Neb., farmer, son of Mrs. Laura Felz.

MRS. FLORENCE WICKS, another sister of Dr. Frank Wynekoop.

MISS HELEN WICKS, teacher of journalism at the Kankakee High school, daughter of Mrs. Florence Wicks.

DR. MARK WICKS, interne at Augustana hospital, son of Mrs. Florence Wicks.

DR. WALDO B. WYNEKOOP, Boston, son the late Harvey Wynekoop.

SCOUTS MYSTERY HINT IN DEATH OF HUSBAND OF DR. WYNEKOOP

Veiled hints that there were mysterious circumstances surrounding the death on New Year's day, 1929, of Dr. Frank Wynekoop were discredited last night in a comment of Dr. Frederick Tice, one of Chicago's best known physicians. Dr. Tice was summoned to attend Dr. Wynekoop, the husband of Dr. A. Lindsay Wynekoop.

"I was called from my home, a block from that of the Wynekoops, at about 2 p. m.," he said. "The call came from the wife. Dr. Wynekoop was alive when I arrived, but died a few minutes later. At the time his case appeared clearly to be one of heart involvement. There as nothing to arouse suspicion and I signed the death certificate."

Dr. Tice was one of the physicians called into consultation after the late Mayor Cermak was wounded by an anarchist in Miami, Fla. His comment on the death of Dr. Frank Wynekoop came after Dr. Gilbert H. Wynekoop, a brother of Dr. Frank Wynekoop, in an interview had asserted that the death certificate was signed "under protest." There was no protest, Dr. Tice declared. Dr. Gilbert Wynekoop is in the county jail on a nurse's charge that he attempted to rape her.

CLARK'S WIDOW SAYS SHE LOVED MAN SHE SLEW

Denies Any Recollection of Killing Him.

Woodbury, N. J., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The family of Sheldon A. Clark, son of a wealthy midwest oil executive, today promised to coöperate with attorneys for his widow, accused of Clark's murder.

Clark was buried late in the day at Clarksboro, but Mrs. Clark, the former Audrey Adaire of the stage, was not there. She was still in a hospital in Woodbury, where she has constantly asked about funeral arrangements and insisted that she must attend to say good-by.

Her red head bandaged as a result of a severe blow—she says her husband struck her with a billiard cue—Mrs. Clark sobbed out the story of events leading up to the shooting in their Paulsboro home Monday night.

Protesting her love for Clark, she said she could not remember what happened after she was hit; did not know whether she had got a pistol.

Family Out of Prosecution.

Meanwhile Harry A. S. Clark of Barrington, Ill., a brother of the dead man, announced that the Clark family would take no part in the prosecution of the former Broadway dancer. He came to Woodbury with G. T. Stanford of New York, general counsel for the Consolidated Oil company.

"The family bears no ill will to Mrs. Clark," said the brother. "The family is satisfied she should keep the children and will coöperate in every way with Mrs. Clark's attorneys."

William A. Gravino, Mrs. Clark's attorney, said that he would enter a plea of not guilty for her, contending Clark was killed "in self-defense during a temporary period of emotional insanity."

Mrs. Clark, now 24, told visitors of her marriage in Richmond, Va., eight years ago, after a 24 hour courtship, and cried: "I loved him dearly. I never would have shot him."

"I sat down to read a newspaper," she was quoted as saying. "The next thing I remember Sheldon hit me with a pool cue. I may have pushed him away. I don't know."

Again tears poured from the brown eyes as a nurse tried to quiet the sobbing woman.

Doesn't Remember Pistol.

She was asked if she remembered getting the pistol.

"No," she was said to have explained. "Do you think I would have shot him if I did?

"The next thing I remember was when a policeman was bathing my hands with cold water."

Although she was described as denying there was any argument the night of the killing, Mrs. Clark told of other quarrels and said she had frequently left her husband, taking their two children with her.

Linwood Lord, acting prosecutor of Gloucester county, said his investigation has shown these were "the ordinary quarrels which occur in every family."

The dead man was a son of A. Sheldon Clark, senior vice president of the Sinclair Oil company. Having made a hurried trip east against the advice of his physician, the father now is ill in a Philadelphia hotel.

HOUR BY HOUR STORY OF EVENTS LEADING UP TO THE MURDER

The following table contains the log of events involving members of the Wynekoop household which witnesses yesterday testified took place on Tuesday afternoon and evening. The testimony was given at the inquest into the murder of Mrs. Rheta Wynekoop, 23 years old. The log:

1:30 P. M.—Luncheon, which, according to Dr. Alice Wynekoop, was eaten by herself and her daughter-in-law, Rheta, in their home at 3406 West Monroe street.

2 P. M.—Dr. Alice Wynekoop left home to shop in the neighborhood.

3 P. M.—Mrs. R. L. Duncan, a neighbor, meets Mrs. Rheta Wynekoop at the corner of Homan avenue and Madison street. Told by Mrs. Wynekoop that she is going home so Dr. Alice Wynekoop can go out.

4:30 P. M.—Dr. Alice Wynekoop returns to her home, entering by the front door, and finds that Mrs. Rheta Wynekoop is absent.

6 P. M.—Miss Enid Hennessey, resident of the Wynekoop home, returns and eats dinner with Dr. Alice Wynekoop. Mrs. Rheta Wynekoop's whereabouts still is unknown.

7 P. M.—Miss Hennessey is sent to a neighborhood drug store to fill a prescription for Dr. Alice Wynekoop.

7:40 P. M.—Miss Hennessey returns, chats with the doctor, and then retires to her second floor room.

8 P. M.—Dr. Alice Wynekoop discovers the body of her daughter-in-law lying on the surgical table in the emergency treatment room in the basement.

8:05 P. M.—She telephones her daughter, Dr. Katherine Wynekoop, at the county hospital and summons Dr. John M. Berger with another call.

8:30 P. M.—Dr. Katherine Wynekoop knocks at Miss Hennessey's door and informs her of the murder.

9:55 P. M.—Undertaker summoned to home telephones to police, giving first alarm.

10 P. M.—First police squads arrive.

Woman Dies After Taking Drug to Reduce Her Weight

The coroner's office last night started an investigation of the death of Miss Rose Stanek, 35 years old. She was found unconscious yesterday afternoon in her room at the Devon Arms hotel, 6330 Winthrop, and died soon after she was taken to St. Joseph's hospital. The police were told that Miss Stanek, a clerk at the First National bank, had been taking medicines to reduce her weight.

Mr. Lunardon Searches for Newly Found Friends.

John Lunardon told a hard luck story yesterday.

It all began Nov. 8 when he received a telephone call in his restaurant at 114 South Michigan avenue. The caller introduced himself as "Mr. Steiner." He sympathized with Lunardon, who owns 20 slot machines which had been put out of business by an edict of State's Attorney Courtney.

Hurries to Geneva.

The caller suggested Lunardon might learn something to his advantage by meeting him in the Lincoln Highway café at Geneva, county seat of Kane county. Lunardon went at once to see Steiner there and Steiner told him that Kane county was crying for slot machines. For a consideration Steiner said, Lunardon's idle machines might be transferred to Kane county and put into profitable operation.

Steiner suggested a meeting with his old friend, Sheriff Harry Crawford of Kane county. They walked a block to the Kane county courthouse, where Crawford by coincidence was emerging from his office. The introduction completed, the sheriff suggested a business conference in the Leland hotel in Aurora.

At the conference Lunardon was asked to pay $2,000 to the two men for their efforts in his behalf. Half of the sum was paid in the hotel the next day. The second payment was arranged for yesterday morning at another conference. In the meantime, Lunardon has the machines oiled and made ready for delivery.

Difficult to Pay Other $1,500.

Lunardon drove to Aurora in the morning to find no one at the rendezvouz. Suspecting the sheriff had been delayed by business matters, he went directly to the courthouse at Geneva. There he commanded a burly gentleman to take him to the sheriff.

"I am Sheriff Crawford," the man declared.

"Don't stall me," Lunardon said testily. "The sheriff is an old friend of mine. Hurry it up."

"Take a bite out of that and see if it is brass," Sheriff Crawford retorted, displaying his gold star.

Lunardon wilted. When he had recovered from his surprise, he told his story.

"Well, you can change the second $1,500 into quarters and play your machines," said Sheriff Crawford, "because they won't run in Kane county."

HILLSIDE HOMES SAVED FROM FIRE AT LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Roaring up the heavily wooded slopes of Mount Lukens in the mountains back of La Crescenta, a brush fire which started yesterday was reported still out of control tonight, but a shift in the wind had removed the peril to the exclusive hillside community.

More than 500 fire fighters from the county forestry department and civilian conservation camps were rushed to the fire zone by the county fire warden.

About 1,000 acres of valuable watershed had been burned over, said George R. Taylor, assistant of the county forestry department, but he believed the fire would be brought under control at the top of Mount Lukens. He said no buildings had been destroyed.

As the blaze spread southward it imperiled the ranch home of Harvey Bissell, millionaire manufacturer and yachtsman, and the estate of W. G. Dabney, oil man. A force of 150 men was thrown around them. Then a shift in the wind sent the fire in the opposite direction.

33D DIVISION'S REUNION TO BE HELD DEC. 2-3

The annual reunion of the 33d division will be held Dec. 2 and 3 in the Morrison hotel.

On display in the hotel will be the colors and standards carried by all the units of the division in the world war. The standards have streamers attached by Gen. Pershing to show the major engagements in which the organizations participated. During the World's Fair these flags were all displayed in the Illinois Host building.

During the business sessions of the reunion various questions of policy will be discussed. Officers of the division association for the coming year will be elected.

GIRL TELLS JURY HOW HER FATHER KILLED MOTHER

Genevieve Wojtczak, 14 years old, 1324 Wrightwood avenue, took the witness stand yesterday in Judge Joseph B. David's court to testify against her father, Joseph, who is on trial on a charge of murder. Wojtczak shot and killed his wife, Mary, 37 years old, last Aug. 18 after he had been served with notice that she was suing him for divorce.

Genevieve told the jury that Wojtczak had pushed her to one side when she tried to intervene, and shot her mother three times. Defense Attorney Thaddeus C. Toudor moved to waive a jury and announced that his client would plead guilty if the charge were changed to manslaughter.

Assistants State's Attorney Albert Hornick refused and announced that the death penalty would be asked. A jury qualified to inflict the death penalty was selected in less than an hour, and only two veniremen of 50 examined were excused because of objections to sending the defendant to the electric chair.

Among the defendants sentenced yesterday in the Criminal court were:

FRANK MACUTAK, 28 years old, sentenced by Judge James Fardy to 1 to 14 years for the attempted rape of a 12 year old girl.

ARTHUR J. MORGAN, 17 years old, sentenced by Judge Philip L. Sullivan to 1 to 20 years for the theft of an automobile belonging to Ray Forst, 1126 South Menard avenue.

ABE COHEN, 34 years old, sentenced to 1 to 20 years by Judge Charles P. Molthrop for robbing a telephone collector of $105.

Alexander St. John, 56 years old, sentenced by Judge Molthrop to one to 10 years for incest. St. John was questioned as a suspect in the bombing of the home of Judge John P. McGoorty, but was released.

William Skorup, 17 years old, sentenced by Judge Michael Feinberg to one to 20 years on each of three charges of automobile larceny, the sentences to run concurrently.

Frank Fernandez, 38 years old, sentenced by Judge Feinberg to one to ten years for passing fraudulent checks in loop stores.

RINGLING GIVES HIS VERSION OF ASSETS PLEDGE

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—William M. Greve, president of New York Investors, Inc., promised John Ringling, circus owner, $25,000 to induce him to sign over all his assets, Mr. Ringling testified today at the trustees' inquiry into the bankruptcy of Allied Owners, Inc., a subsidiary.

Mr. Ringling asserted that Mr. Greve gave him only $3,000 of the sum. He charged that copies of the agreement he signed, because of a default in interest on a $1,700,000 note now held by Allied Owners did not agree with the original agreement in the possession of New York Investors.

Monroe Goldwater, counsel for the trustees, drew from the circus man admissions that he had been to dinner in several well known restaurants in Sheepshead Bay and Coney Island either shortly before or shortly after he signed on July 15, 1932, although he had testified last Friday that he had been seriously ill at that time and had a fever of 102 degrees.

Mr. Ringling also admitted that although he had pledged $400,000 of Santa Fe railroad bonds as part of the collateral for the note, he had put in his own bank account $8,000 received from coupons on the bonds. The hearings are being conducted before Theodore Stitt, referee, in Brooklyn Federal building.

COURT UPHOLDS CONVICTION OF 'GOLF BAG' HUNT

Gunman Gets News as He Works in Bridewell.

The Appellate court yesterday affirmed the conviction of Sam [Golf Bag] Hunt, gunman in the old Capone gang, for carrying concealed weapons. He was sentenced to one year in the Bridewell and fined $300 last June 1 by Municipal Judge Joseph A. Graber after he had been found guilty by a jury.

Word of the court's decision was conveyed to Hunt in the Bridewell as he was plying a broom in his cell tier. He leaned on the broom handle as he remarked: "What do you mean I lost my appeal? I've been here two months. I never had a chance. I'll be pushing this baby another ten months."

Refused Liberty by Court.

Hunt is in the Bridewell by virtue of the Appellate court's refusal to allow him liberty pending the appeal. After his conviction Hunt was denied a writ of supersedeas and ordered to start serving the sentence. In the past such writs were a matter of form, but in the change of the public and judicial attitude toward gunmen, effected by the war on crime, Hunt was locked up on Sept. 28.

Hunt was the fifth public enemy convicted on a gun charge, but was the first whose sentence was upheld. Three others have appeals pending. The fourth, Gus Winkler, was slain some time ago by gangsters. The others awaiting the outcome of appeals are Murray Humphries and William [Three Fingered Jack] White, hoodlum leaders, who are being sought, and Charles Fischetti, cousin of Al Capone.

Hunt was arrested on May 18 at Cermak road and Wabash avenue by Lieut. Arthur Kott. When he saw the policeman he ran into a nearby cigar store and threw a loaded revolver under a counter. Hunt, who won the "golf bag" soubriquet several years ago when he was arrested for carrying a sawed-off shot gun in a golf bag, had been freed four times on gun charges until his conviction last June.

Court Denies Gangsters' Plea.

He offered no defense at the trial. The reversal was sought on the ground of technical errors in the charge and in the judge's instructions. These were disallowed by Judges William H McSurely, David F. Matchett, and John M. O'Connor of the Appellate court.

"We hold that the charge of carrying a concealed weapon on or about his person means carrying a weapon readily available for use," the court's opinion stated. "The ability to reach the weapon for immediate use is the gist of the charge. It is merely playing on words—a kind of logomachy—to say that the crime depends on whether one could take the weapon from one's clothing or from a nearby place."

Two Convicted of Vagrancy.

Several of Hunt's pals appeared before Judge Jay A. Schiller in the Vagrancy court yesterday as vagrancy cases were called against 20 reputed hoodlums. Of the cases 13 were continued, four nol prossed, one discharged, and two resulted in convictions for 30 days.

Those convicted are Frank Green and Edward Schup, minor hoodlums, who pleaded guilty. Danny Stanton, reputed south side gangster, won liberty when the state consented to nol pros the case because he had no police record. A similar move for Joe Saltis, former beer baron, was delayed until today so that the arresting policemen might be heard.

U. S. MAKES DEMAND ON N. Y. BEER BARON FOR $932,324 TAXES

New York Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The lot of Waxey Gordon, beer baron of New York and northern Jersey, has not been a happy one during the last two days in federal court and the third day of his trial for income tax evasion was no exception. As the stocky racketeer stepped out of the court room today for the luncheon recess he was served with a demand for the payment of $932,324 in taxes, penalties and interest which the government claims he owes on his income for the years 1930 and 1931.

The filing of this civil action, by John S. Shea, deputy collector in charge of the third district, was accompanied by the filing of liens against the Picadilly Hotel Inc., the Paramount Hotel corporation, the Fourth Avenue hotel and the Eureka Cereal Beverage company to insure the collection of the amount claimed.

The demand was served on Gordon by Deputy Collector McKee of Mr. Shea's office and Gordon accepted it without a change of expression. In the last three days, in addition to this action and the actual beginning of the trial against him, he has also lost his liberty by virtue of Judge Frank J. Coleman's ruling that he must remain in custody throughout the trial.

This action was taken, according to Judge Coleman, because of efforts being made to intimidate witnesses. Judge Coleman also has ordered that the jury be held incommunicado throughout the trial.

Today Gordon, who could find only $8,000 to report as income during 1930 and only $35,000 the year after that when he learned the federal agents were after him, was described as a man of affairs living at the rate of $240 a week.

SETS NOV. 29 FOR HEARING IN KIDNAPING CASE

Hearing on preliminary motions in the trial of Frank Souder and Gail Swolley, alleged members of the gang which twice kidnaped James Hackett, Blue Island gambler, was set for Nov. 29 yesterday by Judge Thomas J. Lynch.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan and Attorney W. W. O'Brien, representing Swolley, announced they were ready for immediate trial. Attorneys James M. Burke and George Crane, representing Souder, asked the delay to prepare arguments to quash the indictment and to admit their client to bail.

No bond has been set in the case, as kidnaping is punishable by death under the Illinois law. Hackett has identified the two defendants as two of the men who seized him on May 1, 1931, and obtained $75,000 for his ransom. Hackett, who is said to have received several threatening letters since the arrests, was attended in court by a police guard.

TORTURE KILLER FOUND GUILTY; GETS 199 YEARS

Death Penalty Is Blocked by Lone Juror.

A jury before Judge Harry B. Miller of the Criminal court last night found Arthur Barty guilty of the torture murder of Theodore Zutaut and fixed his punishment at 199 years in the penitentiary. He was immediately sentenced to prison, the thirty-third killer convicted and sentenced since the Criminal court war on crime was inaugurated last month.

"The jury was very lenient in imposing a prison sentence," Judge Miller said in overruling a motion for a new trial.

Convicted on First Ballot.

The death penalty had been demanded by the prosecution. In their deliberations the jurors found Barty guilty on the first ballot and voted 7 to 5 for the electric chair on the second ballot. The vote then became 11 to 1 for the 199 year term. One juror held out for three hours for the death penalty. He then offered to compromise with a "199 year and life" verdict. The jurors were advised by Judge Miller, however, that this double form of penalty could not stand. They then agreed on 199 years.

Barty, 25 years old, is the father of three small children. One, an infant born last July, began crying in court when the verdict of guilty was read.

The slaying of Zutaut occurred in his home at 12017 Lowe avenue last March 16. Two men figured in the actual killing, their motive being to rob Zutaut of $4,000 which he was supposed to have hidden in the house. Police said Barty was one of the murderers and that Michael Lepas, now a fugitive, was the other. Barty neither took the stand nor offered a defense at the trial. Barty is also known as Bartola.

Driver of Car Acquitted.

Edward Weiss, 29 years old, who drove Barty and Lepas to the Zutaut home, was found not guilty of murder last week. The verdict was brought in by a jury shortly after Weiss had urged his attorney, James M. Burke, to enter a plea of guilty in return for a sentence of 14 years. Barty, who had been given a separate trial in order to testify against Weiss, refused to take the stand.

At that time Barty said he had "thought up a story that would fool the jury." The nature of the story was not revealed yesterday when Assistant Public Defender Joseph Powers refused to let his client take the stand. He termed Barty's planned defense as "too silly to be told."

LIQUOR BRIBE JURY DISAGREES IN TRIAL OF U. S. DRY AGENTS

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The jury in the trial of William C. Cooper of Des Moines, Ia., and Harry Brown of Davenport, Ia., suspended federal officials charged with accepting money from a liquor syndicate, this afternoon reported it was unable to reach a verdict and was discharged by Judge J. Earl Major.

The jury had been out for 21 hours.

FATHER AND SON ARE REUNITED AFTER 34 YEARS

Arthur Fischbacka, teacher of manual arts in the Joliet high school, and his father, Philip Fischbacker, construction engineer, joined last night in a reception to celebrate their reunion, which took place on Sunday after 39 years of separation. About fifty friends of the son gathered at his home for the event.

When the son was 5 years old his parents separated. His mother later left him and his two sisters in the Home for the Friendless and went back to her old home in Germany. Fischbacker, whose work as an engineer took him to Europe, South America and the Orient, conducted a fruitless search for his children, Arthur, meanwhile, had been adopted and educated by C. N. Dunn of Centralia, Ill. He retained the family name, but it had been misspelled in the orphanage and he retains that spelling.

Father and son met by chance after the elder had gone to Joliet to superintend construction of a brewery. He announced last night that he would make his home in Joliet. On Sunday he will go to Fidell, Ill., to visit his daughter, Mrs. Roy Streubinger. He has not seen her since the separation in 1899.

REVEAL MERGER PLAN BY HEADS OF UNIVERSITIES

Suggested U. of C. and N. U. Changes Told.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Details of the combined views of the presidents of the University of Chicago and Northwestern university concerning the proposed merger of those universities were disclosed last night.

A memorandum jointly drawn by President Robert Maynard Hutchins of Chicago and President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern, covering a list of proposed educational changes and economies was prepared at the request of the committee in charge of the merger plans, which is headed by Melvin A. Traylor. It is dated July 6, 1933, and refers to "the organization of the Chicago-Northwestern universities as indicated in the articles of incorporation, statutes and by-laws, as previously submitted."

A Process of Evolution.

The document says that "even though all details were agreed upon by Sept. 15, 1933, most of the changes and economies would come as a process of evolution, and economies during the first year would be relatively few."

The sweep of the proposed changes, as shown by the presidents' memorandum, is based on the declaration that "there should be one educational program" for the merged institutions with complete unification of educational administration.

The memorandum points out that there should be only one publicity office, one dean of students, one registrar, one board of examinations, a single health service, a single office of vocational guidance and placement, a single director of athletics, one religious program, one university calendar, catalogue and press. The plans also call for the reorganization of the alumni groups into a single body.

Medical Plans Discussed.

Under the heading of the presidents' proposals for unifying the teaching and scientific staffs of the universities, the proposed destiny under the merger of several of Chicago's noted institutions is disclosed.

Presbyterian hospital would be "invited" to take over Billings Memorial hospital and associated hospitals and laboratories at the University of Chicago. Rush Medical college, the 94 year old nestor of middle west medical schools which for some time has been a department of the University of Chicago, would be disbanded by the transfer of its faculty to the medical school of the department of biological sciences on the midway and to Northwestern Medical school on McKinlock campus.

The presidents agreed that all graduate and research work in general science and medicine should be transferred to the south side with all medical research going to the Billings hospital group. This would remove all graduate and research work from the Northwestern Medical school, as well as from Passavant and Wesley Memorial hospitals.

Would End Loop College.

The University college, loop department of the University of Chicago, would be abandoned under the presidents' proposal. All of the two universities' extension work in part time and adult education would be concentrated on McKinlock campus. This, it is argued, "would relieve the University of Chicago the necessity of renting quarters for the University college in the loop."

The combined law departments would be on the McKinlock campus. This conclusion was reached by the presidents because of "restrictions on the gift of the law building there."

"This," they add, "would release the law building on the Midway, the use of which is not limited to legal education."

The united department of education would transfer its graduate group to the south side.

Economies Are Considered.

In its discussion of economies under the merger the presidents' memorandum said that the Presbyterian hospital, by relieving "the University of Chicago of the burden of operating and financing the university clinics," would save the university an annual outlay of $831,610.

Another situation that would be cleared up by the merger, the presidents say, is that of 400 vacant rooms in International house and other dormitories at the University of Chicago. The annual operating loss represented here is $176,000, according to the memorandum.

These vacancies would be taken up by the presidents' proposed transfer of 900 graduate students from the Northwestern campuses to the Midway. About 700 of the 900 graduate students to be transferred, it is learned, would vacate living quarters in Evanston.

In this connection it is stated by the presidents that Northwestern and Chicago would for some years continue to maintain undergraduate work."

On Faculty Replacements.

On replacement of faculty members under the proposed merger the presidents say:

"It is obviously impossible to state even approximate figures as to economies that would result through not replacing members of the faculties (vacancies caused by retiring faculty members). The University of Chicago has probably saved not less than $100,000 a year through failure to replace most of the 33 men retired since 1930. At the University of Chicago 622 appointments expire in 1933-'34. At Northwestern 400 expire. It is therefore possible to reduce the staff as rapidly as the market will absorb the men."

Among other possible economies cited by the presidents is that of $281,000 which they say can be saved in administrative budgets. An example is the present alumni organization budgets of the two institutions. At Northwestern the budget is $35,500 annually, while at the University of Chicago it is $6,000. Under the merger, the presidents state, the budget for the combined alumni organization would be $30,800, or $5,000 less than that now spent at Northwestern.

Now at Economy Limit.

Later in the memorandum the presidents assert that "each university has now reached the limit of economies that it can effect within its own structure."

Analysis of the figures presented by the presidents indicates that the total of the two universities' present operating budgets is $10,000,000. The suggested administrative saving of $284,000 under the merger would therefore be less than 3 per cent.

As the process of amalgamation proceeds it is regarded as inevitable that savings for the merged institutions will be effected through the gradually expanding use of the tax free conditions of the famous Northwestern university charter granted under the old constitution of Illinois. The departments merged under the Northwestern setup will at once feel some benefit of the charter's tax provisions.

President Hutchins has denied that the University of Chicago will ever use Northwestern's advantage in tax savings. He has also stated that "no proposals for a merger or any other form of coöperation have been laid before the boards of trustees of the two universities."

This is taken to mean that all negotiations up to the present time have been directed by the committee headed by Mr. Traylor.

BRITISH ANGERED BY CHARGES OF U. S. NAVY LEAGUE

(Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.)

LONDON, Nov. 23.—British naval circles are incensed by an open letter referring to the "present British designs on the United States' sea power," which has been received by the Navy League of the British Empire from the Navy League of the United States.

According to the Daily Mirror the letter asserts that British propaganda aims at making the United States a negligible enemy but an efficient ally, conditional on vassalage; that British statesmen say that war between the two nations is unthinkable but keep the contingency in mind, and that the United States public opinion favors the nation having parity of sea power to which it is entitled.

Lord Lloyd, president of the British Navy league, has, it is said, replied to the American league that the letter has been placed before his council.

Hear Suit Against Village Brought by Riot Victim

A jury before Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski yesterday heard evidence in the $10,000 damage suit brought against the village of Melrose Park by John Philip Wickstrom, 3137 North Oriole avenue. Wickstrom testified that he was shot during a communist riot in the village on May 6, 1932, and alleged that the village is liable under the Illinois riot act. The village police fired into a crowd when the communists tried to hold a demonstration. Thirteen similar suits are pending against the village.

OFFICIALS CLASH ON PAYMENT OF SCHOOL LOANS

Tax Warrant Redemption Method Assailed.

A hot debate over the method of redeeming more than $17,000,000 worth of 1929 school tax anticipation warrants and interest developed in the meeting of the board of education yesterday. Trustee Joseph P. Savage demanded that all taxes collected be apportioned equally between holders of the warrants.

The controversy arose over a letter from Edwin H. Barker of the First of Boston corporation at 141 West Jackson boulevard, which holds $858,000 worth of the 1929 warrants. Barker contended that the tax money constituted a trust fund and asked that as it was collected it be given out pro rata to the warrant holders.

Righeimer Offers Explanation.

Frank S. Righeimer, special attorney for the board, rose to give an explanation.

"For 50 years the various municipalities have redeemed warrants in serial order; that is, as they were issued," asserted Righeimer. "To depart from this course would throw our finances into a chaotic condition.

"These warrants had a due date of 1930. For three years this man has sat idly by and done nothing. If we changed the method of redemption the result would be disastrous. The law isn't clear, but this method has been followed so long it has almost been written into the law."

Trustee Assails Opinion.

"I am amazed at this opinion from a man who is supposed to know something about the law," said Trustee Savage. "The state Supreme court recently held that in the case of assessment bonds the tax money was to be apportioned. Tax warrants fall into the same category. The board will be holding itself open to jeopardy.

"This may not set so well with the local banks who always take the first grab at everything. They always get their money because they have the warrants with low serial numbers."

Righeimer explained that the legislature at the last session had authorized the school board to issue deficiency bonds to redeem tax warrants for 1929 and that he had conferred with Barker concerning the possibility of replacing the warrants with these bonds.

The Serial Method Wins.

On the motion of Trustee Ernst Buehler the board voted to continue the redemption of warrants according to serial numbers and to hafe an opinion from the law department ready for the next meeting. Trustee Savage and William D. McJunkin voted against the motion.

There are $10,247,000 worth of unpaid 1929 school educational fund warrants outstanding, plus $2,664,220 in interest. Only $8,514,226 revenue is possible from 1929 taxes, on a 90 per cent collection basis, to retire the obligation.

Taxes yet to come in for the school building fund for 1929 total $2,891,852, but the tax warrant and interest obligations are $4,686,948.

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan withdrew a resolution asking for the appointment of a special committee to see Gov. Horner about new revenue for teachers' salaries when James B. McCahey, president of the board, explained that he had already communicated with the governor. The board has proposed that legislation be enacted for the payment of salaries through revenue from liquor and tobacco taxes.

WIFE DIVORCES WALTER S. BEMIS FOR DESERTION

Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday granted Mrs. Gertrude J. Bemis of Winnetka a divorce from Walter S. Bemis, consulting engineer, on grounds of desertion. Attorney Lloyd A. Faxon, counsel for Bemis, said the couple had agreed on the provisions of the decree. Mrs. Bemis is to receive a settlement of $5,000 and the custody of five children, with $100 a month for their support.

Mrs. Bemis sued for separate maintenance a year ago, charging her husband with misconduct with another woman. Bemis denied the charge. Later, after Mrs. Bemis had been found overcome by motor fumes in the garage behind her home, the court granted custody of the five children to Bemis' mother, Mrs. Anne Bemis, former county commissioner.

Teachers Report the Sale of $150,000 Tax Warrants

The teachers' organization for the sale of school tax warrants at par, headed by George E. Mahin, reported yesterday that approximately $150,000 in 1933 warrants had been sold. The organization, which has headquarters at 185 North Wabash avenue, is pooling the small warrants given to teachers as salary by the school board and selling them at par to large corporations. The teachers and other school employés have been given approximately eight million dollars in tax warrants for two months' pay this year.

EARLIEST 'YANKS,' EATING HORSES, IGNORED RIDING

Scientist Tells of Cave Men.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Solutions of some household mysteries—how a fly dodges a swat, why a cat always lands on its feet, how your canary hovers in air—were shown to the National Academy of Sciences today. Also, for young America, why a snake runs out its tongue.

American cave men who had now-extinct horses nearly as big as Percherons, but apparently ate instead of riding them. These same cave men seem to have originated a widespread civilization of their own, starting in the southwest, were described to the academy's closing session in terms of the latest discoveries.

Real First Families.

The report about the cave men was made by Dr. Edgar B. Howard of Philadelphia. He described elephant, bison, horse, camel, and musk oxen bones found in New Mexico with geological evidence that they lived there when the climate was wet and probably rather cold, due to glaciers a few hundred miles to the northward.

The home mystery problems were explained in pictures, taken up to the rate of 6,000 a second by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's new ultra-rapid camera. Flies in the laboratory last summer got to bothering the scientists while they turned their camera on deeper subjects of study. So they began "shooting" the flies, and that led to a series of discoveries.

These were reported to the academy, with the pictures, by H. E. Edgerton and K. J. Germeshausen. They got a fly excited by banging a hammer on the board where he sat, in focus of a 6,000 per second film. The wings beat at 200 times a second.

Tossed by the hammer impact, the fly flew upside down. Not as good as a plane, for he was losing altitude rapidly. He righted in about the time of an eye wink. His wings "feathered," by turning sidewise on their upstroke, he stood on his tail in air, and flew almost vertically upward by a sculling motion of both wings.

How Canary Hovers.

The canary came next. He was spilled out of a closed hand where it took quick work to keep from striking a table. On the down stroke the little fellow's wings folded under him, like a person wrapping his arms across his chest to shiver. Not until the wingtips touched under his breast did the downstroke stop.

On the upstroke the canary showed a complete "knee" action in his wings, folding them in close to his sides until they were above his back. Then he spread them wide. He was snapped at 1,200 pictures a second.

The cat was dropped upside down a foot and a half above the table. First her back arched upward, so that she had the shape of a crescent moon, its two horns pointing downward.

Then her long tail lashed around in one big arc until it swept the table below, and seemed to start her turn to the upright position. Her paws all swept through arcs of a circle in the same direction as the tail and her feet swung under her body for a perfect landing when she was barely more than four inches above the table.

Send In 3-11 Alarm

Fire believed to have been started by spontaneous combustion yesterday caused damage of $30,000 in buildings occupied by five stores at 3236-42 and 3244-46 Lincoln avenue. Thousands gathered to watch the fireman fight the flames and tied up traffic at the busy intersection of Lincoln, Damen, and Belmont avenues, and Melrose street.

Miss Marge Corley, manager of a Barnett dress shop at 3236 Lincoln avenue, turned in the alarm after noting smoke coming from the basement beneath the store. The other shops damaged by the flames are the Adair Dress shop, 3238 Lincoln avenue; the J. R. Curtain and Drape shop, 3240 Lincoln avenue; Sally Frock shop, 3244 Lincoln avenue, and a National Hat store, 3246 Lincoln avenue.

WRIT ISSUED FOR EX-HUSBAND ON WOMAN'S CHARGE

Circuit Judge Walter J. La Buy yesterday issued an attachment for Malcolm M. Swift of Evanston on the charge of his divorced wife, Mrs. Vivian Varney Swift, that he is $1,092 in arrears in payments for the support of their son, Malcolm Jr., 8 years old.

Mrs. Swift got a divorce in 1928. Nearly two years ago she obtained a warrant in Evanston charging her ex-husband with nonsupport of their child. Swift evaded arrest on the warrant until last Friday night, when he was arrested as he appeared at a club dinner at the Hemenway Methodist church in Evanston. He had taken a second wife five days before in Nevada.

Judge La Buy's attachment will be served on him when he appears tomorrow before Justice of the Peace James Barber in Evanston on the nonsupport charge. Swift is the son of C. J. O. Swift, 838 Michigan avenue, Evanston, purchasing agent for the North Shore line.

BEWARE SPREAD OF COMMUNISM, LECTURER WARNS

A warning to Americans to beware of the spread of communism here, now that the United States has recognized Russia, was issued last night by Carveth Wells, noted explorer, lecturer, and author. He delivered a caustic but vivid description of the deplorable conditions he viewed during a trip he took through the soviet country a year ago.

An audience of about 2,500 persons filled Orchestra hall to capacity to hear him and greeted his speech and motion pictures with frequent sallies of handclapping and cheers, and at one time with boos and hisses. The lecture was sponsored by Advertising Men's post of the American Legion as a part of the Americanism program inaugurated by the Legion to fight recognition of the soviet union.

Speaking of the events that will follow the recognition of Russia, Mr. Wells referred to Ambassador Bullitt, who is to be sent to Moscow, as having married the widow of John Reed, whom he termed the most famous American communist. He showed a picture of Reed's grave in Red square in Moscow, directly behind the grave of Lenin.

It was at this point that hissing could be heard and some one shouted from the gallery: "Well, what of it?" The speaker did not answer, but closed that phase of his speech by asserting that the one point gave ample information of that situation.

"Russia will now send a swarm of consuls to every city in this country," Mr. Wells said. "They will form a nucleus of soviets and local communists. When the time comes for a general strike here—and it will come—the communists will be all ready to take advantage of it.

"Russia is sending us an ambassador who has been in Japan for five years. How do you think Japan will feel about a trained propagandist coming here, knowing that he is a man who will damage all he can our good relations with Japan?"

ART INSTITUTE ASKS U. S. CASH FOR NEW WING

Seeks $180,000 to Add to $420,000 on Hand.

The Art institute yesterday filed an application with the Illinois advisory board of the federal public works administration for $180,000 in "easy money" to be used in starting its contemplated extension east of the Illinois Central railroad tracks.

At a hearing yesterday afternoon Carter H. Harrison, chairman of the advisory board, indicated that the board will recommend to PWA authorities in Washington that the request be granted. Joshua D'Esposito, consulting engineer for the board, suggested in a joking manner that the institute trustees use part of the grant to clean the smoke grimed walls of the present building.

Trustees of the institute first broached the plan of the extension, needed to relieve overcrowding of the museum's present galleries, in 1927. The cost of the improvement at that time was set at between 5 and 12 million dollars.

Delayed by 4 Year Court Fight.

The south park commissioners granted the institute a permit for the addition, but a long court fight prevented any action for four years. The Stevens hotel and other Michigan avenue property holders filed suit to enjoin the building of the addition, on the grounds that the noted Montgomery Ward case thirty years ago barred any further buildings, public or private, in Grant park.

The case was finally settled by the Supreme court in favor of the institute in 1931. The high court held that the original institute had been built with the permission of Michigan avenue property owners and that permission included the right to expand the building erected at that time when such expansion was necessary to the proper functioning of the museum.

The $180,000 which the institute is seeking from the PWA would be an outright gift, 30 per cent of a construction project of $420,000. Instead of borrowing the remainder of the money from the government the institute will furnish it out of its endowment funds. It received a trust fund bequest of $1,000,000 from B. F. Ferguson, wealthy lumberman, who died in 1905, on which $420,000 in income has accumulated.

Cites Public Nature of Museum.

The petition to the PWA was signed by Potter Palmer, president of the Art institute, and filed by Attorney Percy B. 9ckhart, vice president of the museum. It sets forth that while the institute is a private corporation, it was incorporated not for profit and has been wholly devoted since its organization in 1879 to artistic and cultural instruction of the public.

Plans for the proposed addition have not been prepared. Attorney Eckhart said the institute will invite the architects of the country to participate in a competition in offering plans.

7 ILLINOIS CITIES GET NEW AWARDS OF U. S. EASY MONEY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Seven Illinois cities today were given federal easy money loans, aggregating $522,000, by Harold L. Ickes, public works administrator.

Another $141,900 went to other Chicagoland states for nine projects, most of them in Iowa.

All of the Illinois allotments announced by Ickes were comparatively small. The largest was to Auburn, which obtained a combination loan and grant of $299,000 to build a pumping station, water storage tank, and water distributing system. The village of Pawnee in Sangamon county was given a combination loan and grant aggregating $74,000 for the construction of a water works system. The village of Chatham, in the same county, received loans and grants totaling $83,000 for similar purposes.

Windsor, Ill., obtained a loan and grant of $65,000 to build a pumping station, storage tank, and water mains. Stonington village, in Christian county, received $30,000 for repairs to its water system.

Construction of a two story addition to the high school building at Carthage is provided for in an allotment of $82,000 to the Carthage school district.

Moweaqua village, in Shelby county, will have $9,000 with which to repair and extend its water system.

TIRED OF HELPING, KILLS RELATIVE AND HIMSELF

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Four times Max Henry Wurtzel, an insurance broker, established his brother-in-law, Harry Matfis, in business each time, Wurtzel says. Matfis failed and returned to borrow more money.

They resided in the same apartment at 110 Riverside drive.

This morning Wurtzel arose, shot and killed his brother-in-law and then ended his own life by swallowing poison.

Dr. George L. Wurtzel, brother of the suicide, said Matfis was set up in the haberdashery business four times. Wurtzel recently lost $200,000, the doctor said. He believed that the repeated demands of Matfis finally unsettled his mind.

HOUSE OF LORDS HAS A BUSY DAY DOING NOTHING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The house of lords worried through a hard session this afternoon, sitting around for a full nine minutes waiting to deal with a motion to be presented by a member who did not turn up. Having waited sedately on their red leather benches that long, their lordships adjourned, since no other business was on hand.

The motion for which the house had waited was to have been presented by Lord Peel, who wanted the government leader in the house, Viscount Hailsham, secretary of state for war, to ask Prime Minister MacDonald if he would not consider the appointment to the house of lords of a minister directly representing the department of foreign affairs. Such a post now is held by Sir John Simon, who as a knight sits in the house of commons.

The lord chancellor took his seat at 3:45 p. m. Formal routine business was quickly reeled off and the clerk stentoriously called Lord Peel's name. Nobody answered. Viscount Hailsham asserted that the noble lords had nothing else to consider today and the house adjourned. Lord Peel is understood to have mistaken the hour set for the motion.

Thomas Dewey, Assistant, Made Medalie's Successor

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, chief assistant under United States Attorney George Z. Medalie, today was sworn in as Medalie's successor. Dewey was elected to the position yesterday by the judges of the United States District court and will hold office until the President makes an appointment.

CAN THIS BE THE SAME MAN?

He used to be "the life of the party"—now he's popless, irritable and all so needlessly

It's hard to believe that he's the same chap! Can this sullen, irritable fellow be the one who led the adventures and gaieties of his entire set? He looks and feels "all in", yet ten to one there's nothing seriously wrong—nothing he cannot easily correct in just a few days.

It's Asthenia

(Run-down condition, usually caused by Constipation)

Millions of men and women are in the same lamentable plight today . . . and not one in ten can guess the cause. That's the insidious thing about Asthenia . . . it drags you down, slows your mind, robs you of your joys and pleasures, yet you hardly realize you're slipping.

Would you like for once to brush the cobwebs from your eyes—be ready and eager for any task—experience all the glories of this glorious old world? Then rid yourself of Asthenia—and stay rid of it.

You think that you're not the least bit clogged—you say that you're "regular" as can be—but physicians will tell you that it is only too easy to deceive yourself in this respect and stay doped with poisons. Thus millions of micro-organisms accumulate in the intestinal tract and produce that dull, achy, pepless feeling known as Asthenia.

Decide right now to turn the tables on Old Man Gloom. Take Pluto Water every morning for ten mornings, and see a new world in ten days.

The NEW TASTELESS WAY TO TAKE PLUTO

Taken as directed—one-fifth glass

in four-fifths glass of hot water

Pluto Water is virtually tasteless. It can be taken without disturbance of daily routine.

Gentle, Effective

Don't miss a day. Take it before breakfast as recommended—one-fifth glass Pluto Water in four-fifths glass hot water—for ten straight days! Cleanse your system of every vestige of health-destroying impurities. Then you will understand why for nearly 90 years, from all over the world, people have traveled to French Lick Springs for this ten-day Pluto Water treatment. And why physicians everywhere recommend it as a mild and effective laxative—non-irritating and non-habit-forming.

Two sizes—20c and 45c—at all drug counters. Bottled and sealed at French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick, Indiana.

PLUTO WATER

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Thousands of pile sufferers have not yet learned that quick, safe and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are filled with stagnant blood, weak and flabby. To get rid of Pile misery an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and strengthen the weakened parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt after years of study found a real internal pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and after prescribing it for his patients with a most remarkable record of success, decided every Pile sufferer might get his prescription at their druggist with a money back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's remedy is such an effective one that it should help you to quickly trade misery for blessed relief. So why doubt or delay when Walgreen's says "Get a bottle of HEM-ROID tablets today; take them as directed, then if you are not free from all Pile misery get your money back."

THE RULES:

1. Each day for 36 consecutive days (excepting Sundays) the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a crossword puzzle containing certain missing words of a Christmas saying. The incompleted saying will be printed below the puzzle. You are invited to solve the puzzles and find the missing words of the sayings.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in cash awards to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved, complete sets of puzzles in accordance with these rules. You do not necessarily have to solve each of the puzzles correctly to win. The awards will be paid to the persons whose entries rank highest.

3. This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing.

4. Puzzles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each puzzle separately. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 36. Then send them to "Christmas Sayings," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1718, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Puzzle No. 36 has been printed.

5. Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department. Make your entry simple and neat. Elaborateness is not necessary.

6. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the puzzles and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7. The judges will be a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. Judgment will be based upon first, accuracy in solving the puzzles and filling in the missing words of the Christmas Sayings; second, neatness of entry. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

IDLE WHO KEPT OFF RELIEF SIGN FOR JOBS TODAY

50,000 of These Jobless to Get Work Here.

That great army of the unemployed which has somehow endured the lean years of the depression without recourse to charity or governmental aid will be given an opportunity today to ask for work.

Forty-one offices have been established in field houses of the small parks dotting Chicago. These offices will open at 10 a. m. today to receive the applications for jobs from men who are not on the relief rolls.

Approximately 50,000 jobs in Cook county under the civil works administration program will be available for this class of men. The other 50,000 jobs alloted to the county are being distributed to persons who have been on the relief rolls.

Expect 100,000 to Register.

Many of the thousands expected to crowd the registration offices today must be disappointed. A registration of more than 100,000 is expected. And the parceling out of the jobs may not begin for many days because of the lack of suitable projects upon which to work.

Applicants are advised to appear at the office nearest their place of residence. They are also warned against mad rushes in an effort to be the first in line. The announcement was made that the last applicant will have as much chance for a job as the first.

Victor A. Olander, member of the local civil works administration board, who was placed in charge of the registration, announced that actual employment of the registrants awaited the investigation and approval of Administrator Robert J. Dunham. This work is being done as rapidly as possible, he said.

Hope to Complete Task Wednesday.

Registration of the unemployed in every Illinois county will be started not later than Saturday, it was announced. The hope was expressed that registration for the entire state would be completed by next Wednesday.

A clerical force of 1,100 was mustered by Mr. Olander for the work of registration. A majority of the registrars have been recruited from the ranks of unemployed school teachers. The CWA also approved a project calling for the employment of 180 men from relief rolls to assist in the registration.

The administration yesterday announced the approval of fifteen Cook county projects calling for the services of 725 men. These projects are for the sanitary district, the city, the state highway department, Memorial Park district, Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district, and the villages of South Holland and Robbins.

Several of these projects call for skilled workers, it was explained.

Seek to Split Cost.

Mayor Kelly yesterday asked Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt to confer with the CWA officials on the possibility of the city and the CWA splitting fifty-fifty the cost of materials and supplies in connection with the street repair project, which would involve the hiring of more than 15,000 men.

The commissioner also was requested to propose to the civil works administration the sharing of an $800,000 expense of buying materials in connection with a plumbing repair program in Chicago. The mayor said it had been estimated that an extensive repair of plumbing in Chicago would save 200 million gallons of water daily. More than 7,000 men could be employed on this project.

The mayor, who is also president of the south park board, said that the board was planning to spend $100,000 now held in its treasury for the purchase of materials for resurfacing drives if the CWA will furnish the men.

The south park board will put 800 men to work under the CWA today. They will be employed grading the parks, leveling and reseeding Soldiers' field, and doing general gardening throughout the park system.

The CWA announced that 27,463 workers have been placed in 79 downstate counties. Of this number 13,033 had been previously engaged in work relief projects and 14,430 were assigned from relief rolls.

Act to Make Jobs for Women.

A telegram from Harry L. Hopkins, national administrator of the program, instructed the Illinois organization to take quick action on work for women under the program. Mrs. Mary Gillette Moon was appointed as director of women's relief.

Mailmen will carry the pay checks to the CWA workers, it was announced yesterday. Disbursing agents in each county will issue U. S. government warrants which will be negotiable and "as good as cash," according to the announcement, and they will be placed in the mail. The first pay day will be next Saturday, but it is probable that the work week will end on Thursday in the future, it was said.

U. S. Jobs for 129,260.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Immediate employment of 129,260 men on hundreds of federal projects throughout the country was ordered late today by Harry L. Hopkins, civil works administrator.

Included is a group of 15,000 engineers, who will be assigned to the coast and geodetic survey of the commerce department, and 12,500 clerks who will do clerical and research work for the United States reemployment service. These two groups constitute the largest number of skilled workers yet affected by the civil works plan, which became effective a week ago.

Others to be employed include: Indian affairs projects on 113 reservations in 23 states, 4,000; southern tick eradication campaign, 12,000; District of Columbia park development, 700; rural sanitation and malaria control under the public health service, 60,766; work at army posts and at national cemeteries, 25,000. Illinois is one of the states where men will be put to work in sanitation projects and army posts.

Flower Show Under Way in Oak Park

Expect Crowd Sunday

A record attendance is expected Sunday at the chrysanthemum show at the Garfield park conservatory. Increasing crowds have thronged the show since its opening and west park officials predict that the crowd Sunday will exceed the record attendance of 33,000 established in 1923.

More than 300,000 blooms of 675 varieties are on display in the conservatory. An English garden with a small cottage is the setting for the display. One of the features of the show is a grafted plant on which 50 varieties of blooms have grown.

The fifth annual Oak Park chrysanthemum show opened yesterday in the conservatory of the Oak Park park district, 821 Garfield place. More than 3,000 plants are displayed and the show will continue for two weeks, being open from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m., including Sundays.

TORIES CHOOSE KING, AUTHOR, AS PRESIDENT

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Under the leadership of Maj. Henry F. Holthusen, attorney and former minister to Czechoslovakia, the Association of American Tories, which sprang into being when President Roosevelt used the word in assailing critics of the administration, is fast growing into a sizable organization.

Scores of persons who are willing to accept the name of "Tory" as a label of conservatism have subscribed to the principles of the organization and have become members.

Rufus King, the author, will be president of the Tories. The original band of Tories, whose vexation last Sunday afternoon when they read over the President's speech led to the formation of the new society, decided today that the Tories ought to have a King for president. The author was so informed by telegram, and will be formally elected at the meeting to be called by the Tories as soon as the long list of members is drawn up and those who telephoned are notified of their election.

DEATH LAID TO POISON LIQUOR.

LEWIS PREDICTS BIG SHAKEUP IN U.S. OFFICES HERE

Believes Only Green Will Escape "Cleanup."

A general shakeup in the ranks of federal employés in Chicago is imminent, United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis said yesterday. The senator revealed reported plans for the wholesale removal of federal employés after conferring with United States Attorney Dwight H. Green in the United States courthouse.

Senator Lewis said that he had received a telegram from Washington telling of plans to "clean out" the offices of the United States marshal, the collector of customs, and the controller of customs.

Anthony Czarnecki, collector of customs, and H. C. W. Laubenheimer, United States marshal, each has three years to serve. Senator Lewis, however, said that federal appointments and tenure of office were felt to be "at the discretion of the President."

Believes Green Will Stay.

The office of the district attorney was not mentioned in the plans for the shakeup, the senator said, and it was inferred that Mr. Green and his assistants are to continue in the government employ. It was pointed out that the approaching prosecution of Moe Rosenberg, Democratic politician, on a charge of income tax fraud and similar cases may have influenced the administration to let the prosecution remain in the hands of Republicans.

Many complaints against the offices mentioned caused the administration to decide on the shakeup "for the good of the service," Senator Lewis said.

"Would the fact that an office holder is a Republican be cause enough for his removal?" the senator was asked.

"O, no," he replied, "the mere fact that a man is a Republican does not mean that he is to be ousted."

Hears Purvis Will Be Ousted.

Senator Lewis also said that it is rumored in Washington that Hinton G. Claybaugh, former head of the department of justice under the Wilson régime and now employed by the Edison company, is to replace Melvin Purvis as head of the Chicago division of the department of investigation of department of justice. The senator also reported recurring mention in Washington that J. Edgar Hoover, national head of the department of investigation, plans to resign.

Senator Lewis, presenting his usual sartorial splendor, said he was "feeling fine" again. He appeared in the United States courthouse attired in a lightweight topcoat, snappy blue suit, and soft felt hat. A green shirt and tie of the same hue was topped by the bristling Lewis whiskers, well curried and resplendent.

Later in the afternoon Senator Lewis conferred with Senator William H. Dieterich on patronage and speaking tours planned by the two Illinois senators in support of the NRA.

LAUDS U. S.-RUSS ACCORD AS HELP TO WORLD PEACE

Philip La Follette for New Plan on Wealth.

In three Chicago addresses yesterday, former Gov. Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin approved recognition of the Russian soviet and suggested a recovery plan based on an economic conception that wealth should be distributed in proportion to the worker's share in creating it.

Mr. LaFollette spoke first before the Junior Association of Commerce at a luncheon in the Great Northern hotel. There he talked on Russia. In the afternoon he gave one of the series of contemporary thought lectures on the Evanston campus of Northwestern university, speaking on "The Future of Government." He repeated the same address last night on McKinlock campus, the university's downtown branch on the lake front.

The recognition of the soviets by the United States, according to the son of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette Sr., has dimmed the specter of war in the far east. It has been a quieting influence in the Russian-Japanese situation and has united two great powers, neither of which is interested in acquiring more territory.

"I am not a jingoist," said Mr. LaFollette, "but no one can follow what has been going on in the east without concern over peace. Japan has withdrawn from the league of nations, effective in 1935. If the military clique now dominating Japan retains control questions arising at the expiration of the treaty will be of considerable interest to the United States."

Judge Approves Divorce for Wife of Contractor

Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Superior court yesterday instructed Attorney Victor Frohlich to draw up a decree of divorce for Mrs. Harriett Anderson, 8411 South Hermitage avenue, from Emil Anderson, a contractor. Mrs. Anderson charged that her husband struck her when he found she had overdrawn her household allowance to buy jigsaw puzzles. She was given the Hermitage avenue home and $12 a week.

Writ Frees Woman from Asylum After 12 Years

Circuit Judge Edwin L. Wilson issued a writ of habeas corpus yesterday at Joliet, freeing Mrs. Emily Briggs, 55 years old, from the Kankakee state hospital, where she has been a patient since 1921. Mrs. Briggs' attorney, F. J. Loughran of Joliet, said that he would immediately start suit to have her brother, Harley B. Nichols of Kankakee, removed as trustee of her $50,000 estate. He was appointed trustee after his sister was committed to the hospital on his petition 12 years ago.

PRESIDENT ASKS FREE SPEECH BY FRIEND AND FOE

Is Ready to Fight for His Policies.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Liberty of expression, even for "those who disagree with us," was the text chosen by President Roosevelt today for his contribution to a three cornered international radio celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of Maryland.

Amid the protests of those who claim that his recovery program spells the end of individual initiative, that it is especially threatening to freedom of the press, the President lauded Lord Baltimore and his companions for their struggle for liberty, and for religious liberty in particular.

The President's brief speech was broadcast from this resort for infantile paralysis victims, where he is on vacation. Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, speaking from his home state, and Ambassador Bingham and the present Lord Fairfax, speaking from England, completed the tercentenary program.

Talks of Early Settlers.

Those who sailed to the new world under the banner of Lord Baltimore sought a "priceless possession," the President said.

"And they sought it not for themselves alone but for all others, even those who disagreed with them," he declared.

"Lord Baltimore and his colonists," the President went on, "sought in their charter, liberty not alone for the members of the expedition, but for all later comers as well. It is a good thing to demand liberty for ourselves and for those who agree with us, but it is a better thing and rarer thing to give liberty to others who do not agree with us."

"May we," said President Roosevelt, "in our own fights for things which we know to be right, fight as successfully as Lord Baltimore did 300 years ago. For we have our own fight to wage, not against the same foe which he beat down, but against other foes just as obstinate and just as powerful and just as intolerant of the things we fight for today."

Again Defies His Critics.

The behest to fight against those who oppose the administration's program, was the second attack which the President has directed against his critics since this vacation began five days ago. Last Friday, speaking in Savannah, where he took part in Georgia's bicentennial celebration, President Roosevelt assailed opponents of his policies as "Tories" and "Doubting Thomases."

Conferences which may have an important bearing on his policies are scheduled to interrupt the President's holiday the latter part of this week and next week. Acting secretary of the treasury Morgenthau is expected here next Friday or Saturday. Though the President denied that any special piece of business was to be discussed, it is virtually certain that the critical state of the monetary program will be reviewed.

To See Ickes, Johnson.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, is to reach here tomorrow evening or Friday for a talk concerning various codes and their administration. Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Relief Administrator Hopkins, and possibly William C. Bullitt, newly chosen ambassador to Russia, all are due here with their problems within the next few days.

The President turned briefly today from affairs of state to his perennial interest in forestry. He expressed gratification on the reports of the successful use by Georgia newspapers of newsprint manufactured from the scrub pine common to the south.

It is said that as the result of experiments by Dr. Charles H. Herty of Atlanta newsprint paper can be manufactured from this wood, hitherto found too resinous for use. It is further claimed that the pulp can be produced for $3.50 per ton as against $10 a ton for pulp from Canadian spruce.

Cabinet Draws Up NRA to Spur British Columbia

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 22.—A modified form of NRA is to be established by the newly elected government of Premier Pattullo, whose cabinet is now forming an economic council. Special legislation is to be passed. Cabinet members are conferring with leading economists, business men and labor leaders with a view to getting their advice in the drive for prosperity.

EMPLOYER ORDERED BY NRA TO PAY CASH AFTER CHECKS BOUNCE

The NRA compliance board took summary action yesterday in the case of an employer who used worthless checks when he was ordered by the board to pay four girl workers for overtime and to compensate for illegally low wages. The secretary of the employing concern, a lamp shade establishment, was summoned before the board headed by Bettin Stalling and ordered to pay the girls in cash and to give each girl $1 extra for the carfare spent in repeated visits to NRA headquarters.

The girls first complained to the authorities that they had to work 44 to 60 hours a week and were paid only 18 cents an hour. They also charged that their employer hired girls to learn the trade, paid them only their carfare, and then replaced them at the end of two weeks with new apprentices.

The compliance board ordered the company to pay the girls for the overtime they had worked and to make up the difference in wages between the sums paid and the NRA requirements. The company paid them by check, but the girls complained that the concern had no funds in the bank with which to meet payment. The secretary of the company was ordered to deposit the cash at the NRA offices on Monday and the girls were advised to go there for it next Tuesday.

CENSORSHIP FOR TREASURY EASED BY MORGENTHAU

See Action as Answer to Protests.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—After a brief three day trial period, in which it blocked all inquiries from senators and congressmen as well as newspaper men, the news censorship clamped on the treasury department by Acting Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. today showed signs of breaking up.

Secretary Morgenthau tonight was preparing an amendment to his famous 'treasury department order No. 1," relaxing the complete news ban laid down in that order. It was understood that heads of divisions will be allowed to talk freely on factual and statistical questions.

Retains Policy Censorship.

Secretary Morgenthau intends to retain, however, an unbroken censorship on all discussions of policy including the gold policy. Speeches of officials still will be edited before delivery and statistical questions which may involve policy must be referred to the secretary's new assistant, Herbert E. Gaston.

Relaxation of the censorship followed a protest wired yesterday to President Roosevelt by newspaper men assigned to the treasury department. No word was received from the President or his secretaries, but the action of Morgenthau was taken as an answer.

Refuses Any Limitation.

Newspaper men refused at a press conference with Morgenthau this afternoon, however, to approve any modification of the original rule, pointing out that they were required to get all news possible and that they should not be asked by the treasury to agree to any arrangement, rigid or relaxed, which restricted information.

WOODIN DEFENDS FISCAL POLICIES OF THE PRESIDENT

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin today issued through Dow, Jones & Co. a statement sharply criticising Dr. O. M. W. Sprague's attack on the Roosevelt fiscal policies.

"I must seriously criticise Dr. Sprague for the assertion he practically makes that the United States treasury is placed in a position where it must borrow two billion dollars from the people on bad security," the secreary said.

"In any way to suggest that the United States government bonds are or can be or will be in any sense bad securiy is not only a reflection on the wealth and integrity of this country and its people, but impeaches Dr. Sprague's own common sense and competency as a student of finance.

"Further, Dr. Sprague is permitting what he concedes to be personal embarrassment to becloud his judgment and to trifle and to ruffle his ordinarily good temperament."

Prof. Irving Fisher, economist of Yale university, attacked Dr. Sprague's statement that he did not believe the President's gold policy would succeed in its objective of raising the general price level.

"There are two answers to this," said Prof. Fisher. "One is that the price level has already risen. The other is that the experience of other countries has been similar."

million; in 1932, 3 billion 153 million, and in 1933, 3 billion 63 million.

Estimates of Expenditures.

According to reliable estimates obtained today, despite the Morgenthau press censorship, the actual expenditures of the administration in the current fiscal year will be as follows (in millions of dollars):

Ordinary expenditures	2,773
AAA	250
Public works	1,500
RFC ordinary	1,000
Commodity credits	400
RFC closed bank loans	1,000
RFC preferred stock purchases	1,000
Total	7,923

The receipts from the general sources, income, tariff, and special taxes, are estimated to produce 2 billion 200 million. The AAA processing taxes are expected to yield 250 millions, and the special nuisance taxes another 227 millions, reflecting total receipts of 2 billion 677 million dollars.

On this showing the indicated deficit on next June 30 would be 5 billion 300 million dollars, but it is reckoned by treasury experts that the last two items in the expenditure column will not be fully expended. The RFC plan to purchase preferred stock in banks has not attracted many bankers, and it is not expected as much as a billion dollars will be so spent. No figures are obtainable as to how many loans the RFC has made to bank receivers, but here, too, it is doubted that the total will run up to a billion dollars.

Large Deficit Predicted.

Taking these probabilities into account, it is reckoned that the deficit will run between 4 billions and the maximum of 5 billion 300 million.

The Morgenthau purpose of buying the treasury's own bonds with the treasury's own funds was announced by the acting secretary late today. Mr. Morganthau said he would buy government securities through the federal reserve banks with balances in the postal savings fund, the farm credit administration, the Deposit Insurance corporation and the government sinking fund.

"We will announce every Monday morning how much of our funds we have invested in government securities," the acting secretary declared. He refused to estimate how much is available in the funds named for the purchase of bonds.

"I am not going to let speculators know how much money I've got."

Refuses to Discuss Matter.

Mr. Morgenthau declined also to discuss the withdrawal of the federal reserve banks from purchases of government securities in the open market. But he did assert that the treasury's purchases had no relation to the open market operations of the federal reserve board, which had been promoted by the administration as a means of expanding commercial credit.

Prof. Sprague in an interview today declared that he had no immediate plans. In his letter of resignation he had voiced an intention of striving to awaken public opinion to the perils of the Roosevelt fiscal program, but he denied today that he planned to join any particular organization. He will not return to the Bank of England, whence he resigned at the urgence of President Roosevelt.

As he visions the future of America, the hope of regaining prosperity would lie in the development of one or more of the heavy industries. He suggested that the government should push heavily on a program such as housing construction, and saw great possibility in a new industry, building of fabricated houses.

Woodin Expresses Regret.

Secretary Woodin, resting in New York pending the start of his health quest in Arizona, expressed regret at Dr. Sprague's public resignation, and said that the professor had let "his usually sound judgment" be swayed by personal pique over the failure of the President to consult him on the gold policy.

The price offered by the RFC for gold remained today at $33.76 per ounce, unchanged after yesterday's rise of 10 cents.

Acting Secretary Morgenthau will leave tomorrow night for Warm Springs, to stay for two days in conferences with the President.

MINERS' SUBSISTENCE PROJECT INSPECTED BY MRS. ROOSEVELT

Reedsville, W. Va., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, carrying on her expressed plan to help the "forgotten man," stood among the graves of 200 colonial slaves on a windswept West Virginia hillside today and plotted a new freedom for workers.

The wife of the President came upon the timeworn markers during an inspection tour of the 1,000 acre site of the government's homeland project for rehabilitation of impecunious coal miners.

Hatless and coatless, with hair blowing in a crisp November breeze, she stood silent for several minutes before passing.

The tour was made with a party from Washington, and while Mrs. Roosevelt refrained at its conclusion from official comment, she did say:

"I am very much pleased."

The party, including Col. Louis McHenry Howe and officials of the department of the interior, arrived early and made the tour after a hurried breakfast at the home of friends of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Col. Howe returned to Washington by automobile this afternoon.

This Motorist Makes Car Climb to Hit Mail Boxes

Aledo, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Destruction of twelve mail boxes on a hard road east of Joy, Ill., today was being investigated by Sheriff Walter Rehn and State's Attorney Stanton Prentiss of Mercer county. They said somebody, perhaps having a grudge against the government, had driven an automobile against supports of the boxes as the car had climbed embankments to hit some of them.

Cotton Spinning Industry Running at Higher Rate

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The cotton spinning industry was reported today by the census bureau to have operated during October at 101.9 per cent capacity, on a single shift basis, compared with 99.6 per cent during September this year and 97 per cent during October last year.

STATE WRIT BARS NRA BOARD FROM ACTING IN STRIKE

Judge Shurtleff's Action to Go to U. S. Court.

A temporary injunction restraining the Chicago regional labor board from investigating and mediating a dispute between the National Lock company of Rockford and a group of its striking employés was issued yesterday by Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff at Woodstock. It was the first attempt to prevent the board, which was formed under the NRA program, to investigate labor disputes.

Notified of the court's action, Lawrence N. Marino, assistant United States district attorney, announced last night that he will appear at once before the United States District court and seek the dissolution of the injunction on the ground that the state court lacked jurisdiction in the matter.

Tells Court It Lacks Power.

The labor board was not represented at the hearing before Judge Shurtleff. The court observed this absence by remarking: "If the regional board is under the NRA it should be able to present a defense." During the hearing, however, Mr. Marino telephoned from Chicago and informed the court that it was without jurisdiction in the matter and that if an injunction were granted the case would be taken into the federal court.

The restraining order was sought by Attorney Roy F. Hall, representing the lock company. His petition alleged that the labor board's inquiry would have a bad effect on the lock concern and the general labor situation in Rockford, and that it was uncalled for, since the company is not involved in any dispute with employés.

The attorney said that 800 of the plant's 1,200 men walked out in August, but that all except 200 of them are now back at work. He added that the plant now has all the men at work that it needs and that the 200 had forfeited their rights by their walkout.

However, Dr. John A. Lapp, secretary of the labor board, who conducted a hearing in the company's case on Nov. 17 in Rockford, declared that 1,200 men went on strike at the plant and that at least 500 of them are still out. He said that the board had instructed him to proceed with his investigation of the Rockford dispute despite the injunction.

Holds U. S. Authority Lacking.

In granting the order Judge Shurtleff said there was no legal way in which federal authorities may interfere in such matters eexcept by a specific statute authorizing the jurisdiction and power of the regional board. He pointed out that nothing in the matter presented to him indicated any federal relationship with the case.

Mr. Marino insisted that the board was acting as a part of a United States corporation created by the national recovery act. He asserted that its activities could not be restrained by state courts.

"Judge Shurtleff had no jurisdiction in this affair and I so advised him," said the federal attorney. "Tomorrow morning I will obtain the necessary data from Dr. Lapp and will prepare an application for a writ to cause the county clerk to transfer the papers in the case to a federal court. I will then ask that the injunction be set aside."

ELEVATED AUTO HIGHWAY SEEN AS TRADE BOON

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Alvan MacAuley, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in an interview today indorsed the Chicago elevated highway as the inauguration of a new era in motor transportation.

"Fast and safe driving into metropolitan centers," he said, "will mean an impetus to automobile usage as decided as was the hard surface paving of rural highways a few years ago."

"Before the rural roads were paved a motorist did not venture far from city streets. Today he may drive with speed and safety between municipalities, but inside cities the car is mired by congestion more dangerous and difficult to travel than the mud encountered a few years ago.

"The government, collecting revenue from gasoline, oil, accessories, rubber, new parts and new car sales, should contribute toward the development of automobile transportation."

The Illinois highway department is preparing detailed engineering designs and estimates preparatory to a formal petition to the government for a grant and possibly a loan for the initial construction on a Chicago elevated highway system. The loan would be retired from the state's gasoline tax revenue.

The DARK DIAMOND IS PACKED WITH HEAT for YOU

IN everything there is only one best. In precious jewels the best is the diamond—hardest of substances, native carbon crystallized.

In fuels, the best is anthracite, hardest of coals, averaging in the Famous Reading Anthracite fields over 90% carbon . . . shipped to you as carefully cleaned and sized nuggets packed with radiant warmth.

You can have the cleanest, safest, healthiest, most dependable heat this winter if you burn super-cleaned Famous Reading Anthracite—that better Pennsylvania HARD coal.

HERE IS WHY

New freight rates and mine prices make Famous Reading Anthracite available to you at the lowest November prices in years.

New scientific methods of cleaning Reading HARD coal leave the ashes at the mines and send you practically pure chunks of carbon.

BECAUSE IT IS HARD AND PURE

Reading HARD coal burns evenly over its surfaces. It does not flare up suddenly and die out quickly. It does not make soot, or smoke, never deteriorates in your bin, is clean to handle and keeps your house cleaner. It is safe—no explosions to fill your house with greasy soot, or perhaps, set fire to it—no overheating that sets your house on fire. It is so thoroughly cleaned that every piece is practically pure carbon, preventing clinkers and leaving very few ashes. It is so HARD and compressed that you can put approximately twice as much heating value into your furnace at each firing than you can with other solid fuels. That means fewer furnace "fixings" each day—an easier life for you. Try a load NOW!

WARBURG BOLTS ROOSEVELT FOR HIS MONEY POLICY

Banker Ex-Adviser Acts Reluctantly, He Says.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 22.—(AP)—James P. Warburg, who has been regarded as unofficial economic advisor to President Roosevelt, tonight expressed his "reluctant" opposition to some of the methods of the President's monetary policies.

"What I reluctantly oppose," said the New York banker, who was financial advisor to the American delegation to the world economic conference, "are some of the methods by which he seeks to attain his goal, some of the misconceptions that seem to becloud his purpose, and the disregard of the accumulated experience of centuries manifested by all too many of his advisors."

Warburg made a surprise address at the American Academy of Political Science in aligning himself with Dr. O. M. W. Sprague, recently resigned special advisor to the treasury, in seeking to arouse public opinion against the President's monetary policies.

Called O. K. by Fisher.

At the same meeting Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale university said in an address the monetary policy of President Roosevelt "is substantially right." Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, another speaker, said he was "as much opposed to inflation—the improper, excessive and over-issue of either currency or credit—as any money changer in Wall street."

Warburg expressed doubt "that as a practical matter there can be any such thing as a dollar of constant purchasing power," which President Roosevelt espoused in his message to the economic conference last July, and the banker revealed for the first time that he had resigned from the American delegation after the President's message had been received in London.

Delayed His Resignation.

He said he did not let his resignation become known at that time, because he was "still hopeful of being able to convince the President that it would be a mistake to continue his policy of monetary uncertainty and experimentation." But after many conferences, he continued, he came to the same conclusion that Dr. Sprague stated in his letter of resignation as special assistant secretary of the treasury yesterday, that public opinion would have to become aroused.

Warburg defended the gold standard, subject to modernization, and said he could not picture the savings of the people flowing through the normal financial banking and investment structure "on the basis of a currency which it will take generations to understand." He added, "You cannot trust what you cannot understand."

Controlled Inflation Impossible.

The banker asserted that he was opposed to controlled inflation "because I do not believe there is any such thing," and would oppose it even if it could be controlled, because, "unless a rise in prices is accompanied by a rise in incomes, I cannot see that it does anyone any good.

"Frankly, I am a very 'doubting Thomas,'" he declared, referring to the President's recent characterization of critics of his monetary program.

Warburg said he determined upon his present course by the end of September, and stated his "conviction to the advisory group with which I have been working." He added also that he stated his intention of "setting about the task of arousing what I conceived to be a latent inarticulate majority."

Aids Only Debtors.

In condemning "controlled inflation," the banker asserted that depreciation of the currency "hurts everyone who is more creditor than debtor and aids only those who are preponderantly debtors. If inflation breaks away from control it ruins all alike."

He continued that all wage earners would be hurt "because the purchasing power of their wages is reduced faster than their wages are increased."

Regarding the farmers, he said he had been authoritatively informed that 50 per cent of the farmers were mortgage free and 25 per cent more had mortgage debts of less than 25 per cent of the value of their properties.

SANITARY BOARD WARNS POWER DEBTORS TO PAY

Municipalities in arrears on the payment of bills for electric current furnished by the Chicago sanitary district were notified yesterday to meet the obligations, or the service would not continue. The notice was in keeping with the request of Public Works Administrator to Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the district's finance committee. Woodhull has conferred with Ickes on the proposed allocation of $33,000,000 of federal funds for sewage disposal construction in the city.

Mr. Woodhull said that some of the electricity bills probably would be paid with tax anticipation warrants. The city of Chicago owes approximately $7,000,000. Other debts include: West parks, $141,373; south parks, $136,137; Lincoln park, $81,589; Cook county, $34,093; Blue Island, $14,626.

The $33,000,000 federal allotment for which Ickes has outlined the requirements would be in addition to the $3,000,000 of federal easy money already allotted to the district. The additional money would finance for two years the sewage disposal program made necessary by United States Supreme court mandate. The court ordered the water diversion from Lake Michigan in Chicago cut to 1,500 cubic feet per second by the end of 1938.

EXTORTION NOTE SENT GOVERNOR OF W. VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—State police today were endeavoring to find the writer of a "threatening note" which demanded an immediate payment of $100,000 by Gov. H. K. Kump "for his safety."

The governor's office was noncommittal about the threat. At the Ruffner hotel, however, it was revealed that two uniformed troopers had marched into the lobby last night and had given a package to a clerk to be called for by a man in a few moments.

A state police detail of ten plain clothes men headed by Col. P. D. Shingleton kept a watch for several hours in the lobby, but no caller came for the package. Questioning at police headquarters revealed that the package was a decoy in an effort to catch the author of the note, who demanded the money in small bills.

POLICE CALLED TO PRISON AS RIOT THREATENS

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Calls were put in for additional state and local police to go to the Eastern State penitentiary when another disorder broke out in the institution tonight.

No details were immediately available, but prison authorities asked for policemen to augment the force of guards that has been on duty since yesterday's riot, in which 75 convicts burned two prison buildings and smashed machinery in the workshops.

Shouting in the institution could be heard outside the grim walls.

UNION LABOR AND JOHNSON SPLIT ON CODE BOARDS

Rift Seen Between Him and Secretary Perkins.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Circumstances surrounding the appointment of three of the eight government representatives on the national bituminous coal industrial board disclosed today a widening rift between organized labor and Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, and a breach between the recovery administration and Secretary Perkins.

When it appeared that organized labor would not be represented by at least one of the governmental appointees on the board, which includes nine industrial members, Gen. Johnson was notified on behalf of organized labor that the latter would insist upon representation on all code authorities.

This dispute has been smoldering under the surface for some time, although on several occasions labor's demands for representation came out openly when codes were up for consideration.

Among important labor advisers of the NRA there is strong advocacy of early resignations if labor continues to be ignored on code authorities.

Climaxed by Coal Appointees.

This delicate situation was brought to a head by the hurried announcement late last night by Gen. Johnson of the governmental apointees on the coal board. As the list stood up to last night, the three general appointees were to have been former district judge George W. Anderson of Boston, Fred Berquist, formerly of the bureau of mines and now attached to the mineral division of the NRA, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

But instead of Mr. Lewis and Mr. Berquist being appointed, the names of Gen. Johnson himself and Fred G. Tyron of the bureau of mines were substituted.

The elimination of Lewis and Berquist was the subject of heated conversation between Gen. Johnson and Secretary Perkins, who is said to have backed labor's demand for at least one of the governmental appointments.

May Appeal to Roosevelt.

Gen. Johnson was also informed that Mr. Tyron, undoubtedly one of the foremost coal authorities in the country, was suffering from intermittent illness contracted in the tropics and could not expect to devote as much time as the work would require. It could not be learned whether Secretary Perkins would appeal to President Roosevelt, but it was regarded as significant that an NRA press release today referred to "recommendations" that the President make the three appointments.

The release, issued after midnight, following an hour's telephone argument between Gen. Johnson and the secretary of labor, stated without qualification that the organization of the soft coal industry for self-government "was completed today with the appointment by President Roosevelt" of the presidential members of the board.

Feared Industry Complaint.

To add further to the confusion attending the appointments, which have been held up for several weeks, Gen. Johnson is reported to have said his refusal to appoint a labor member was due to the belief that after such an appointment industry would demand representation on the six boards which are to mediate labor disputes.

Gen. Johnson was thereupon advised that industry was already represented on these boards, which provide for three members, one representing labor, one the operators, and an impartial chairman.

In labor circles it was pointed out that instead of the original plan of a board of 18 equally divided between industry and governmental appointees, with the administrator as ex-officio chairman, the board now consisted of 17 members—eight from the government and nine from industry. Thus industry has one more vote than the government.

GRANGE VOTES DOWN FARM STRIKE WAY OF GETTING JUSTICE

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The National Grange convention went definitely on record today as condemning the farm strike as a means of securing "economic justice" for agriculture.

The resolution, adopted yesterday and then withdrawn for further consideration, again received approval after extended debate. As adopted it read:

"Resolved, That while we heartily commend all farmers who wage a militant fight along lawful and legitimate lines to secure economic justice and encourage them to work for the solution of their problems and grievances through lawful means and cooperative effort, we must condemn resort to violence and intimidation."

Herman Ihde, master of the Wisconsin Grange and author of the resolution, defended it against delegates who questioned the advisability of using the word "condemn" and urged that it might imply the grange was opposed to farmers protesting foreclosure action.

Ihde declared "a small minority of farmers" were seeking "to force the majority to agree to policies which are unsound," and said he believed he voiced the sentiment of the grange when he said it is not "opposed to the farm strike, provided it is conducted legally."

J. J. Martin, state master of South Dakota, tried unsuccessfully to include a statement that the resolution did not refer to farmers opposing foreclosure of their homes, but this and all other amendments were rejected.

In the afternoon the delegates considered the report of the taxation committee, declared by officials to incorporate a recommendation for increase in the higher brackets of the federal income tax and a protest against any sales tax on food.

JOHNSON PLANS ADDED POLICING OF NRA SIGNERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Anticipating an increasing large number of code violations Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, today announced that the federal government will be forced to extend its policing of industry in order to keep "chiselers" in line.

The general's statement was his first public utterance on code enforcement since he returned from his midwestern trip, which is reported to have convinced him that code violations are prevalent.

Although the national recovery act contemplates the policing of industries by themselves, Gen. Johnson asserted today that it will be necessary, as code violations increase, to extend the government's code enforcement machinery materially.

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Harry D. Downer, 29, of Rock Island, who sued for annulment of his marriage to Miss Louise M. Strober, 20, of Moline, Ill., on the contention that he did not remember having been married to her by Magistrate John T. Bauer Nov. 9, was granted an annulment today by Judge J. Paul Cliff.

MILK CONSUMERS TO HAVE A SAY AT HEARING MONDAY

Tangle Is Moving Rapidly Toward Crisis.

Chicago's milk situation moved swiftly toward a crisis yesterday. But whether the next development is to be chaos, a farmers' strike and a price war, or the replacement of the present milk marketing agreement with one setting up an orderly sales system for the city's milk supply, remained a matter of grave doubt.

Developments of the day were these:

1. It was announced in Washington that the long promised hearing for milk consumers will open here in Chicago next Monday morning, and that pending that hearing no action will be taken to revoke the licenses of and put out of business three large independent dairy companies which AAA agents found guilty of violating the section of the milk code forbidding price cutting.

Charge Companies Violate Code.

3. Before he left town Geyer charged in a statement to consumers and Pure Milk association members that Chicago dealers operating under the milk code are not living up to their agreement, in an amendment to the code which became effective Nov. 1, to buy more cream from farmers.

In his statement Geyer made no direct threat of a milk strike by Pure Milk association members, but, in view of his previous attitude, his charge that the dealers are violating the marketing agreement was tantamount to such a threat.

On Oct. 20 Geyer served notice on Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that the Pure Milk association was canceling its signature to the milk marketing agreement because of the failure of the AAA to enforce the agreement's provisions against price cutting.

Forces Agreement to Buy More.

On that occasion Secretary Wallace summoned him and representatives of the Milk Council of Chicago, dominated by the "Big Four" milk companies, to Washington by long distance telephone calls, meanwhile suppressing the news of the cancellation. Geyer was induced to withdraw the cancellation when the dealers filed the amendment to the marketing agreement, bearing the signatures of the four big companies and 83 smaller dealers, which raised prices paid to farmers and agreed to take an additional 500,000 pounds of milk daily from which cream was to be extracted. An extra cent was added to retail prices to carry the increased production cost.

The small dealers who signed that agreement have insisted since that they were double crossed in the matter. They signed, they said, on the assurance that the amendment would not be filed until enforcement measures had driven their cut price competitors out of the Chicago market.

Geyer Attacks Dealers.

Geyer himself said in his statement yesterday that the milk situation has reached a crucial stage. To his charge that the milk dealers are not taking the extra cream which they promised to buy under the marketing agreement amendment he added:

"They have used the same methods they have in the past, pitting one group of farmers against another. Chicago is flooded with farmers or their agents from outside the milkshed set up in the marketing agreement, trying to sell cheap milk. The dealers call me up and cry on my shoulder, 'If we can buy cheaper elsewhere, why should we buy from the Pure Milk association members?'"

According to information obtained in Washington, Geyer made an attempt to convert the public hearing for Chicago consumers into a star chamber session. When Dr. King asked him to obtain a hall seating at least 1,000 persons for the hearing he is reported to have recommended that a smaller hall be obtained.

In his public statement, however, Geyer said that the Pure Milk association "welcomes an honest attempt to get all the facts."

INDEPENDENT DAIRY'S TRUCK IS STOLEN AND RUN INTO THE RIVER

A delivery truck belonging to the Lake View Dairy company, 542 Grant place, was stolen yesterday in front of an independent milk store at 2018 Lawrence avenue. The vehicle was found a short time later in the north branch of the river near Montrose avenue. The police suspected that some disgruntled business rival of the dairy stole the truck and ran it into the water an act of vandalism. At the time of the theft, the driver, Herman Harrgart, 3243 Greenview avenue, was making a delivery in the milk store. The Lake View dairy, an independent company, is one of the principal supply sources for independent stores.

Precautions against stuffy indoor living do not go far enough you must also have good resistance...

Bad weather and indoor living are not the only hazards you have to guard against. You must build up your resistance as well!

Furthermore, advance protection of physical comfort and well being by building up one's physical forces is becoming almost as important as treatment after you're ill.

And one way of bringing this about is to obtain an abundance of the factors which contribute to good resistance!

Of resistance-building Vitamin A a famous scientist says, "It helps to maintain the first line of defense against the invasion of bacteria."

How important for any one susceptible to winter ills to obtain an abundance every day!

Each Adex tablet provides 1000 units of Vitamin A, and 2450 units of the other factor found in halibut and cod-liver oils and Viosterol—sunshine Vitamin D!

They are the only concentrate of vitamins on the market made from these three resistance-building sources!

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

LIQUOR CONTROL ACTION IS ASKED BY GOV. HORNER

Two Plans Now Before the Legislature.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Numerous members of the Illinois general assembly were trying tonight to ascertain to just what extent brewers and distillers will seek to influence post-prohibition legislation.

The special session called to devise liquor control laws met briefly today. Bills were introduced, but under constitutional requirements action was deferred and some of the senators and representatives let their curiosity wander into the field of conjecture as to whether there would be a little black satchel somewhere in the capital before the subject is disposed of.

Speculation Is Active.

There was no suggestion that anybody was looking with avid eyes for such a valise, but in the corridors of the statehouse and in the lobbies of the hotels the one general topic was whether it was not logical to expect the arrival in the capital of some such piece of luggage.

There wasn't much that the legislators could do except talk about the possibilities of the situation. The ordinary, simple, direct course of considering one bill to meet the problems of the post-prohibition era had been complicated by a division of opinion. Instead of the single bill that the state commission, headed by Senator Harold G. Ward had been expected to produce, there were two measures from this source.

One was the unrestricted home rule bill fathered by Ward and some of his associates. The other, drawn by other members of the commission, would provide an appeal provision with a state board of limited power. In addition, there was an unheralded contribution from Sol Handy [Dem., Marshall], father of the short-lived chewing gum tax, which would transfer the Ontario system to Illinois.

Two Bills Introduced.

Each chamber met for a short time this morning. The Ward commission bill and the counter proposal, more detailed and clear cut in its provisions, were introduced in both and were advanced to second reading. That was as far as business could be pressed. Thus it was that unofficial conversation swung to the subject of the possibilities of a black satchel that might cast the deciding vote or that Illinois would fail to put state control into effect immediately after the federal government steps out of the picture.

The necessity for prompt action was stressed by Gov. Horner's message to the special session.

"With national prohibition repeal effective two weeks from today," he said in this communication, "prompt action by the legislature is imperative. As short as is the time for action, it is unthinkable that repeal should become effective without adequate legislation in our state to meet it.

"In itself the briefness of the period with which the legislature should act is a challenge to every member to contribute to the task all the devotion, energy and ability at his command."

Ward Discusses His Bill.

At a late afternoon session, which was prolonged into the evening, Senator Ward discussed the provisions of his bill.

"When all is said and done," he said, after talking about the local option and other features of the bill, "this is a home rule measure. Why delay enactment with debates over the exact shade of local option that is authorized?

Nevertheless there was manifest a desire to hear from Ralph M. Shaw and Conrad H. Poppenhusen, the two Chicago lawyers who fathered the other state measure. It is understood they will be here tomorrow.

HURT BY OWN CAR

LOLA LANE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Lola Lane, blond film beauty, was injured when run down by her own auto this afternoon. Miss Lane, who recently won a divorce from Lew Ayres, was treated at Hollywood police hospital. Her machine became locked with another car and when the actress climbed out to direct efforts to separate the machines, her car became loose and backed into her. She suffered a torn ligament of the knee.

TO ARGUE CHARGE OF SCOTTSBORO JURY PREJUDICE

New Defendant to Be Arraigned Today.

Decatur, Ala., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Arraignment of another of seven Negro defendants in the "Scottsboro case" was set today for tomorrow by Judge W. W. Callahan, presiding in Morgan Circuit court.

The announcement came during a one day recess of the new trials of the Negroes, charged with attacking Mrs. Victoria Price and Ruby Bates, white girls, two years ago aboard a Southern railway freight train.

Tomorrow the pending motion to quash the venire of 100 drawn for the third trial of Heywood Patterson, twice convicted and sentenced to death, will be argued.

Joseph R. Brodsky of New York, a lawyer, retained by the international labor defense to defend the Negroes, will be permitted to ask A. J. Tidwell of the Morgan county jury board why J. J. Sykes, Negro theater operator, was excluded from the jury rolls at the time the Negroes were indicted.

Judge Callahan, in announcing that another of the seven defendants would be arraigned tomorrow, said a third would be arraigned Monday and venires would be drawn for each case, on arraignment. The cases will be set for hearing on successive Mondays.

U. S. HOTEL MEN ASK PARIS' ADVICE AS TO WINE LISTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Paris hotelkeepers are being besieged by American hotelkeepers with requests for information about French wine lists. One hotel manager here has received more than 100 requests for copies of his wine list in the last three months. A typical letter from one of the best known New York hotels reads:

"The law still forbids the importation of wines, but it authorizes the entry of wine lists. For purposes of guidance—when the eighteenth amendment is finally repealed—won't you please send me a copy of your wine card? Within a short time we shall likely have a wine card of our own and we should like to arrange it in the best Parisian fashion.

"In brief, we want to model our wine list after yours, if you are willing. Our hotel has never had a wine list because we entered business A. V. (after Volstead)."

The requests are being cheerfully met.

4,000 COUNTY EMPLOYES TO GET PAY TODAY

The payment of their salaries to 4,000 county employés for the last half of August, which County Treasurer McDonough had announced would take place yesterday, had to be postponed until today. Michael J. O'Connor, assistant county controller, explained that it took a full day to prepare the pay rolls after the treasurer announced that funds were available.

WIFE ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A warrant charging Mrs. Muriel Hinkle, 33, with murder and involuntary manslaughter was issued today by Prosecutor Harry D. Boardman following the death from pistol wounds last night of her husband, Roy, 33.

STRICT CONTROL OF LIQUOR GIVEN TO U. S. BY CODE

Will Rule Distillers by License.

the code provides that "if the administration finds after investigation that any posted price list contains, in whole or in part, prices or terms or conditions which constitute destructive price cutting, or are so excessive as to encourage the sale of distilled spirits in violation of law, it is authorized to declare such prices or terms or conditions ineffective."

According to framers of the code, a retail price of $1.50 a quart for whisky, exclusive of tax, would give the industry and trade ample profits.

Barrel Sale Restricted.

It isn't going to be easy to buy whisky by the barrel for the code provides that "members of the industry shall sell or dispose of distilled spirits in bottles only, except in cases of sales to rectifiers or blenders, or to dispensaries or other agencies operated and maintained by any state or political subdivision thereof."

The volume of production also is to be controlled. No distiller is to be allowed to expand production beyond the capacity of his plant at the time of prohibition repeal or this code becomes effective, whichever is earlier, unless such expansion is approved by the alcohol administration.

The administrator is empowered also to limit production and prorate it whenever "the economic condition of the industry is or might become unbalanced or if other conditions exist or likely to exist which will tend to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act or the purposes of this code."

The maximum hours of work in the industry are to be 42 a week and the minimum wage 40 cents an hour. Office employés are to receive a minimum of $16 a week. Strict regulations govern the quality of spirits, labeling, and capacity of bottles.

Market in Agreement.

Attached to the code is a proposed distillers' marketing agreement limiting the ingredients of liquor to American agricultural commodities. In order to assure parity prices to the farmers for such commodities each distiller is to pay for grain, sugar beets, sugar cane, molasses, etc., not less "than the fair exchange value therefor," as determined by the secretary of agriculture. The secretary is to promulgate "the current average farm price" for distilling materials.

"Whenever," the code provides, "the sum of [1] the current average farm price for any basic distilling commodity or product used by contracting distillers, plus [2] the processing or other tax under the act, if any, paid with respect thereto or with respect to the commodity from which processed or derived directly or indirectly, is less than the fair exchange value for such commodity or product, the contracting distillers shall pay the amount of such differences [hereinafter known as the parity payment] into the treasury of the United States or such other depository as may be designated by regulations of the administration."

Labor and other provisions of the code are similar to the provisions of the codes of other industries.

HOUSE PASSES PINCHOT LIQUOR CONTROL BILL

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Brushing aside charges that "dry" Gov. Pinchot is trying to make himself "whisky king" of Pennsylvania, the statehouse late today approved the "hub" of his plan to regulate the flow of liquor after repeal.

With the chamber still echoing to the assertion that the governor is "playing politics" with liquor and wants to "ride into the United States senate on a whisky barrel," his bill to control intoxicants was passed, 144 to 61.

A few minutes later the senate passed a Pinchot bill to levy a tax of $2 a gallon on every drop of liquor in storage on the day of repeal. The vote was 39 to 6. The governor signed the measure immediately. The measure is expected to produce $25,000,000 revenue within 90 days.

DEMANDS $10 A WEEK FOR EVERY WORKER MACHINE DISPLACES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—In a plan for ending technological unemployment the NRA was asked today to require contributions from all cigar making machines sufficient to pay $10 a week for each worker they displace until such time as the displaced worker is absorbed elsewhere.

The far reaching proposal was made by I. M. Ornburn, president of the Cigar Makers' International Union of America, during a hearing before the NRA on the proposed code of fair competition for that industry.

Citing reductions of 35.7 per cent in employment and 62.8 per cent in weekly earnings of cigar makers since 1929, due chiefly to the increased mechanization of the industry, Mr. Ornburn declared:

"The right to progress technologically does not transcend the human right to live. The right to reap a profit under a planned economy must stand secondary after the right to live. Before the pleasure of the few is looked after the misery of many must be considered. Such a contribution would place the responsibility for technological unemployment squarely on the shoulders where it belongs."

Pays Special Bonus.

Endicott, N. Y., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The Endicott Johnson corporation distributed today $650,000 in a special bonus to shoe workers, repaying them for money deducted to support the company's medical department. Charles F. Johnson Jr., vice president, said that improving conditions had made this action possible. The company recently went on a five day week and advanced wages 20 per cent, adding about four million dollars annually in local pay rolls.

PIECES OF AUTO SHOWN JURY AT BENTLEY TRIAL

Pontiac, Ill., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A piece of wood and a two and a half inch bolt, picked up near the spot where the body of Aldine Younger was found last March 1, were entered as evidence today in the trial of Asher Earle Bentley for the slaying of the girl.

Miss Younger died from a fractured skull, apparently caused when she was struck by an automobile. Bentley was accused of her murder after the authorities learned she had been his companion for most of the previous evening.

Robert Jones, former Pontiac night policeman, testified he found the wood and the bolt near the girl's body on the highway. He also said Bentley later identified them as being similar to articles which had been in his automobile.

Jones said Bentley, at the time of his arrest, could not remember anything of what happened except that he had picked up Miss Younger for a ride.

Earlier in the day Sheriff George A. Heckman said he found stains resembling those made by blood on Bentley's automobile. Dr. W. G. McNally, Chicago toxicologist, testified the stains were made by human blood.

Dies of Shock from Self-Inflicted Burns

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—A coroner's jury decided this afternoon that Mrs. Arthur Sellers, 44, of Illinois City, died in St. Anthony's hospital, here, last night of shock resulting from self inflicted burns. Mrs. Sellers apparently poured kerosene on her clothes and then applied a match.

BROUSSARD IS NOT TO TESTIFY ANEW, HE SAYS

Tells Senate Committee He Has Given Story.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Former Senator Edwin S. Broussard tonight notified the senate committee which is investigating the election of United States Senator John H. Overton, his successor, that he would not return to the hearing here and take the stand.

Mr. Broussard last week withdrew from the hearing after filing charges of fraud and corruption in the election of Mr. Overton.

During today's sessions of the committee Senator Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the committee, formally invited Mr. Broussard to return and submit any testimony or evidence on the election that he might desire.

Can't Add to Story.

Mr. Broussard's reply, addressed to Senator Connally and Senator Elbert D. Thomas [Dem., Utah], who is holding the hearing with Connally, declared that "at this time Senator Broussard cannot add aught to what he has placed officially before the committee or to the lists of witnesses and evidence that he has delivered officially into the possession of the committee by delivery to Mr. Holland." [John G. Holland, the committee's special investigator].

This reply was conveyed to Senators Connally and Thomas by Edward Rightor, counsel for Mr. Broussard.

Charge Against Long.

The Broussard reply pointed out that the former senator had made his sworn complaint to the senate investigating committee on Oct. 4, 1932, the next month after the primary, and that on April 5, 1933, Rightor, as counsel, had suggested to the committee further investigation.

Testimony that Senator Huey P. Long [Dem., La.] had advised a parish Democratic executive committee to toss a district court injunction "into the wastebasket" was given here late today at the hearing.

NURSE AWARDED $500,000 BY JURY IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—A jury tonight awarded Mrs. Irene Herbert, Long Beach nurse, $500,000 against executors of the $7,000,000 estate left by Col. J. B. Lankershim, southern California real estate pioneer developer.

Mrs. Herbert claimed Col. Lankershim had executed a note for $500,000 in her favor for kindness she showed him during his four years' illness preceding his death on Oct. 10, 1931.

Interest at 7 per cent from Nov. 16, 1931, also was allowed Mrs. Herbert by the jury, which deliberated for twelve hours. Defense witnesses had contested the authenticity of writing in the $500,000 note.

Maryland May Legalize State, City Lotteries

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A bill intended to clear the way for the legalization of state and city operated lotteries will be introduced at the special session of the Maryland legislature which opens here tomorrow, Democratic leaders said today.

SKINNY SCRAWNY FOLKS ADD ALLURING POUNDS ...this quick new way!

NEW Natural Mineral Concentrate from the Sea, Free from Drugs, Fills Out Ugly Hollows with Firm Flesh—Adds 8 Pounds in 12 Days—or No Cost!

3 TO 8 POUNDS in 12 days! 5 to 12 pounds in a few short weeks. Think of it! Yet these results are not unusual. Hundreds of skinny, scrawny, rundown people are amazed at this outstanding new natural way to win back health and weight.

Doctors know how vitally necessary are natural food minerals often so woefully lacking in even the most carefully devised fresh vegetable diets. Unless your system gets the proper amount of these minerals, many of them needed in only the tiniest quantities, even the best food fails to nourish you, fails to build rich, red blood, firm flesh and sturdy muscles. This lack of mineralization results in the failure to digest starches and fats in the normal diet. It makes no difference whether your appetite is good or bad, your food is converted into poisonous wastes instead of firm and tireless energy.

Scientists, however, have only recently discovered a marvelous source of practically single mineral essential to body needs. It is called Kelp-A-Malt, a pleasant, easy-to-take vegetable concentrate made from a luxuriant sea plant from the Pacific Ocean.

It provides iron, sodium, calcium, phosphorus, iodine and other essential minerals in easily assimilable form, and also provides the effect of Vitamins A, B, D, E and G.

Try Kelp-A-Malt for a single week. Watch your appetite improve, firm flesh appear in place of scrawny hollows. Feel the tireless vigor and vitality that Kelp-A-Malt provides through its easily assimilable iron and copper. Its calcium and phosphorus build strong teeth and bones. Its sulphur and phosphorus assure proper elimination. 6 tablets provide more iodine than 486 pounds of spinach—assures protection against goitre.

A few weeks' Kelp-A-Malt treatment not only improves your looks but your health as well. It quickly corrects sour, acid stomach. Gas, indigestion and all the usual distress commonly experienced by the undernourished, underweight disappear.

Kelp-A-Malt vs. Vegetables Mineral Comparison

3 KELP-A-MALT TABLETS CONTAIN

1. More Iron and Copper than 1 pound of spinach or 7½ pounds of fresh tomatoes or 3 pounds of asparagus, for rich blood, strength, energy.
2. More Phosphorus than ½ pound of carrots for sturdy bones, strong white teeth.
3. More Calcium than 1 pound of cabbage, for sturdy bones, strong white teeth.
4. More Iodine than 486 pounds of spinach, 30 pounds of fish, 600 pounds of beef, for preventing goitre, glandular disturbances and improving reproductivity.
5. More Sulphur than 3 pounds of potatoes, for prompt elimination.
6. More Sodium than 3 pounds of turnips, for correcting stomach, gas and acidity.
7. More Potassium than 6 pounds of beans, for improving heart and liver action.
8. More Magnesium than 1 pound of celery, for clear skin and pure blood.

EX-KAISER SEEKS TO BARE SECRETS OF OLD SYMBOLS

Tells of Studies of Monad and Swastika.

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Former Kaiser Wilhelm spends these long wintry nights studying ancient symbols and their meanings.

It may have been the swastika, which is now an integral part of Germany's flag, that caused the 74 year old former ruler to speculate on the significance of that and other hoary emblems.

To a select circle of friends he revealed the result of his studies in a lecture, the subject of which was the "Yang and Yin" Chinese monad.

Known as Lucky Charm.

Well known throughout the far east as a lucky charm, this monad consists of two comma-like figures, head to tail, in a circle.

The former kaiser said he had been led to look into the subject by a circular of an American railroad company and that Prof. Leo Frobenius of the Kultur-Morphological Institute of Frankfurt-on-the-Main had given him valuable data about it.

To his audience Wilhelm pointed out that the "yang and yin" symbol suggested movement, as did the swastika.

Figured on Neolithic Remains.

The ancients, he said, saw in it a motive force and sought behind it the divine impulse that set force in motion—its primary object being to illustrate the movement of the main celestial orb by the sunwheel in its different forms.

The antiquity of the "yang and yin" and similar symbols was demonstrated, he added, by Neolithic remains on which it figured. Phoenician, Babylonian, Greek, and Mexican pottery have yielded a harvest of interesting information on these symbols, he said.

He has asked a number of German and Dutch savants to lecture at Doorn house on what he called this fascinating theme.

COMMONS ROWS ON GOVERNMENT POLICY IN INDIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The long promised debate on India began in the house of commons tonight on a motion to reconstitute a committee drawn from both houses of parliament so that the work of completing the outlines of India's future constitution could be completed. The motion was carried.

The debate became a duel between Winston Churchill, head of the imperialist opponents of the government's Indian policy, and Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary for India. Churchill revived the familiar attack on granting India dominion status, asserting that the statute of Westminster accords all dominions the right of secession and that grave danger of losing India to the empire would arise.

Hoare replied that Churchill and his followers are mischief makers who would spread unfounded propaganda by every available medium from one end of the country to the other. He asserted that the government's policy is well known and denied Churchill's statement that Conservative party funds are being used to promote a policy which many Conservatives oppose.

DISARM PARLEY IS CALLED OFF UNTIL JANUARY

GENEVA, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The steering committee of the disarmament conference voted today to suspend the parley until about Jan. 15.

In the meantime international diplomacy is to be given full play in its efforts to save the disarmament conference from oblivion and to bring Germany, which withdrew last month from the negotiations, back into the conversations.

The committee unanimously accepted a statement by Arthur Henderson of Great Britain, president of the conference, which said there shall be "parallel and supplementary effort between the various states and the full use of diplomatic machinery conducted energetically to advance in every possible way the work of the conference."

LINDBERGHS PLAN HOP FROM AZORES TO MADEIRA ISLES

HORTA, Azores, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh made their seaplane ready today for another flight which, it was understood, will take them to the Madeira islands, 500 miles closer than the Azores to the European mainland. They arrived here yesterday from Lisbon.

En route to the continent, their reported ultimate destination, the Lindberghs will fly over St. Michael island, one of the Azores, it was learned.

The plane in which they have toured the north Atlantic and parts of Europe was refueled today. Mrs. Lindbergh checked over the radio equipment, her special charge, and everything was ready for a takeoff, perhaps tomorrow, should torrential rains cease.

SIAMESE REVOLT OVER, MARTIAL LAW IS LIFTED

BANGKOK, Siam, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Siamese government lifted today the state of martial law proclaimed at the beginning of the October rebellion, which was not put down until after revolutionary forces had advanced within a few miles of the capital.

A special military court began trying political prisoners arrested in connection with the uprising.

Indications that country-wide peace soon would be prevailing were provided in the fact that elections in Siam's first people's assembly were proceeding calmly in the provinces.

ROB LAUNDRY MANAGER OF $400.

Three bandits forced the automobile of James Kaplan, manager of the Alert Laundry company, 5723 South State street, to a stop yesterday in Washington park near 3d street and robbed him of a $400 pay roll fund.

PROMINENT JAPANESE WOMEN ARRESTED IN DRIVE ON IMMORALITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 23 [Thursday].—Stirred by a startling description of immorality in high places in Japan by Countess Isamu Yoshii, police today decided on action to protect the morals of Tokio's playgoers. They prohibited the stage production of the classical "Genji Monogatari," by Lady Murasaki. "Genji Monogatari" is an outstanding historical work, recently translated into English and published in the United States, which tells of the moral laxity prevalent in upper Japanese circles centuries ago.

Another aftermath of Countess Yoshii's revelations was the arrest today of a score of leading Japanese authors. They were summoned to court on charges of gambling. Wives of prominent citizens were also rounded up at dance halls where, it is alleged, they hired gigolos to teach them new steps.

The countess was recently arrested at a rendezvous with a gigolo. She is said to have told everything she knew in an effort to remove the impression that she is an exception to the general rule. Public opinion appears shocked by her revelations, but disappointed at the prohibition of the play.

FRANCE SHIES AT HITLER'S OFFER OF OLIVE BRANCH

Doubts Sincerity of German Dictator.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The French eyed suspiciously today the olive branch which Chancellor Hitler was quoted in an interview as offering to France in return for equality in armaments.

Skepticism was expressed in the government press. This comment was epitomized by the remark of the Paris-Soir, which said that "France still doubts German sincerity," and suggested that the German chancellor's words might be an "alibi."

Officials and newspapers maintained that it was difficult to reconcile Hitler's words as quoted in the interview by Fernand de Brinon, published in the newespaper Le Matin, with his program. The article quoted Hitler as offering peace and security to France in return for equality to be realized "by stages and details talked over."

"Door to Peace Open."

One government spokesman said the door to peace was wide open if Hitler cared to enter, but he rejected the idea of direct conversations between the French premier, Sarraut, and Hitler.

"We are ready to talk through ambassadors," the spokesman asserted, "but we do not see that a meeting of Hitler and Sarraut could clear the atmosphere.

"Germany has a clean cut program which needs military force to execute and she rapidly is getting this force.

"If Hitler does not want Alsace-Lorraine (as Le Matin stated), why is it included in this program?

"The newspaper interviewer did not ask the chancellor about arms supervision, but we are willing to learn the answer through diplomatic channels."

Security Offered by Hitler.

Chancellor Hitler was quoted as saying he would "willingly do anything not involving dishonor or danger to my country" to give security to France.

"I am convinced that once the question of the Saar—which is German land—has been settled, there is nothing, absolutely nothing, which can oppose Germany to France," the interview said.

"Alsace-Lorraine? I have said often enough that we definitely have renounced it to be able to think that I have been heard."

NAZIS DEMAND HITLER SALUTE AT CHURCH SERVICES

KIEL, Germany, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Nazi church council of the Lutheran Evangelical church issued an order today demanding that all church services in the Schleswig-Holstein district open and close with the Hitler salute.

The order made it compulsory for all pastors in this district to give the Hitler salute at the beginning and ending of divine services, and for the congregation to return the salute.

The order also demanded that church congregations stand with their arms raised in salute whenever the national colors are carried into the churches.

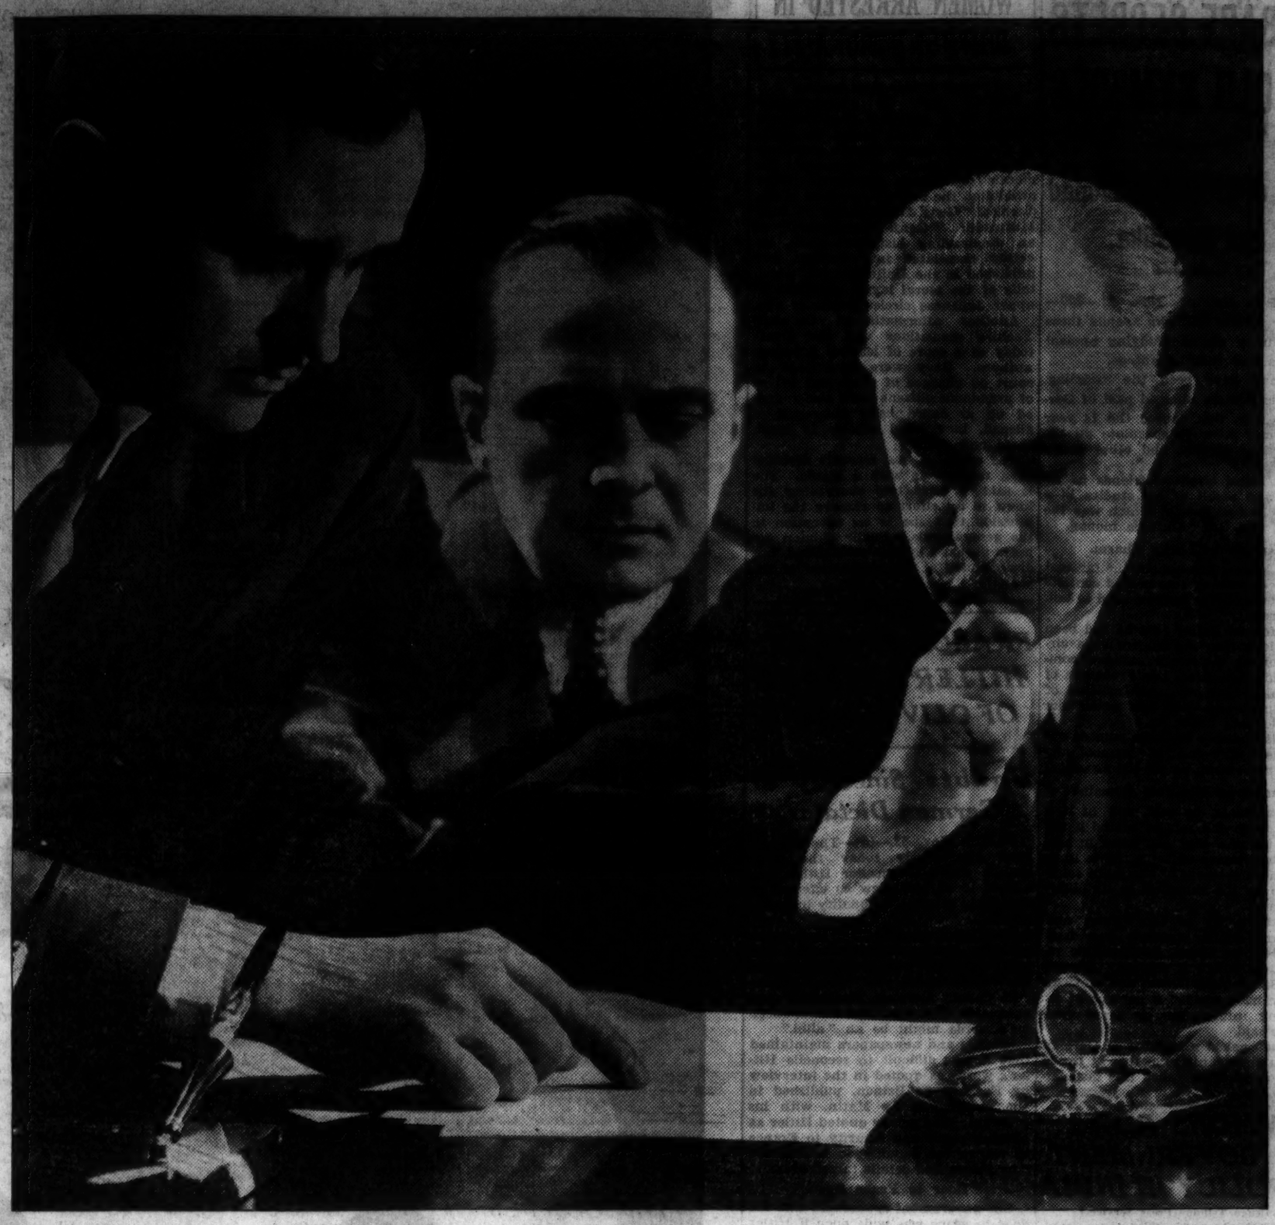
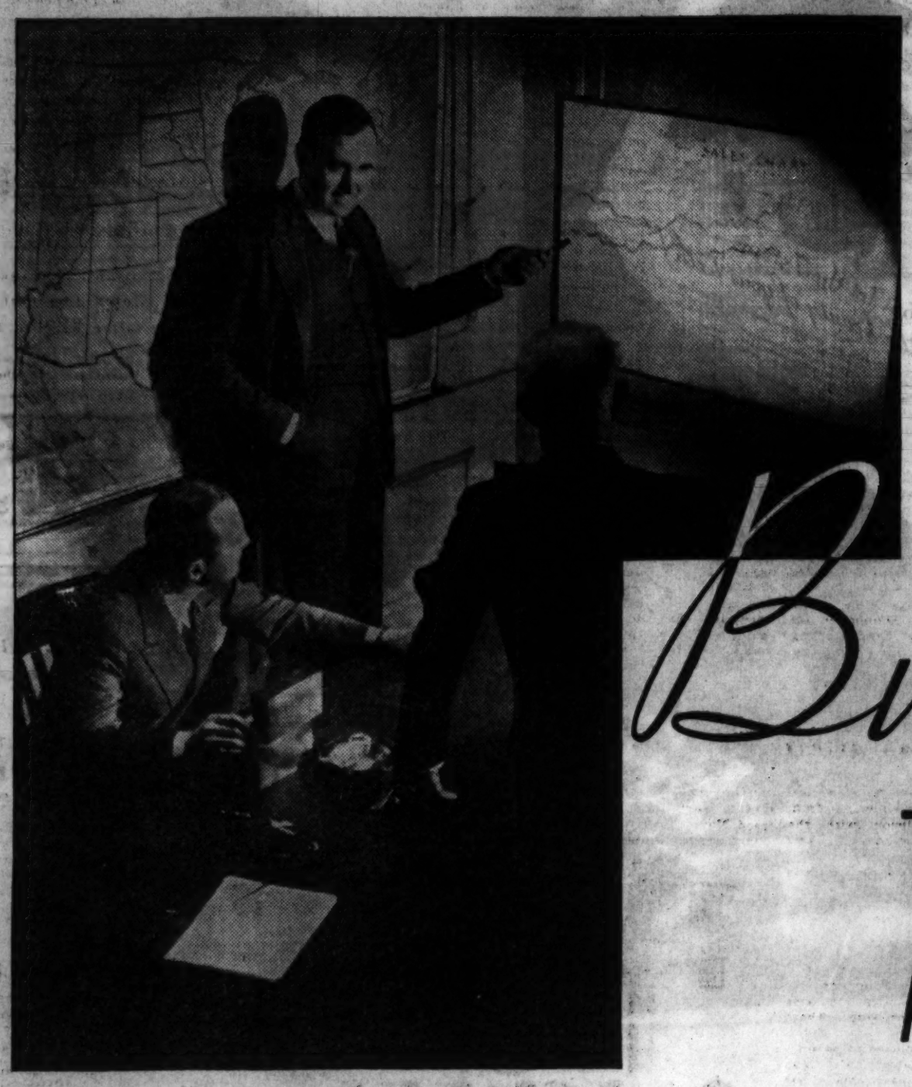
You CHECK CHICAGO SALES REPORTS CLOSELY-





But HAVE YOU CHECKED THE CHICAGO NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING SITUATION?

Buying newspaper space in this big market is a serious matter » » » it's worthy of an independent study.

Here are six questions to help you make it. They are just a suggestion of the searching scrutiny that you should apply to any recommendation for advertising in Chicago.

1. Can we use the same practice in selecting newspapers in Chicago that we use in New York, and elsewhere? Or is Chicago different?
2. Are we giving adequate advertising support to our dealers in Chicago, its suburbs and surrounding trade area?
3. Which Chicago newspaper reaches half of all the families in Chicago and suburbs, and also has 20% or better coverage in 205 towns of 1,000 or more population in the Chicago sales territory?
4. Which Chicago newspaper will give practically as much circulation as any two Chicago afternoon papers combined, at a lower advertising cost?
5. Which newspaper in Chicago has the greatest coverage among women according to every reader interest survey?
6. Would color or roto, news picture page, or comic page advertising be more resultful in Chicago than our present form?

After you have read and answered these questions, you'll want to know the whole story of Chicago newspapers—you'll want to know why Chicago is different and why rule-of-thumb generalities cannot be safely applied here. Write or phone now for all the facts.

14 DIE AS SOVIET 'PRIDE OF THE AIR' CRASHES IN TEST

World's Largest Land Plane Wrecked.

MOSCOW, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The death of 14 soviet aviation workers in a crash of the newly commissioned airliner K-7, the largest plane for overland flying in the world, was announced today.

The accident occurred at 3 p. m. yesterday while the giant craft, a six-motored monoplane designed to carry 128 persons, apparently was making a trial run from Kharkov, site of an important soviet aviation plant.

Among those killed were the chief pilot, named Snegireff; the manager of the assembly branch of the Kharkov aviation factory; engine constructors, workers in the aviation plant, mechanics, and the communist secretary at the factory.

Moscow Opens Investigation.

A soviet government commission was named to investigate the cause of the disaster and to fix responsibility, pending which full details were withheld.

The plane was called "the pride of the soviet air fleet" and was hailed as a "new victory for the soviet aviation industry" when it was commissioned just a week ago. It was built at the Kharkov plant in seven months with Russian materials and labor, according to the designs of Constantine A. Kalinin, one of the most prominent soviet air mechanicians. Kalinin is no relative of the soviet president, Mikhail Kalinin.

The crash was the second recent major air accident in Russia. Eight executives of the aviation industry were killed on Sept. 5 in a crash at Podolsk. Among them were three of Russia's leading aviation figures.

Had Made Previous Flights.

The K-7 had made a total of twenty previous test flights and news of the catastrophe brought out how, on its initial ascension on Aug. 21, forty workers in the Kharkov plant stowed away in it in order to have the honor of being the first passengers.

Their presence was not discovered until the great ship alighted, when all the stowaways scurried out, only to be quickly surrounded by guards. Because of their "great enthusiasm for the steel giant"—the published explanation of their escapade—they were not punished.

The K-7 lacked the orthodox fuselage, having accommodations for luggage and fuel, as well as the controls, in the wings, with the rudder anchored to a slight framework of steel.

It was designed with sleeping accommodations for 64 passengers and had 16 cabins containing four berths each. During the day the cabins could be converted into compartments like those of European railroad cars. The cabins opened upon two corridors running lengthwise through the wings, in which a powerful radio plant also was housed.

Plane One of a Series.

The designer is the founder and director of the Kharkov aviation factory. He had taken with him on the first flight only eleven experienced aviators and mechanics, all of whom were equipped with parachutes.

Kalinin designed a series of seven "K" planes, numbered 1 to 7, all of which were said to have performed well in previous flights. They included ambulance as well as passenger planes.

The K-7 was built of a newly developed soviet steel called "chromo molibden," produced at Dnieperpetrovsk, the Ukrainian metallurgical center which is served by power from the Dnieperostroy dam. The dam was built by an American engineer, Col. Hugh L. Cooper.

The first designs for the craft were made in 1929 and construction began on Nov. 18, 1932.

Bill to Legalize Beer Loses in Kansas House

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A bill to legalize 3.2 beer in Kansas was rejected by the state house of representatives today by a vote of 63 to 58. This reversed its action in committee of the whole yesterday. Several of those voting against the measure expressed opposition to legalizing 3.2 beer, which they asserted was intoxicating, while others voting against it declared legalization of 3.2 beer was a useless move as stronger beer would be available now that national prohibition has been repealed.

CHINA MENACED BY NEW RED REVOLT

The 19th Route army of China, famous for its defense of Shanghai against the Japanese last year and now in control of Fukien province has formed an alliance with the communist armies of Kiangsi province to seek the overthrow of the Nanking regime of Dictator Chiang Kai-shek. The aim of the rebels is to set up a Socialistic state.

CHINESE REBELS FORM ALLIANCE WITH RED ARMIES

Nanking Fights Drive to Seize Wealth.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 23 [Thursday].—The seriousness of the political crisis precipitated in south China by the rebellion of the 19th Route army, which controls Fukien province, caused Dictator Chiang Kai-shek to leave his headquarters in Kiangsi province and secretly fly to Nanking yesterday afternoon. A conference of high officials was held late into the night to consider plans to meet the situation.

Marshal Chiang's hurried return to Nanking was due to information from Foochow that the famous 19th Route army, which is idolized by the nation for its resistance to the Japanese in the battle of Shanghai last year, has formed an alliance with the red armies of the so-called Chinese Soviet republic centered in Kiangsi province, but whose tentacles extend throughout the central and southern provinces.

War on Reds Collapses.

The 19th Route army's alliance with the Reds has caused the collapse of Marshal Chiang's expensive anti-Red war, because the Reds now are able to obtain supplies from Fukien province, while Fukien's defection has broken Chiang's iron ring blockade of the communists.

The Fukien separatist movement, which is called the "People's republic," has circulated an extreme Socialistic platform advocating placing political power in the hands of farmers and workers, nationalization of land, forests and mines, encouragement of state enterprises, and arming the peasantry.

The new party advocates the overthrow of the Nanking government, abolition of the Kuomintang [People's party] political monopoly, abolition of treaties conferring special protection and rights to foreigners, and demands united and continued opposition to Japanese encroachment.

Rebels Seize Gunboats.

As initial moves the rebels have seized the naval administration of Fukien, two gunboats, coastal forts and branches of the central bank, while 40,000 troops have been mobilized to defend the northern and southern provincial borders.

Marshal Chiang's apprehension also is due to the uncertainty of the situation at Canton, in Kwantung province, where the position of Chiang's ally, Gen. Chen Chi-tang, is precarious due to the alleged sympathy of his army with the Fukien movement. It is feared also that Kwangsi province is sympathetic to Fukien.

A financial crisis has been precipitated in Shanghai, where Marshal Chiang is experiencing difficulty in raising funds since the resignation of his brother-in-law, T. V. Soong, as finance minister.

5 Bandits Terrorize 9 in Brewery Office; Take $220

Five bandits took $220 yesterday in a robbery of the office of the Bismarck Brewing company, 2562 Archer avenue, after threatening Wilbur Smith, 1400 State parkway, president of the concern, and eight employés with revolvers and sawed-off shotguns.

LITVINOV PREPARES TO SAIL FOR HOME; DATE UNANNOUNCED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—With questions left over after the American recognition of Russia still unsettled, soviet commissar for foreign affairs, Maxim Litvinov, was preparing tonight to sail back to the home land of communism.

Acting Secretary of State William Phillips, in a statement issued tonight, admitted that "due to the intricacy of the questions to be explored, it has been impossible to reach definite conclusions."

Negotiations, however, will be continued actively between the two governments through the reëstablished diplomatic channels, Acting Secretary Phillips explained. He added that "the conversations which thus far have taken place have shown a desire on the part of both governments to reach a speedy solution of these questions."

Litvinov, it is understood, will leave Washington tomorrow.

WOMAN SEEKING DIVORCE CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday issued a contempt citation against Mrs. Erma Schwaninger of New York on a charge that she made false statements in her suit for divorce against William Schwaninger, a New York interior decorator.

Mrs. Schwaninger filed her bill in June stating that she had been a resident of Illinois for a year, as the law requires, and charging her husband with cruelty, adultery, and desertion. At a hearing shortly after that she admitted to Judge Sabath that she had lived in Chicago only a few weeks when she filed her suit.

Attorney Benjamin Davis of Socrates & Davis, counsel for Schwaninger, charged yesterday that instead of his client deserting Mrs. Schwaninger she had deserted him.

JAIL PROMOTER OF BAKERY ON FRAUD CHARGE

Carl E. Lapin, 5734 Kenmore avenue, came to Chicago five months ago and organized the Carl Baking corporation. He had only $2,000, but by dint of much persuasian he established his bakery at 1514 Fulton street and installed in it $100,000 worth of equipment. The concern never made any dough, and five of Lapin's employés have filed a petition in involuntary bankruptcy against him. Yesterday Lapin was arrested on a charge of operating a confidence game, the complainant being the Amber Electric company, 620 Jackson boulevard, which installed some of the machinery. He was held at the detective bureau.

Newfoundland Jails Man for Faking Balbo Stamps

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 22.—Percy C. Frean, manufacturers' agent, was arrested this afternoon charged with forging and offering for sale air mail stamps of the design used for the Balbo trans-Atlantic flight. It is said a considerable quantity of the fake issue was disposed of in Canada and the United States.

ATTACK BRITISH PLAN TO 'CHISEL' U. S. ON INTEREST

Holders of Newfoundland Bonds to Suffer.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Financial News today accused the British government of discriminating unfairly against American holders of Newfoundland bonds.

The conversion plan for Newfoundland submitted to parliament yesterday in connection with the proposal to set up a commission of six to rule the dominion, whose finances are in a chaotic condition, was denounced by the Financial News as "the most amazing schedule of differentiation between various grades of bonds without the smallest justification whatever."

The paper described the plan as "worse, if anything, than the similar type of practice which British bondholders have had to criticize so strongly in the hands of Dr. Hjalmer Schacht, president of the Reichsbank.

Interest to U. S. Holders Cut.

"There are two loans, both issued in 1923, both redeemable in 1943, one issued at 5½ per cent in New York, the other issued at 5 per cent in London," the paper said. "Of these the London is loan is carried on at 5 per cent, while the New York loan is forcibly reduced to 3 per cent. New York has every right to complain of the gross discrimination in favor of the British bondholders, and we may be sure New York will. Is it worth while to drag the British reputation for fairness and integrity through the mud over such a small amount?"

This aspect of the scheme was almost ignored in the city [financial district] today and if British bondholders were aware of the alleged injustice, they did not admit it. It is considered unlikely that bondholders in the United States can obtain redress unless they persuade the American government to protest officially, as the British government has just done on behalf of British holders of German bonds. In this instance the British creditors complained bitterly of discrimination in favor of the Dutch and Swiss.

Scheme is Unpopular.

Meanwhile, the government's scheme to reconstruct Newfoundland remains unpopular in parliament, although it is admitted that Great Britain has no alternative but to rescue the virtually bankrupt dominion. Objection is taken not merely to the £600,000 [about $3,000,000] or more which the rescue will cost the British bond holders, but to the precedent which the Newfoundland emergency creates. If other dominions fall into a similar morass of debt, it is asked here, will Great Britain be expected to foot the bill every time?

SENTENCES ARE SUSPENDED FOR RUM VIOLATORS

Fines and suspended sentences were imposed yesterday upon three men accused of violating the prohibition law when they were arraigned before Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick at Hammond. They pleaded guilty. Sam Rudman received a suspended prison sentence of two years. Paul Miccolis was fined $2,000 and given a suspended sentence of one year, and Saverio Musilammi was fined $100. Rudman and Miccolis are from Gary and Musilammi is from Chicago. The three are members of a northern Indiana liquor ring. Sixty-one persons have been indicted as members of the ring. These three are the first to be arraigned.

ROB FILLING STATION OF $15.

Three armed men took $15 in a robbery early yesterday of George Koehler, attendant in a gasoline filling station at 11715 South Western avenue.

ERROR IN PRINTING CAUSES FOUR STAMPS TO SELL FOR $12,100

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A block of four of one of the rarest United States stamps—the 1928 24 cent air mail issue with the center inverted—sold today for $12,100, the highest price paid so far in the auction of the collection of the late Arthur Hind of Utica, N. Y.

It was a printer's mistake that brought the value of this bit of paper from a few cents to thousands of dollars.

Col. E. H. R. Green, son of the late Hettie Green, discovered the stamps by chance as he waited in line in a Washington postoffice. The postal clerk, noticing the error, offered to give Green another stamp, but he purchased the whole sheet of 100 stamps, the only ones with the center inverted, for the face price of $24.

Green, a stamp collector, had no trouble in disposing of his find for $250 for each stamp. He still has some specimens of the stamp and today, fifteen years after his find, a single stamp of the sheet sells for $2,750.

WEDDING PARTY CONFESSES IOWA ROBBERY PLOT

Kenosha, Wis., Nov. 23 [Thursday].—(AP)—Sheriff Clarence Erickson early today announced that four men and two young women taken into custody near here last night after the fatal shooting of Walter Bergman, parole violator of West Allis, Wis., had been definitely connected with the attempted robbery of a Manchester, Ia., bank early yesterday.

The sheriff said he had obtained a confession.

Reports from Manchester were that a quantity of jewelry, two fur coats, and two fur neckpieces were taken from the home of the bank president, J. J. Burbridge. The sheriff said a quantity of jewelry was found in one of the cars seized here tonight and the two women in custody each wore fur neckpieces.

Bergman, 21, a bridegroom of an hour, was fatally wounded by deputy sheriffs after he had shot and critically wounded Paul Cheney, attendant at a gasoline station.

Accompanied by his bride, formerly Alice Pluca of Milwaukee, Bergman and five other members of the wedding party were returning from Waukegan, Ill., where the couple was married at 6:30 p. m. yesterday. The party, traveling in two cars, stopped at the filling station about five miles west of here.

Three of those held gave the names of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schnomier, 731 Barry avenue, Chicago, and Sterling Hart, 3241 Sheffield avenue, Chicago.

TWO FREIGHTERS COLLIDE; ONE IS BADLY DAMAGED

New York, Nov. 23 [Thursday].—[Special.]—The American-Hawaiian line freighter Ohioan, inbound from Seattle, was in collision with the freighter Liberty early today in Ambrose channel off Craven shoals, Norton's point, Coney Island, and was badly damaged.

Two coast guard patrol boats took off 43 members of the crew. They believed they had all off, but shortly afterward, while the patrol boats were standing by, the coast guard radio operator at Rockaway Point reported that he feared the wireless operator had remained with the ship. There were no passengers.

The Ohioan was reported to be sinking rapidly. The Liberty also was damaged, but was able to make her way to Gravesend bay, where she anchored.

FALL FATAL TO AGED WOMAN.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Weiland, 86 years old, died yesterday at the home of her son, William Weiland, 1310 South Fifth avenue, Maywood, of injuries suffered in a fall Nov. 16.

CUBAN STUDENTS DECLARE WELLES CAN'T DISEMBARK

Organize Huge March for Day of His Return.

HAVANA, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Many Americans here today voiced fears of trouble at the docks when United States Ambassador Sumner Welles returns to Cuba late this week or early next week from his conferences with President Roosevelt. The semi-official newspaper Alma Mater carried a headline saying "Welles cannot disembark."

An article in the newspaper, regarded as the mouthpiece of the student element supporting the Ramon Grau San Martin government, announced that certain "revolutionary groups which have seconded Alma Mater's campaign to get Welles out of Cuba," were organizing a "monster" anti-Welles demonstration to take place on his return.

The demonstration's purpose, Alma Mater said, would be to ask the "hated" representative of the White House, "with respect and consideration, to return to his home for the good of our people."

Blames Welles for Arrest.

Many members of the American colony expressed indignation at what they termed the concerted effort of the Grau administration's supporters to discredit Welles. Justo Carille, student leader who flew to Miami last week on the same plane that carried Welles, was sharply criticized for his charges that Welles had him arrested when he reached the Florida city.

Meanwhile, the Grau regime's intense nationalism and antipathy toward foreigners found new expression in an interior department decree signed by Secretary Antonio Guiteras and submitted to President Grau for his signature, which would tax all foreigners commercially active in Cuba $20 annually. Other foreign residents not actively engaged in business would pay $10 annually, if their incomes were above $1,000 per year.

Bomba Kill Two.

Martial law continued ruling the island, and reports thta a new revolution is imminent increased warlike preparations. At Camaguey last night and early today bombers were exceedingly busy. A dozen or more explosions killed two persons and wounded fuor gravely. One large bomb considerably damaged the American owned electric plant in the town of Ciego de Avila. Another damaged the Agramonte sugar mill.

Senor Banjamin Fernandez de Medina, Uruguayan minister, and Dr. German Weller del Rio, newspaper man and lawyer, continued their efforts to bring Cuba's contending political factions into accord. Secretary Guiteras last night announced all civilians made prisoners in the revolution of early this month would be freed Nov. 27.

ORDERS MISTRIAL IN SUIT AGAINST TAXI COMPANY

Judge E. I. Frankhauser yesterday ordered a mistrial in a $100,000 personal injury suit against the Checker Taxi company and appointed Attorney Frederick A. Bangs to act as a friend of the court in investigating the charge of the company's attorneys that Mrs. Ethel Lepter, 5110 Kenwood avenue, had attempted to influence a juror in the case.

During an intermission in court Mrs. Lepter spoke to Alfred Gage, 940 West 64th street. Both she and Gage, a former neighbor of herself and her husband, declared that they had not discussed the case and had merely exchanged greetings.

Mrs. Lepter's husband, Louis, had originally been employed as an investigator by Attorney Royal W. Irwin, counsel for Mrs. Florence S. Tuttle, plaintiff in the suit. Mrs. Tuttle was struck by a Checker cab on Dec. 3, 1932, and her suit claims she was permanently crippled.

BE GAY AGAIN!
Be carefree, in the knowledge that your teeth and gums have every protection a dentifrice can give! Put Squibb's Dental Cream on guard at The Danger Line!*
IF DENTIFRICE scare-lines have made you afraid of pyorrhea, bleeding gums and other mouth troubles, see your dentist at once and have the reassurance of a thorough examination. Then use Squibb's Dental Cream twice a day. Remember — when Squibb's guards The Danger Line your teeth are as safe as a dentifrice can make them.
Squibb's cleans effectively and polishes safely, with absolute freedom from grit. It gives all the help any dentifrice can give to prevent bleeding of the gums, and it does this by safe cleansing — — not by the use of dangerous astringents. It combats the germ acids that cause tooth-decay. And its use is true economy.
It's a joy, not a task, to brush your teeth twice a day with Squibb's Dental Cream. Its minty taste is clean and refreshing. And because it is a Squibb Product you know you can trust it to be always effective — always safe.
*The Danger Line is the area where the thin edge of the gum encircles each tooth, forming tiny ledges, difficult to reach by brushing. Here food particles collect and bacteria multiply, generating acids. Not one, but all your teeth are endangered by unhealthy gums. When you use Squibb's Dental Cream, you force into the sheltered areas countless antacid particles which combat the germ acids and protect the gums.

Chicago Man Wins Long Fight With Stomach Disorders
After suffering with stomach disorders since being gassed and crushed by a caisson in France in 1918, E. Ross, 4107 N. Tripp Av., Chicago, reports he finally secured relief from a simple home treatment. He says the relief is immense and is so happy he wants all other stomach sufferers to know about it.
Mr. Ross advises all sufferers from stomach ulcers, gas pains, excess acid, belching, pains after eating, constipation, sour stomach, poor digestion, dyspepsia, gastritis, and other stomach disorders due to hyperacidity or faulty diet, to try Udga at once. Now we offer the same treatment which produced such splendid results for Mr. Ross to all stomach sufferers on 15 days' trial, with money back if not satisfied. Also testimonials, a sworn affidavit of genuineness and a free book explaining the cause and treatment of various stomach disorders, including stomach ulcers. If you suffer, ask for the $1.00 trial treatment today. If it fails to help you we'll give you your dollar back.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

NO APOSTOLIC POLITICS.

The Russian communist revolution presented simultaneously two emotional fronts. One was that of a calculated godlessness carrying out the standard communistic aphorism that religion is intended to be the opium for the proletariat, to dull its sense of hopelessness in the face of inequity and injustice. On this front there was a great smashing of icons, closing of churches, proscription of worship and devotion and scattering of congregations. The soviets now refer to that as a part of the infantile margin from which enthusiasms recover and out of which they grow. The aphorism, however, remains unchanged.

On the other emotional front there was a great religious splurge which made Lenin a major prophet. It had all the yeast of a new religious stimulant and wound up in worship at his tomb and mummified remains. Russia, trying to be godless, succeeded in going off at a new tangent in a religious ecstasy, and the certified emotionalism was given all the power and appurtenances of a state religion.

Something of the same thing happened in Italy. When Mussolini first began to tamper with the Italian governmental forms and political institutions his followers soared at once into the evangelical mood of uncompromising devotion to a man greater than a man and policies more sublime than can be devised on earth. This transcendentalism was embodied into the form of discipline and Mussolini's first difficulties with the Vatican arose from his obvious taking over or endeavor to take over the spiritual affairs of the entire nation. Here again the state was in the way of becoming also the religion.

Some observers in Germany now say that to about a third of the German people Hitler has become all the religion they need. The Nazi creed has been substituted for religious creeds and the more insistent of the new religionists are trying to bring the church under the state code and make it subservient in creed and ceremonies to the dictates of the state. Both the Protestant and the Catholic church in Germany are resisting and may win out, but the interference with them has come from a dominating group of enthusiasts who demand that the state absorb the church.

These experiences in the recent history of agitated peoples are admonitory. Even here in the United States there is to be noted a disposition to give certain activities of the recovery plan administrators the character which would come from a new ordination rather than a new order. There are temperamental safeguards in this country as well as constitutional safeguards which prevent the outlawing of heretics, but a disposition toward the sacrosanct appeal may be noted. Enough may be noted to give weight to the suggestion that all acts of government in the United States are acts of politics, conceding to politics in this respect its best meaning, and are not acts of any other kind of inspiration. No disabilities can be attached to nonconformity nor can any immunity from criticism or opposition be derived from the idea that plans are more than the plans of men.

THE PEANUTTA MEETS THE DAMMA BANAN.

Marshall N. Dana, president of the National Reclamation association, urges that all irrigation states of the west send substantial citizens to Boise, Idaho, where the reclamationists will meet Nov. 27. Something of an emergency hovers over the reclamation projects, as their promotors recognize, and consequently a stiffening of the upper lip is recommended by the sensers of danger.

It frequently happens that planners find other planners in their hair or on their feet. Coördination and consistency are two things a spreading bureaucracy finds difficult at all times to attain. One good project is found two-timing another, and then the planners discover that what they make on the peanutta they lose on the damma banan.

The peanutta and the banan have a historic battlefield in reclamation. The peanutta, we'll say, is the crop reduction plan of the AAA. It is to get marginal farm lands out of production, to reduce wheat acreage, to teach the southern mule not to walk between the rows but on them so cotton can be plowed under, and to handle the surplus problem by withdrawal, subsidy, and destruction. The damma banan is the reclamation of arid lands by irrigation projects so that more crops can be grown. It is, of course, possible for an elaborate bureaucracy to go two ways at once, and all the projects, conflicting or not, have the common merit of requiring treasury assistance. The reclamists realize that they must get on a logical front and they also realize that this will require some doing. However, it may be possible to discover a consistent plan in projects which in one endeavor aim to make fertile lands sterile and in another to make sterile lands fertile and have it all work out to the greater glory of the planners and the advantage of the nation.

Mr. Dana calls for substantial citizens, but he should ask for a few slightly balmy ones, in order that the solid mass of reasoning at Boise, Idaho, can be enlivened by a whiff or two of the imagination.

COMFORTABLE CRIMINALS.

Remarks of Judge Marcus Kavanagh upon any aspect of crime and its punishment deserve a respectful consideration. Judge Kavanagh has spent a lifetime on the bench and has devoted years of study and reflection to the problems of criminology. When he protests that two-thirds of the penitentiary at Joliet are living better than if they were at large he collides with allegedly humanitarian theories of penology and raises an issue to which the public should give more serious attention. "Joliet," says Judge Kavanagh, "is not a prison, but just a club, with a radio in every room, food equal to the best, and an elaborate program of activity and entertainment."

The theory which has brought about this situation is that penal confinement ought to be reconstructive, avoiding conditions which tend to embitter the prisoner and providing him with inducements to lead a better life. This is an amiable hypothesis, and if it produced the results expected would be approved by all, including Judge Kavanagh. But does it produce such results? Not, we think, in any appreciable extent. If it did the ranks of habitual criminals would be visibly thinned out. Graduates of the penitentiary would enter the ranks of good citizenship in large numbers. Is there evidence of this? We haven't discovered it. We do know that a large part of our crime is committed by what are called recidivists, that is, graduates of our penal institution who seem somehow to have missed its humane influences or felt them lightly. They leave their alma mater not to lead better lives but to commit other crimes.

But even if the greater proportion of graduates show the effects of their stay in the penitentiary by eschewing crimes and misdemeanors upon their return to freedom, the problem of the incorrigible remains. Is he benefited by the conditions of which Judge Kavanagh complains? We think not. The only effect upon the habitual criminal is to lessen the restraint which confinement ought to impose upon him. He will not be deterred from lawbreaking by the fear of spending a term in greater comfort than he can find when at large. He may not deliberately seek another term, since liberty is precious to any one, but at least his fear of the law will not be sharpened as it should be by the knowledge that confinement will mean drastic discipline and unpleasant conditions.

There are so many circumstances favorable to the criminal in this country that mitigating his punishment is not in the public interest. The gist of our mistaken policy is that our humanitarians, who have established it, are so concerned with experiment in what they call salvage that they refuse to take into account the deterrent principle of legal punishment and in their tenderness toward the criminal forget the wrong to his victim and the security of the innocent public.

The same perverted sentiment induces juries to refuse the death penalty for cold blooded murderers. If some of these jurors, who have imposed upon the state the expense of supporting a ruthless killer for life, were required to contribute an extra tax for this purpose there might be more death penalties for killers. As that is impractible, the public can only rebuke mawkish sentiment by moral condemnation. Every juror who shirks his duty in this way should feel the indignation of his fellow citizens.

THE OLD LADY AND HER CHILDREN.

Great Britain's oldest outpost and settlement in the new world, Newfoundland, is to have the alternative, if a royal commission's advice is accepted, of going to the devil in its own way or of returning to crown colony status for the straightening out of its bankrupt public affairs. Waste and extravagance, misuse of public credit and public funds, have resulted in interest charges which themselves make the case hopeless.

Old England may not be wholly in the pink, but its children have proved, in the case of Australia and New Zealand before and now Newfoundland, that they can beat it getting into the red. The old lady has lived through many experiments with prodigality, empty exchequer, debased money and wildcat schemes. She may not use or may not be allowed to use all her common sense, so acquired, all the time, but there's a residue of it about the place. The children think times have changed and old fogies are old fogies. Sometimes it is not so.

Editorial of the Day

CLEVELAND'S WARNING.

[Rock Island Argus.]

Walter E. Frew, chairman of the Corn Exchange Bank Trust company of New York, recently distributed booklets containing the text of Grover Cleveland's special message to congress on Aug. 8, 1893, and that part of his third annual message on Dec. 2, 1896, pertaining to sound money.

The most widely quoted passages from the message are as follows:

"All history warns us against rash experiments which threaten violent changes in our monetary standard and the degradation of our currency. The past is full of lessons teaching not only the economic dangers but the national immorality that follow in the train of such experiments. I will not believe that the American people can be persuaded after sober deliberation to jeopardize their nation's prestige and proud standing by encouraging financial nostrums, nor that they will yield to the false allurements of cheap money when they realize that it must result in the weakening of that financial integrity and rectitude which thus far in our history has been so devotedly cherished as one of the traits of true Americanism. Our country's indebtedness, whether owing by the government or existing between individuals, has been contracted with reference to our present standard. To decree by act of congress that these debts shall be payable in less valuable dollars than those within the contemplation and intention of the parties when contracted would operate to transfer by the flat of law and without compensation an amount of property and a volume of rights and interests almost incalculable."

HIGH FINANCE.

"You haven't got the answer to this problem right," said the teacher, at the close of school. "You'll have to stay and do it over."

"How far off is it this time?" asked the boy in despair.

"Two cents."

"Well, I've got something awful important to do after school. I'll just pay the difference."—Exchange.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Ret. Ed.

"I AM SUBMITTING to you," wrote K. V. S. yesterday, "a beautiful poem, 'Ah Life! Ah Love! Ah Death!' which my friends all say is equal to anything that has ever appeared in the Line. But if you won't print it, then don't, you American tory!" Well, well, she may be right at that. Anyhow, I'm beginning to believe it. A man on Rush street yesterday said he was starving to death and wanted a small cash donation, but as I recognized him as the same individual I had presented with twenty-five cents not two hours before I said I couldn't contribute any more. He said many harsh things to me, words reeking of the alleys and the slums, and finally wound up with "And you can go to Indiana (only he mentioned a far hotter place than Indiana even in July), you great big American tory, you!" It certainly must be that everybody reads every word that Franklin Delano utters.

ALIBI FOR IGNORANCE.

Poor futile instrument at my command,
This mind, the sad and single part of me,
Loiters at harvest in a fertile land,
Neglectful of its gaping granary;
And quite oblivious of the ripened grain
Sheathed in a million blades of shining gold,
Eats dismal pottage in a driving rain,
Nursing its hunger in the wet and cold.

Food that the gods would give, the taste denies:
The swollen throat seeks no cool water-side,
No silvered fountain where all knowledge lies—
But with its thirst would patiently abide
Knowing that Death with its enraptured wing
Forswears the dust and every worldly thing.

Then whatever happens we could always appear in public with the badge of our class, the white collar, pure and shining.

Every time a Linebook edition runs out you simply run me ragged to get copies. "Why didn't you tell me?" is the despairing wail. But I did tell you again and again. I will admit I like to see the Linebook sold out, and each year I hope it will sell out quicker than it did the year before. And it does. But don't say you weren't told. This year the Linebook of 1933 comes out on Friday, the eighth of December, and you can order in advance of the Tribune Public Service, corner of Dearborn and Madison streets, Chicago. WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE THYROID?

F. M. writes: What kind of a disease is hypothyroidism? Is there any cure for it?

REPLY.

Hypothyroidism is the opposite of hyperthyroidism. In the first the thyroid gland does not secrete enough to supply the body's needs, while in the other the supply is in excess of the demand.

In one the affected person is slow mentally and physically, the skin is thick and dry, perspiration is scant, the hair is coarse, the voice is husky, and there is a marked tendency to obesity. The disposition and the type of mind are suggestive. People with this trouble, hypothyroidism, are apt to be indifferent to others and to situations generally. They do not worry and anxieties do not trouble them. Speech is slow and words are not spoken clearly. The tongue, as an organ of speech, is neither agile nor efficient.

The best method of diagnosing hypothyroidism is by means of a metabolism test. The reading of this test is more than ten minus.

The age at which the thyroid becomes unequal to the demands put upon it determines the disease which results and the type of the symptoms. If the breakdown happens before birth or during the period of childhood the resultant disease or state goes by the name cretinism and the affected person is a cretin. Cretins are small—about semi-dwarfs; have coarse, dry, puffed skins and coarse hair. The tongue appears to be too large for the mouth. Mentally cretins are sluggish, but with a peculiar wit that is amusing, although not often sharp. The proportions between the lengths of the fingers and toes, arms and legs and trunk, and between the size of the head and the total bulk of a cretin are not those of a normal person.

If the deficiency does not come on until middle life or after growth has been attained the result is a disease or condition known as myxedema. A myxedematous person has the symptoms noted with the exception of those that relate to size and growth.

Both forms of hypothyroidism are treated by extracts of thyroid and one of which is known as thyroxin. These preparations are cures in the sense that insulin is a cure for diabetes and only in that sense. When they are taken in proper dosage the symptoms disappear. The metabolism rate returns to normal, the skin becomes normal in appearance, and perspiration appears when the temperature is right for it. The coarse hair falls out and is replaced by live, glossy hair. The person moves quickly and becomes mentally alert. But the improved condition continues only so long as thyroid extract is continued.

BEWARE OF HABIT.

G. W. writes: How much castor oil should be given an adult and how often for a general cleaning out of the bowels? Do you recommend castor oil as the best cathartic for this purpose?

REPLY.

1. Most adults take about a tablespoonful.
2. Let me strongly advise you not to take any purgative periodically.
3. I do not recommend the periodic use of any purgative.

From Across the Sea

BY CLIFFORD GESSLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU.—"What would I do in case there was war between the United States and Japan? I would fight for the United States. I am an American, born in Hawaii, and owe no allegiance to Japan. My name has been removed, at my request, from the official Japanese family records."

The speaker was a young man of Japanese parentage, born on the island of Kauai, territory of Hawaii, and now engaged in newspaper work in Honolulu. He has worked on both the English language sections of the Japanese language press and the leading English language daily of Honolulu, and has run for public office, having been defeated in a campaign for representative in the legislature for his home district on Kauai.

This young man is a typical representative of the younger generation of Hawaii born Americans of Japanese ancestry. Unlike many of his contemporaries of the same race, he can still speak the Japanese language, though imperfectly, and even read a little of it. He is married to a girl of his own racial descent, and they live in American style and by American standards.

When interviewed he had just returned from a vacation trip to Japan, which he had never seen before, and also to Corea and Manchuria.

"Do other people of Japanese ancestry in Hawaii feel the same way?" he was asked.

"I am sure they do," he replied. "They have retained enough of the Japanese sense of honor to take very seriously their obligations as citizens of the United States, where they were born and where they make their living. I do not see, personally, how they could do otherwise.

"I reminded people who asked me these questions in Japan that the United States is a nation composed of people of many diverse racial stocks. At the time of the world war there was some apprehension among certain patriots of British or other descent that those of German descent might not be loyal to the United States in its war against Germany. I recalled that thousands of Americans of German descent fought against Germany in that war.

"The situation among us Americans of Japanese ancestry is the same. We hope there will never be a war, with Japan or any other nation, but if there were we would support the country of our birth and citizenship, which is the United States.

"Even apart from the matter of loyalty, we American born people of Japanese descent would have no chance in a Hawaii dominated by Japan. We would be overrun with carpetbaggers from Japan, and we local born would be little better than serfs. Thus, self-interest adds further support to our Americanism.

"I am glad to see so many young people taking advantage of the opportunity to repudiate dual citizenship, as I have done. They are doing so in larger numbers every year."

IS THE PRESS IN PERIL?

Glencoe, Ill., Nov. 17.—Col. McCormick's speech on the freedom of the press reported in Friday's TRIBUNE was exceedingly interesting and informative. Because I do not reach the same conclusions, i. e., that freedom of the press is again threatened with infringement, I would like some reader to point out where my reasoning has been faulty.

As I read it, Col. McCormick traced historically the difficulties which have faced the establishment of the principle that newspapers and individuals have the right to freely publish their opinions though they differ from those held by the government in power. His argument for the necessity of such a right is more than convincing.

But the speech was not made, as I see it, primarily to give in concise form the development of the right to a free press. The issue lies in the last few paragraphs where the colonel cites three recent attempts at infringement as a result of the application of the NRA.

We are left without a definition of the term "freedom of the press," but, assuming that it means the right to publish opinions, though they be contrary to those held by the government in power, do those cases cited constitute infringements?

In the Tallassee case nothing appears but the intimidation exerted by a government employé which was ordered stopped by the secretary of labor; in the True case Gen. Johnson exercised a personal privilege to restrict his audience, but did not declare that what Mr. True obtained second hand could not be published; in the Murray case a storekeeper was told that he could not have a Blue Eagle at the same time he was vilifying it, but he was given an election and so his right to publish his opinions remained.

In none of these cases am I able to see that the government has done any overt act to restrict the publication of matter hostile to the NRA. If an attempt was made to so act the task would be stupendous, for the newspapers carry columns of criticism every day. The present speechmaking campaign to counteract the newspaper articles is, of course, an exercise of the right to free speech.

And so, up to the present, where is the infringement? And granted the existence and the necessity of a right to free speech and press, has it any limitations? Can it advocate the overthrow of the government as the propaganda from Moscow is alleged to have done?

A newspaper can be an insidious weapon, and a powerful one, too. Can it under the guise of a free press disseminate defamatory opinion and faulty conclusion as injurious in consequence as actionable libel? K. H. J.

THE ASSIGNMENT OF TEACHERS.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Now that the dismissed teachers are to be reassigned, may I call the attention of Mr. Bogan to the following:

The young men who graduated from Normal in 1929, '30, '31, and '32, after a three year course in teaching manual training, were assigned almost immediately. Those of us who graduated prepared for elementary teaching have never been assigned. Are these men who are now completing a ten week course in the work in which we specialized for three years to be included in the group of former teachers and reassigned ahead of us?

Please don't think I am unsympathetic. I deprecate the elimination of the special subjects very sincerely. All I suggest is that the manual training instructor who graduated in 1929 or later be reassigned only when the rest of the 1919 class (or whatever his is) is, and then on the only fair basis: scholarship. Surely that is just. Unfortunate as their situation is, mine is worse. In the last three years I have taught on the average of four days a month. Don't my fellow substitutes and I deserve enough consideration to be assigned to our particular line of teaching on equal terms with our luckier classmates?

1930 GRADUATE.

THE RIGHT TO PREACH COMMUNISM.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—I suggest that President Roosevelt's requirement of the Russian government that it restrict publication of propaganda seeking to overthrow or change political or social institutions in the United States is an example of the administration's intention to limit freedom of conscience on the part of publishers who happen to have communistic leanings. It may look unimportant to us now, but it is a precedent—just another "entering wedge." Better beware! JOAN BOLES.

THE IMPORTANCE OF EARNINGS.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—In the pending controversy regarding public utility rates, one point does not seem to have been touched upon.

In any growing community the gas or electric company is called upon, from time to time, to extend its service to new buildings and neighborhoods. These extensions and occasional enlargements of plant cannot ordinarily be paid for out of current earnings and the money has to be raised by selling additional stock or bonds to the public.

If the company's earnings are so reduced by rate cuts, taxes, etc., that its stock pays only a small, precarious dividend, or none at all, while even the interest on the bonds seems none too secure, who is henceforth going to buy the stock or bonds offered by the company, the sale of which is necessary to provide the money for the improvements and extensions demanded by the public? INVESTOR.

SHARE IN ESTATE.

Harvey, Ill., Nov. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a child who has taken care of her mother and kept up the home and paid taxes and all expenses [2] keep the estate from going to court when the mother will not draw up a will? There are other children. 3. How long is a demand note collectible in the estate in Indiana? 4. How would I go about collecting same? V. L. L.

1. The right of the child to collect would depend on the understanding on which the services were rendered. It is ordinarily presumed that personal services between near relatives are gratuitous. In order to be safe the child should have some written evidence to rebut this presumption.
2. The presence or absence of a will has nothing to do with the necessity for probate proceedings, but joint tenancy arrangements might remove the necessity for probate.
3. Ten years.
4. It is ordinarily advisable to place such an instrument in the hands of an attorney for collection.

BEGIN HEARING ATTACK ON TAX ROLLS TOMORROW

Realty Board's Test Case to Come Before Jarecki.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $292,066, making a total of $90,179,781 collected since the enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Nov. 22	$ 30,643	$ 44,519
Uncollected	16,310,103	43,436,010
	1930.	1931.
Nov. 22	$ 68,567	$ 118,937
Uncollected ...	69,021,165	69,723,963

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $406.

County Judge Jarecki tomorrow will begin the hearing of evidence on charges that the 1931 tax assessment rolls are fraudulent and lack uniformity. He announced this yesterday at the conclusion of arguments by attorneys on a petition for a 15 per cent reduction on the 1931 assessments of the 438,000 homes and small flat buildings in Cook county.

The petition was filed by the Chicago Real Estate board. Judge Jarecki has indicated that he lacks jurisdiction to enter a blanket reduction on the basis of the petition, but will hear the evidence of alleged fraud on a test tax objection filed by the board. More than 130,000 home owners have already joined in the objection. The judge again warned all taxpayers affected by the proposed reduction that they cannot obtain relief in the County court unless they join in the objection, which gives him jurisdiction over their properties. The final date for filing objections is Dec. 2.

Charge Fraudulent Tax Rolls.

Charges that the tax rolls are fraudulent and are not uniform, discriminating against the home owner, were made by Attorneys Daniel S. Wentworth and Robert Holt, representing the real estate board.

"We wish to present evidence of the inequality of the assessment," Attorney Holt said, "and show that the 15 per cent reduction is justified. We want to impress on the court that we are not conducting a tax strike, but that we desire to clear up a chaotic situation so taxes can be paid. The real estate board is charging no fees to taxpayers who join in our objection."

Assistant State's Attorney Hayden N. Bell, in charge of the tax collection department of the state's attorney's office, said he was not opposed to the taking of evidence on the board's objection, and that the filing of only one objection would expedite the court's ruling.

"I don't know how we can satisfy the multitude and collect taxes until a competent court has ruled in this case," Judge Jarecki declared, "and I propose to give this case a full hearing. We must give people confidence in the taxing situation. This court will not allow fraud to live in the open spaces. By my hearing and ruling on one test objection people will not be the prey of tax racketeers who would charge them fees for representation in court."

School Lawyers Fight Petition.

Attorneys Barry Gilbert and Frederick Dickinson, representing north shore school districts, made motions to strike out the real estate board's petition for the reduction. They contended that allowing the reduction would lower the schools' tax revenue and force them to close. Judge Jarecki took the petitions under advisement.

Attorney Holt will charge that personal property does not bear its fair share of the tax burden and that this undervaluation places an unfair load on the home owner. Similar contentions were made two years ago in the Cisar case in which Judge Jarecki ruled that the 1928 and 1929 tax rolls were fraudulent. His ruling was reversed by the Illinois Supreme court, which held that undervaluation on one class of property could not be advanced as an argument to void an entire tax roll.

It is expected that the hearing of evidence will last two weeks. Members of the board of tax appeals will be called as witnesses for the real estate board. The board of appeals ordered a 15 per cent reduction in March, but this order was voided by the Supreme court and Assessor J. L. Jacobs has refused to reduce the assessments.

During the day Judge Jarecki ordered 47 properties into tax receivership. He appointed County Treasurer McDonough receiver under the Kerner-Skarda act to collect taxes totaling $83,000.

POLICE PRAISED FOR DECLINE IN AUTO FATALITIES

Girl Dies as Car Hits Outer Drive Bridge.

The reduction in the number of automobile fatalities in Chicago, despite the unusual traffic conditions prevalent during A Century of Progress, was attributed to the efficiency of the Chicago police force in a statement made public yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The statement showed that the number of automobile deaths was reduced from 789 from Jan. 1 to Nov. 12, 1932, to 718 during the same period this year.

Sent Note to Kelly and Allman.

The statement, signed by President George W. Rossetter of the Association of Commerce, was sent to Mayor Kelly and Police Commissioner Allman. It said in part:

"It is the unanimous opinion of the officers of the Chicago Association of Commerce that the splendid improvement under conditions where Chicago's streets for many months were thronged with unusually heavy traffic and by motorists, many of whom were totally unfamiliar with driving conditions in a metropolitan center such as ours, is the most glowing kind of a testimonial to the remarkably efficient work done by the police department of our city.

"Aside from this very evident accomplishment of theirs in saving life and limb, we believe that our police officers, in their patient and constantly courteous treatment of the millions of out of town guests whom we were privileged to entertain during the last summer, have won for Chicago multitudes of new and permanent friends."

Girl Killed as Auto Hits Bridge.

Miss Kathleen McQuinn, 19 years old, 610 Grace street, was fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding crashed itno a concrete bridge railing on the Outer drive at Diversey parkway. Miss Florence McKinnon, 38 years old, 1222 Victor street, a nurse, who was driving the car, suffered minor injuries. She told police the accident happened when her attention was directed from driving when a door on the car swung open.

William Banks, 61 years old, 58 East 18th street, a truck driver, was fatally injured when he was run over by the truck he had been driving. At the incline of the Van Buren street bridge Banks' truck sideswiped a car driven by Deane Marcucci, 1924 Bradley place. Banks stopped his truck and walked behind it to talk with Marcucci, who had parked his car. The truck rolled backward and Banks was caught beneath the rear wheels. He died soon afterward in the Iroquois Memorial hospital.

Year's Toll Now 984.

The deaths of Miss McQuinn, Banks, and five others yesterday increased to 984 the Cook county motor toll for 1933. The other victims:

Ira Medbery, 48 years old, 13150 Brandon avenue. Died in South Chicago hospital of injuries incurred Tuesday when his automobile skidded into a ditch at East 124th street.

Donald Carlsted, 4 years old, 3361 Emerald avenue. Died in St. Paul's hospital after being struck by the car of a hit and run driver while playing in front of his home.

Henry Kochan, 52 years old, 3944 South Western avenue. Died in the County hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by an automobile while at Western avenue and Pershing road. Benjamin Bernotoczik, 2962 Throop street, driver of the car, was released by the Brighton Park police.

Daniel F. Mey, 31 years old, 1023 South Mason avenue. Died in St. Anne's hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by an automobile at Wabansia and Central avenues.

Francis Gorman, 9 years old, 2905 East 91st street. Died yesterday in South Chicago hospital. He was struck by an automobile driven by Matthew Leahy, 41 years old, 544 Oakwood boulevard, Tuesday night in front of his home.

Margaret Weissinger, 6 years old, 856 Sheridan road, was seriously injured last night when she was struck by an automobile in front of her home. The driver of the car did not stop. The child was taken to the American hospital.

MRS. G. L. NICHOLS DIES; FORMERLY OF LAKE FOREST

Mrs. Florence Newcomb Nichols, 35 years old, formerly of Lake Forest, died late last night in a hospital at Delaware, O., where she and her husband, George Leland Nichols, have been living.

Mrs. Nichols was the daughter of Mrs. George Eddy Newcomb of 443 East Illinois road, Lake Forest, and was a graduate of Ferry Hall and Lake Forest university. Both Mr. and Mrs. Nichols were musicians. Mrs. Nichols became ill on Monday following a piano concert which she gave in Columbus, O., on Sunday. Her illness had not been considered critical and her death came unexpectedly. The Nicholses were married in Lake Forest in June, 1926.

Besides her mother and her husband Mrs. Nichols is survived by a daughter, Genevieve, 6 years old, and a sister, Virginia. Funeral services will be held in the Rosehill cemetery chapel on Saturday following the arrival of the body from Ohio.

Dr. L. T. Potter, Chicago Physician in '80s, Dies

Dr. Lorenzo T. Potter, a member of the Chicago health department in the early '80s, died yesterday in New York City at the age of 74. Dr. Potter was graduated from the Northwestern university medical school in 1880, and practiced medicine in Chicago for the next ten years. He then moved to Hoboken, N. J.

Harry B. Eigelberner, Food Chemist, Is Dead

Harry Britten Eigelberner, 60 years old, widely known food chemist, died early yesterday at his home, 421 Melrose street. He was president of the Eigelberner Food Products company and a member of the Oak Park and Olympia Fields Country clubs and the Chicago Athletic association. Funeral services will be held at Rosehill chapel Friday afternoon. Mr. Eigelberner is survived by his widow, Corinne, and a son and daughter.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Big Saving! No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SPONSORS' GIFTS TO CHARITY FUND ARE NOW $1,600,000

Another List of Major Donors Announced.

The community fund for Allied Chicago Charities yesterday announced a list of large pledges to the $4,000,000 fund which is to aid 101 private welfare organizations in Chicago. The unofficial reports show that the total of the sponsors' campaign has passed the $1,600,000, with many contributors who have given large sums in the past still unsolicited. The sponsors expect to raise half the total fund.

The United States Gypsum company and the Northern Trust company led the list with $15,000 each. The William Wrigley Jr. company was second with $10,000. Libby, McNeill & Libby pledged $7,500 and the Morton Salt company and employés gave $4,698. The Household Finance corporation pledged $4,000, The Hub $3,700, and Cutting, Moore & Sidley $3,600. Other pledges are:

$3,000.
Cudahy Packing company.
Liquid Carbonic company.
National Bond and Investment company.

$2,500.
Steele-Wedeles company.
Victor Chemical Works.

PLAN TO SEPARATE COUNTY BUREAU AND RELIEF BOARD TOLD

County Commissioner Peter M. Kelly told the advisory board of the Cook County Bureau of Public Welfare yesterday that Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, had informed him it would be desirable to separate the work of the bureau and the commission in the future. The commission has been doing its relief work in Cook county through the bureau since 1931.

Mr. Dunham, according to Commissioner Kelly, favors a plan whereby the commission will help unemployed heads of families to find work while the bureau will care only for dependants who cannot work. Mr. Dunham, however, has made no statement as to when the two agencies would begin to work independently.

Commissioner Kelly also said that in his conference with Mr. Dunham, the latter suggested that information on relief frauds should not be given to Attorney James A. Peterson, who is prosecuting these cases for the commission, until Wilfred Reynolds, executive secretary of the commission, had examined the evidence and decided which cases should be prosecuted.

The advisory board at a previous meeting voted to withhold all relief fraud information until the commission officials had accepted the recommendation of a sub-committee of the board on which cases should be prosecuted. The meeting yesterday was held in the county board rooms in the county building.

HAWXHURST WILL FILED; ESTATE LEFT TO FAMILY

The will of Arthur Hawxhurst, former manager of the insurance department of Marshall Field & Co., who died on Nov. 10, was admitted to probate yesterday by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell. The will disposes of an estate of $10,000 to the widow, Mrs. Marie Reynaud Hawxhurst of the Ridgeview hotel, Evanston, and four sons. Mr. Hawkhurst was 81 years old.

Three other wills were filed with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court yesterday and were admitted to probate, as follows:

MARY ANN HASTETTER, died Nov. 6. Estate, $6,000, to niece. Donald Vail is executor.

MICHAEL WISNIEWSKI, died Sept. 29. Estate, $10,100, to seven children. Peter Wisniewski, son, is executor.

ALLETTA M. LARSEN, died Sept. 24. Estate, $4,000, to three children. Ida Brennan, daughter, is executrix.

MRS. THOMAS DAY DIES AT AGE OF 92 IN LAKE GENEVA

Lake Geneva, Wis., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Thomas Day, a resident of Lake Geneva since 1869, died today, aged 92 years. She is survived by her husband, who is 90 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Day have conducted a small antique and curiosity shop here.

Mrs. Day was born in Wilshire, England, in 1841. She came to America as a small girl, living with her parents, first near Emerald Grove, Rock county. Here she married Joseph Day, brother of her second husband. They came to Lake Geneva in 1869. He died, and 23 years ago she married Thomas Day.

She is also survived by one son, Wellington Day, a stepson, and two stepdaughters. Her funeral will be Friday afternoon at the Wightman Undertaking shop, with burial at Emerald Grove.

FAT PEOPLE CAN REDUCE SAFELY WITHOUT DRUGS

Physician Explains New Safe Scientific Method of Weight Control

According to a well-known medical authority on the dangers of excess weight, it is no longer necessary for fat people to face the problems of reducing with revulsion and fear. Speaking over Station KYW this prominent physician said that dieting, the bane of many a fat person's life and which often results in lowered vitality, can be dispensed with, as can strenuous exercises. Dangerous drugs (unless taken under direction of a competent physician) should be avoided, as well as all other drastic reducing methods.

"Now it is absurd for anyone," he continued, "to take dangerous drugs or a daily dose of anything that rushes food through the body half digested and leads to chronic constipation. Vanray, a convenient sugar-coated tablet, is the safe, natural regulator of the digestive ferments (Lipases) which control the production of fat in all human bodies."

"You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take the tablets each day and continue to eat three meals. The fat disappears at just the places where you want to lose it." Follow directions in package circular.

This remarkable product is on sale at all Liggett Drug Stores. Any of our clerks will be glad to give you an interesting booklet, "How To Reduce With Absolute Safety."

CALL RECEIVERS TO COURT AFTER NEW CLAIM RULE

Summoned After Decision by Appellate Judges.

Notices were being served yesterday on the receivers for all closed state banks in Cook county to appear tomorrow in the Circuit or Superior court for the entrance of a rule requiring them to pay as preferred claims the deposits made in the banks by executors of estates being settled in the Probate court, and the deposits of guardians of minors and conservators of insane persons.

The Appellate court, in two test cases started on the order of Gov. Horner when he was probate judge, held Tuesday that such deposits are entitled to preferred status in payment.

Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge O'Connell, who acted for the Probate court in the matter, yesterday was preparing petitions to be presented Monday in the United States District court against six closed national banks, the Austin, Calumet, First of Oak Park, Inland-Irving, Washington Park, and Lawrence Avenue, asking that they be required to give the same treatment to the so-called trust deposits as that ordered by the Appellate court in the state bank cases.

Gov. Horner yesterday sent a telegram of congratulations to Mr. Caplan upon his success in the case.

LESTER L. FALK, ATTORNEY HERE SINCE 1909, DIES

Lester L. Falk, practicing attorney in Chicago since 1909, died late yesterday at his home, 1242 Lake Shore drive, of cerebral hemorrhage. He had been ill for about two weeks.

Mr. Falk was 48 years old. He was graduated from Brown university in 1906 and the Harvard university law school in 1909. During the world war he served with the 309th field artillery regiment and after the war as a staff officer of the 3d army in Germany. He entered the war with the rank of lieutenant and came out a major. At the time of his death he was a lieutenant colonel of the artillery reserves.

A member of the firm of Scott, McLeish & Falk, Mr. Falk had been engaged recently in tax litigation. He represented property owners seeking a reduction in assessments. He was chairman of the Union League club's committee on public affairs and a member of Mid-Day, Tavern, and Lake Shore clubs. Surviving Mr. Falk are his mother, Mrs. Max Falk, and a sister, Miss Amy Falk.

Launch Opera Project; May Open Dec. 26

Company Plans to Use Wacker Drive House.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

CHICAGO'S own opera company is about to function once more.

Two seasons ago the Chicago Civic Opera company breathed its last at the Civic Opera house on Wacker drive. On Dec. 26 of the present year the new Chicago Grand Opera company will take possession of the opera house. It will present a shorter season than was the case in the old days. The season will be of five weeks instead of thirteen and there will be five performances a week instead of eight or nine. But there is an implicit promise that the performances will be entirely up to the standard of the old days.

Behind this statement there is quite an elaborate story. Some six weeks ago two Chicagoans, George Woodruff and George Lytton, decided to engage upon a survey to see whether, even in times of depression, a season of opera would be possible in Chicago, and, if so, how much it would cost.

In the course of the survey they learned many interesting things. One of the conclusions was that while under the Civic Opera régime the expense ran to something like $125,000 a week it would be possible to put on five weeks of first class opera at a cost running from $147,000 to $181,000—in other words, from $29,400 to $36,200 a week.

Their first action was to determine the costs of principal soloists and they found that such artists as Rosa Raisa, Claudia Muzio, Tito Schipa, John Charles Thomas, and Grace Moore would be willing to sing for only a fraction of their former fees.

Further investigations on other operating expenses were equally promising. An orchestra of fifty-six players, a chorus of fifty, a ballet, practically the same as in former years, and a competent stage force can be secured for what averages 50 per cent of former charges.

Then came the question of where to present the season. There were two choices. The Auditorium is an old and popular house, but lacking in equipment, because when the Civic Opera company moved to the Civic Opera house it took everything in the way of equipment with it. The Civic is a new and less popular house, but it possesses everything in the way of modern stage, scenery, wigs, and electrical equipment.

In order to play at all at the Auditorium it would be necessary to find scenery and costumes in New York and Philadelphia. This was entirely possible, but again the question of costs became important.

Here are some of the figures. The Civic Opera house and its scenic and costume equipment was offered at practically no rental for this year, merely as a matter of generosity to get opera on the map again. The Auditorium was offered at a low rental—the amount not stated—but the cost of transporting scenery and costumes from the east would have been not less than $25,000. Other expenses were thus estimated:

Administration costs: At the Civic Opera house, $18,000; at the Auditorium, $20,000. Theater operations: $25,000 at each house. Artists, $79,000 at each house. State expenses: at the Civic Opera house, $25,000; at the Auditorium, $32,000. Scenery, at the Civic Opera house, nothing; at the Auditorium, $25,000. Final costs figured at the Civic Opera house, $147,000; at the Auditorium, $181,000.

Then came the matter of income. The Civic Opera company used to charge from $1 to $6 a ticket. In its best year it did a business of 87 per cent of its total capacity and in its worst, the last year, of 65 per cent. The new régime determined to cut these prices exactly in two, charge from fifty cents to $3 a seat, and lower the prices of boxes from $1,200 to $125 for the season, also to split the difference on percentages and estimate a possible income of 75 per cent of capacity. On this basis the income at the Civic Opera house would be $138,500, at the Auditorium $125,000.

A bit of subtraction will show that the season's operations at the Civic Opera house will indicate a loss of $10,000 and at the Auditorium of $50,000.

With these figures in hand, Mr. Woodruff and Mr. Lytton called a meeting of several dozen Chicagoans interested in the cause of opera at Mr. Woodruff's home, 1500 Lake Shore drive, yesterday afternoon. After their presentation, it was voted to go on with the opera plan at the Civic Opera house, and Mr. Woodruff and Mr. Lytton were empowered to appoint a committee to elect officers and trustees of the New Chicago Grand Opera company.

A few points would seem to be already definite. It is planned to open the season on Dec. 26 with Puccini's "Turandot," his last opera, never before seen in Chicago. One of the other novelties of the season will be "Le Coq d'Or," a combination of singing and ballet.

Paul Logone will be general director. Gennaro Papi will be musical director and leading conductor, the other conductors being Karl Kruger, Fritz Reiner, and Isaac Van Grove. The technical director will be Harry Beatty. Harold E. Ray will manage the business department.

A guarantee fund of $75,000 will be necessary to ensure the project, as compared with $500,000 in past sums. Of this amount it was stated that between one-third and one-half had already been raised.

The Y. M. C. A. Hotel chorus is rapidly becoming one of the noteworthy choral organizations of Chicago. It is not so long ago that Jacques Homier introduced a small body of young men singers who showed remarkable promise. They appeared again last night at Kimball hall, and they were more than promising. They were achieving.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

BY way of report: Serge Lifar visited the Negro performance of Oscar Wilde's "Salome" at the Experimental Art theater at 218 South Wabash avenue last Saturday night. . . . And it strikes us as a little amusing that Herodias wore as part of her costume a piece of brocade woven for the late Russian czar, with a Greek cross in the front. It was purchased from the Russian imperial exhibit being held in town by Selma Gordon, one of the cast. . . . Everybody who has met Shan-Kar, the Indian dancer, who is leaving town tomorrow for California after staying here while his broken fingers mended, is charmed by his gentleness of manner. He spent most of his time at the cinema while his hand was in splints, and Mae West is his favorite actress. . . . The worst pun of the week was that of the top-hatted gentleman, a Nijinsky admirer, who murmured, leaving the Auditorium Monday evening, "Lifar memories of Nijinsky alone, can't you?" . . . Señorita Elisa Aguilar, the lute player who plays in the Aguilar lute quartet with her three brothers in concert this morning, tells of a lutanist who died at 80 and said he had spent 60 years of his life tuning his lute. . . . A grand dame celebrated her 75th birthday anniversary the other day and gave each of her sons a case of bourbon whisky. . . . John Groth, Chicago artist who is in Mexico City arranging for his one man show to be held next month in Mexico City, addressed the National Advertising Club of Mexico the other day, pinch hitting for the Mexican minister of war. . . . Mrs. Angus Hibbard has knit more than 3,000 sweaters since wartime and is the champion knitter of the Red Cross.

MENTION of Mrs. Hibbard's knitting brings to mind that the other day in a loop store Mrs. Hibbard was approached by a Red Cross worker and asked to join. The worker began outlining the activities of the organization and told that the preceding day the Red Cross sewers were thrilled when Mrs. Grace Pettingill, director of volunteer service in the Michigan avenue workroom, brought in a box filled with children's sweaters.

"All of them had been knitted by the champion knitter of the Red Cross. She is Mrs. Angus Hibbard," the worker added.

WE printed the other day that Karl Krueger was heard humming—after a rehearsal for Opera Intime—not a melody from Mozart or Rimsky-Korsakoff, as you might expect, but "The Big Bad Wolf." . . . Frederick Donaghey bulletins that the b. b. w. tune was used by Mozart at least 149 years ago and that later Leo Delibes used it in his ballet of "Coppelia" quite some time before it was put into the sound track of "Three Little Pigs."

* *

WE keep puzzling about the woman on the New York train Larry Hastings encountered. As the train pulled into the station at Chicago she dashed forward to find the conductor and inquired:

"Is this Minneapolis?"

Public Library Will Put 10 Manuscripts on Exhibition Today

Ten valuable manuscripts of Americans, Englishmen, and a French king will be on exhibition starting this afternoon at the Chicago public library. The original monographs, which have been loaned by the Encyclopædia Britannica, include those of U. S. Grant, Robert E. Lee, Benjamin Disraeli, P. T. Barnum, Charles Dickens, Andrew Jackson, Mark Twain, Henry Clay, Benjamin Franklin, Robert Peary, and Louis XV, of France.

The document of Clay's is a refusal to attend an 1850 Tammany Hall ball.

The letter of Grant was written in connection with sittings for a portrait with an artist, G. P. A. Healy.

Rummage Shop Will Celebrate 15th Birthday

Appeal for Crystal Made on Anniversary.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN yesterday's mail the hundreds of people who give their "white elephants" regularly to the Rummage shop that is conducted for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital received blotters on the fronts of which were printed the following:

"The Rummage shop wants you to know
It soon will celebrate
A CRYSTAL ANNIVERSARY,
A most auspicious date!
For fifteen years it's taken all
Your problems off your mind
And some it's taken off your back
[It's partial to THAT kind].
Now don't you think it would be nice
To send a bit of glass?
You surely aren't going to let
This annivers'ry pass!
Odd finger bowls, ash trays, or plates
Which fill your pantry shelf.
A pyrex dish, or those glass beads
You never wear yourself.
Or if you're feeling liberal,
As we all should these days,
You might be quite improvident
And send a cut glass vase!"

No name is signed to this bit of verse, but it wouldn't take a very perspicacious person to recognize it was the work of that rhymster of the Rummage shop, Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, who also is one of the most faithful workers there.

The fifteenth anniversary of the opening of the shop is an important occasion to those board members of the hospital who have worked so steadily and so conscientiously for all those years. Before the shop was opened at 27 East Ohio street the board used to have a one or a two day sale each year, and it was because they made such successes of them that they decided to open a permanent shop.

In addition to Mrs. Chase, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Charles K. Foster, and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham have been on the committee in charge of the shop since it was started. Winter and summer, rain or shine, these women have lunched together every Monday to discuss the business affairs of the shop and nothing but illness or absence from the city ever keeps one of them from being at these weekly luncheon meetings.

The monthly home dressmakers' sale at the shop will be held today.

Mott Wedding Plans Announced.

Miss Evelyn Mott is leaving for her home in Charlottesville, Va., today. Her visit with her aunt and uncle, the Frank B. Mulfords, has been a short but exciting one, for during it her engagement was announced to John Esser Dodson of Bethlehem, Pa., and she has been trousseau shopping and trying to catch a glimpse of her old friends and many relatives.

The date for the wedding has been set for Dec. 9, and it will take place in Charlottesville, followed by a large reception. Grenville Mott will probably go south to usher at his sister's wedding, but it is doubtful if Cutler Mott, another brother, will be able to leave his job here. The third boy in the Russell Mott family is Joseph W. Mott, who is a student at Yale.

Miss Mott will be attended by Mrs. Whitney Stone of New York as matron of honor, and her two bridesmaids will be Miss Julia Delafield of New York and Miss Madeline McAlpin of Morristown, N. J. Mr. Dodson's best man will be Russell Watson of New Brunswick, N. J., and among the seven or eight ushers will be, besides Grenville Mott, his two brother, Millard Dodson and Truman M. Dodson. Mr. Dodson's parents are Mrs. Richard Chapman and Truman N. Dodson of Bethlehem, Pa.

Mr. Dodson is not certain yet where he will be sent on business, so Miss Mott does not know just where they will make their home, although it will be some place in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Mulford may drive down for the wedding.

Eleanor Carlisle Will Be Bride.

Miss Eleanor Carlisle, daughter of Col. Charles Arthur Carlisle and the late Ann Studebaker Carlisle of South Bend, is to be married to Capt. Paul A. Campbell, chief of medical staff of Culver Military academy, on Dec. 21. Miss Carlisle has many friends in Chicago, having attended the University School for Girls before she went to Farmington. Later she was at Mme. Payen's school in Paris, and last year she was a student at De Pauw university.

Capt. Campbell, who is the son of Mrs. W. W. Campbell of Frankfort, Ind., also has many friends here, having attended Rush Medical school and having served his interneship at the Billings hospital. Miss Carlisle is a great-granddaughter of John Studebaker and a granddaughter of Clement Studebaker, both prominent in civic, religious, and financial affairs of Indiana.

How Music Club Got Its Name.

It seems strangely appropriate that the Harvard University Musical clubs should bring the "gold coast" orchestra here for their concerts on Dec. 27 and 28, although the name has nothing whatsoever to do with Chicago's gilded shore. A jazz band, it found its name in one of Harvard's oldest traditions.

Back in the days of Presidents Eliot and Lowell Mount Auburn street in Cambridge became the favorite residence of all of the young men from moneyed families. It was the gold

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Compton of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Edna, to William Lee Melcher of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee William Melcher of Waukesha, Wis. Miss Compton went to Dana Hall at Wellesley, Mass., and then studied languages abroad. Mr. Melcher is a graduate of Lawrence college at Appleton, Wis.

The wedding is planned for Dec. 27 at 8:30 o'clock in the evening in the Glencoe Union church. There will be no reception owing to Mrs. Compton's ill health but after the ceremony the wedding party and the two families will gather for supper at the Comptons' residence.

Miss Compton's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Compton of Glencoe, will give a dinner dance for her on Dec. 23, and the S. J. Gilfillans of Glencoe will entertain at dinner for her on Dec. 26. Mr. Melcher and his bride will live in Evanston after Jan. 1.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Frivolous footnotes! Fashionable trifles that dance colorfully under the flounces and swishing taffeta that make the most devastating dress parade clothes ever unpacked. Sandals that are almost scandals . . . just a maze of twined and intertwined straps . . . sandals of satin, of gleaming metallic brocades, of silk, satin or velvet, gay glittering things that will either make or break your reputation as a well shod dancer and diner.

Some new smoothies are made of soft swathed satin. . . the toes are covered with just a deft loop of satin with the knot in the center . . . another is made of narrow braided satin straps that wind knowingly but intricately across the toes and up the instep and around the heels. These come in all colors, the satins also, and until you have seen a peach tint, an almond green, an old blue you have seen nothing.

For the fussy shoppers there are plenty of whites to be dyed to exactly match any gown. Some practical soul has combined silver and gold kidskin so that you can glitter with any of your gowns. For extra interest, you can buy silver and gold combined with either silk, satin, or velvet. What else could you possibly want?

But the most romantic slippers are still the lovely black and silver or black and gold combines. . . charmingly slender things with incredibly high slender heels and one shop will attach scarlet heels on these black beauties for a modest sum. You can then have dramatizing foot contrast for any of your clinging black dinner dresses or hostess gowns.

Equally as eye filling and not quite as spectacular are the fascinating new flowered satin slippers, made of blurred outlined flowers in soft pastel colors, and high, high heels. Then there are giddy affairs of startling contrasting colors in velvet or satin or soft suede. . . sometimes as many as four or five different colors are combined in perfect amity for unusual color contrast under dark dresses and gowns.

Watch your step this winter. Your slippers should be sleek, streaked with color and scanty as to strap, mere shells of swanky smartness.

Film Critic Shouts Her Praises of "Henry VIII." as Great Movie

Declares Production Is Challenge to Best That Ever Came from Hollywood.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Egad! HERE'S a picture to warm the cockles of your hearts!

"The Private Life of Henry VIII.," an English production with an English star, is to be chalked up as THE English picture that can justifiably throw down the gauntlet up any masterpiece that has yet come out of Hollywood.

Don't, I beg of you, pass it up because it's historical—and "costume"! It's as vital as "Cimarron" and as sensuous as "She Done Him Wrong." It is a film chronicle of a king and an era—not at all concerned with dry data, but alive with fascinating low-down on the human, funny, roistering, artistic side of a king of the realm and the events in which this man was a dominating figure.

Said Charles Laughton in an interview:

". . . I wanted to make Henry a true-to-life presentation—a man with livable and lovable qualities, for such he must have been to have achieved such tremendous popularity as he enjoyed . . . not only was he a fine linguist and an accomplished musician—he composed two complete masses—but he was most liberal in his patronage of the arts. . . . True, his character as a sensualist, capable of severe cruelty, is inextricably interwoven with these other elements, but it has been my effort to show Bluff King Hal as the man he was rather than as the despot he has been painted. . . ."

If all historical characters could be presented thus warmly and colorfully what a popular subject history would be in our schools!

Henry VIII. loved pomp. He loved hunting. He loved women. He loved food. He loved lusty living in all its modes and tenses. When his heart and his belly were content he roared with laughter. When things went amiss he roared with rage and at times called for his lord high executioner. . . .

The picture starts with the decapitation of Anne Boleyn and ends with his rueful lamentation re Katherine Parr:

"Six wives," muses he, "and the worst of them is the best!"

Such a time as Henry DID have with his wives!

Anne Boleyn's execution is rather a merry affair. What with two headsmen, French and English, respectively, discussing the relative merits of their technique the while they merrily sharpen the ax in the courtyard; court ladies busily gossiping and exchanging quips while they wait for the day's big event to take place; Jane Seymour dashing in to ask the king which headdress she shall wear at their wedding that is to take place immediately after the unfortunate Anne's head has fallen, and with the victim herself indulging in lethal mots as she waits for her big moment—the occasion presents somewhat the effect of hi jinks.

Well, with Anne out of the way, the king gets along famously with pretty dumb Jane Seymour, who presents him with a son and dies in childbirth. Henry is disconsolate and against marriage for a time, but at last he agrees to marry the German duchess of Cleves for state reasons.

She wants him less than he wants her and makes herself so unattractive that the king strides to his nuptual chamber roaring reproachfully at his court:

"The things I have done for England . . . !"

Sitting up in bed looking like the wrath of God caricatured is Anne of Cleves. She at once pretends to know

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

SYNOPSIS.

Bruce Pomeroy, brought up in poverty, befriended a Russian, Boris Orleneff. In return Orleneff, before his death, left Pomeroy a simple invention, which is about to make Pomeroy a millionaire. Orleneff didn't want his brother's family, whom he considered parasites to get a cent from the invention. While taking his morning walk through New York's Central park Pomeroy stops to aid a girl in apparent distress from a broken ankle. He is seized by three men and overpowered. After a long motor and boat trip he is imprisoned in a comfortable room in a beautiful home.

INSTALLMENT IV.

WELL GUARDED.

Pomeroy stood still and stared at the room while his guard lit more gas jets. It was a large and luxurious bedroom, handsomely furnished with a double bed, a mahogany dresser and high boys, bookcases and easy chairs. Three wide, silk-curtained windows faced the outer world, and there was an ample fireplace in which big logs were blazing gallantly. Through an open door at the right he saw a bathroom and caught the gleam of tiles and nickel. His guard looked at him with a grin. He was evidently willing to give h charge time to take in the room's full effect of comfort and luxury.

Incidentally, Pomeroy took him in also. The man still wore his overcoat, but he had thrown his cap off in the hall. His big round head, smooth-shaven round face, and wide grin were rather reassuring. He was fairly young, still perhaps in his late thirties or very early forties, and he was already slightly bald. What hair he had was brown, and his small eyes, twinkling now like dim candles in a grimy window, were pale gray. He looked very pasty and out of condition. Pomeroy, who had taken off his own cap and thrown it on a chair, stared at him unwinkingly.

"Some nest, eh, Buddy?" the guard asked cheerfully. "Bookcases, silk quilts, 'n' everything. An' all yer own. Would y' like a hot bat' before y' go to bed?"

Pomeroy produced his first remark in eighteen hours. There was some catch in all this, of course, but he was too exhausted and dizzy to be analytical. He would learn later what the catch was.

"You bet I would," he croaked hoarsely, and winced over the effort the words cost him.

"O. K., pal," his guard said, an d crossed the room to the bathroom.

Pomeroy experienced the recurrent temptation to attack.

Pomeroy, still standing where he had been left, heard the hiss of hot water pouring into the tub and saw its steam rising. The other man reappeared.

"Want a hand, or can y' git along?"

"I'll manage."

"O. K." The man was at the bed now, stripping off the silk cover and draping it carefully over the footboard on top of a pink satin puff. He even turned back the blankets and sheet for the night. His round disc wore the smug complacency of a child's.

"I'll say half 'n hour for the bat'," the man went on, turning back to his companion. "Then I'll bring y' a bowl of soup an' y' kin hit the hay an' snooze till yer called in the mornin'. That oughta be 'bout ten. I guess the boss'll wanta sleep late. He mostly does."

"I could eat more than a bowl of soup," Pomeroy suggested, encouraged by this camaraderie.

The guard's face instantly changed and darkened. His grin disappeared.

"Y' could, but ye ain't goin' to," he snarled with sudden savagery. "Eat a bowl o' soup an' like it. See? Yer damn lucky to git that."

"O. K.," Pomeroy quoted. He was already taking off his clothes. He was eager to strip and get into that bath. His soft answer failed to placate his companion. The man took the key from the door and held it up.

"Don't go gettin' no funny ideas in yer bean," he rasped. "Them windows hangs over a cliff, an' they's a big drop. Try any funny business an' ye break yer fool neck. This door is goin' to be bolted on the outside. I put the bolt on yesterday an' it's a good one. Try to make a gitaway"—his tone grew menacing—"an' I'd hate to say w'at'll happen."

Pomeroy nodded. The reminder was timely. He had his heavy overcoat off now and his hands and wrists were free and surprisingly efficient considering what they had been through, though the wrists were raw from the cut of the cords that had bound them. The guard still wore his overcoat and muffler. He was a big fellow, but so was Pomeroy. The latter's momentary temptation to "start something" died even as it was born. He wanted that bath, that soup, that bed, that sleep.

"O. K.," he said again, imperturbably. The guard gave him a quick look and seemed satisfied.

"Half 'n hour," he snapped. "See it ain't more. I wanta go below myself, 'thout no unne'ssary dee-lays. Step on it."

Pomeroy stepped. In five minutes he was in the bath tub, where he remained for twenty minutes more, letting the hot water do its beneficent work of healing and relaxing. He was sitting in an armchair before the fire, wrapped in a blanket, when his guard returned with a plate. Pomeroy surveyed it. It held the promised bowl of soup—a good-sized one—and a slice o' bread. Again, as he looked at the guard, Pomeroy experienced the recurrent temptation to attack. The man was at a disadvantage, carrying the plate and the hot soup. A clean spring and the prisoner would be on him, would have him down. But suppose he did. What then? He felt better after his bath, but, of course, he was still stiff, still dizzy, still uncertain. . . . Even assuming that he left his man hors de combat, how would he get out of the house and off the island before the others nabbed him? Probably, too, this fellow was armed.

His silence seemed to worry the guard. Perhaps he had also realized that he was at a disadvantage. He set the plate down on the nearest table with a suddenness that startled his companion. Then, as if reassured, he grinned.

"All right, big boy, here's yer supper. Gobble and git to bed. I'm bettin' you don't need no dope."

"You're safe on that," Pomeroy agreed. He rose, drew the table nearer, sat down, and broke the bread into the soup. The guard went out, closed the door, and Pomeroy heard a heavy bolt shoot into place. He finished the bread and soup. Then he rose and made a careful inspection of his new quarters with a special view to exits. A second door led into a large closet. The bathroom window was of the long and very narrow variety suited to a fortress. The three bedroom windows opened, as the guard had told him, over a cliff. He closed two of the windows again, left the one farthest from the bed open, put the fire screen in place, wound his watch, turned out the lights and got into bed. It was—there was no question about it—the most comfortable bed he had ever slept in. But what an infernal mess he was in . . . and what would happen to his merger now. . . .

He sighed, and turned over once. Then waves of sleep rose around him, engulfed him, and drew him far down into their quiet depths.

He was awakened by the howl of the wind. Day had come with a black scowl, and a blizzard in its hands. Pomeroy lay still, blinking at the white whirl beyond his windows and trying to grasp the incredible fact that he was a prisoner on a strange island. Then, at a sudden movement prompted by anger and resentment, he checked a groan. His head ached savagely. So did every bone in his body. Full realization of his situation leaped upon him, like a crouching beast that had been waiting its chance through the night. He made a strong effort and sat up in bed.

Almost simultaneously, as if the movement had been a signal, the outer bolt shot back and his guard entered.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Return the Medicine.

"Dear Miss Blake: My girl makes me mad because she talks of nothing but boys who are or were crazy about her. What shall I do? DONALD."

Do a little talking on your own account about girls you like and who like you. A little of her own medicine ought to put an end to that situation.

Wasted Affection.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a boy who makes fun of me and avoids me. What shall I do? EDNA."

Get over it, dear, as fast as you can. Staying out of his sight and working up an interest in other boys will help the speedy recovery.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

BARBARA: GOOD SCALP STIMULation produced with daily brushing and massaging will thicken your hair. But you want to use the proper method for brushing and massaging. Directions for these are included in my hair booklet. You are welcome to a copy if you send a stamped, addressed envelope.

STENO: If you keep a bottle of witch-hazel handy to use on the oily skin you'll prevent blackheads and pimples which result when the enlarged pores become clogged up with dirt. The astringent will keep your pores normal in size as well as check the oiliness.

Film Notables Fool You in Natural Role

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Movie notables often fool you when they act natural.

Clark Gable was pleased as a pup on the set of "Night Bus" at Columbia. He flourished the reason for his pleasure for all to view and handle—a new, specially turned out 30.30 rifle, made to his order by a Philadelphia gunsmith, engraved with his name, mounted in silver and gold, telescopic sights, so that he can hurry to Wyoming on his coming vacation and take a crack from a quarter of a mile distant at mountain sheep.

Fifi D'Orsay and Maurice Hill, young Chicagoan, have been posing together for still camera men, Maurice wearing his bathrobe and bedroom slippers and Fifi in a dainty, boudoirish looking bit of fluff. And Fifi, who showed up at the county courthouse with Hill last Friday and took out a three day notice of intent to wed, said: "We believe in a trial honeymoon." She looked archly at young Hill. "But," Fifi continued, "with chaperones. If he likes my temperament around the house we'll know we can get married and never worry about a divorce."

Ginger Rogers' press agents kept dodging callers for Ginger. Said she was going out of town. But Ginger herself said: "I don't want to see any one while I have a little sore on my chin." When it was further explained to Ginger that the caller was one she had met under pleasant circumstances, Ginger said: "Show him around. I like to talk to him. Besides, he isn't going to be taking a picture of my chin."

Charlotte Henry, getting her big chance as Alice in "Alice in Wonderland"—now just completed—is trying on all kinds of new outfits for her triumphant starring tour of American key cities with the film presentation. "You must feel wondrously happy," an excited feminine admirer was telling Charlotte. "I can't imagine what it would feel like to become so suddenly famous and sought over."

"I'll tell you what it's like," Miss Henry said. "I feel like going to sleep for three days." She put in many long hours of work under intense nervous strain to complete the film.

The death of Mrs. Reginald Barlow, 60, known in her younger days as Selma Rose of the New York stage, saddened Hollywood circles last night.

coast of Cambridge, the center of Harvard's aristocracy.

Since then this segregation has been broken down . . . rich and poor alike live in the same dormitories . . . but the Mount Auburn houses still remain and likewise the gold coast tradition. So Harvard brings to Chicago next month . . . along with its mandolin, banjo, and vocal clubs . . . the gold coast orchestra.

Group to Hold Reunion Dance.

The classes of '25, '26, and '27 of the Chicago Latin School for Boys and those members of the Frances Parker school and other young men and women about town who went to the fortnightly Junior club dances that used to be held at the Surf hotel have received invitations to a reunion dance to take place Saturday night at the Belden-Stratford hotel.

Added to the list of luncheons—which is rapidly growing to be a favorite way of entertaining—for the Christmas holidays is the luncheon that Mrs. Theodore Proxmire is giving in her Lake Forest home Dec. 23 for Miss Allene Withers. About 30 of the season's debutantes and their beaux will attend the noonday repast.

Among other debutantes who have moved to town for the season are Miss Peggy Hixon and Miss Patsy Keith. Miss Hixon is staying with her aunt, Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, who has taken an apartment at 70 Cedar street. Miss Keith and her parents, the Stanley Keiths, are at the Whitehall.

Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. is giving a dinner for Miss Keith on Dec. 27, the night that the William H. Mitchells and the John Payne Kelloggs are giving a dinner dance for their debutante niece, Ruth Hunter of California.

Victorian Ball Next Wednesday.

Eight of society's popular debs and post-debs are spending at least an hour each day fitting feathers and plumes, bustles, and hoops reminiscent of the gay nineties. They are to vend cigarets and gardenias next Wednesday evening at the Drake hotel, when the Evanston branch of the Infant Welfare society holds a Victorian party to replenish its coffers.

Included in the group are Miss Helen Dawes, Miss Jean Hyman, Miss Anne Robinson, Miss Mary Cook, Miss Barbara Bastien, Miss Marian Gordon, Miss Ethel Dixon, and Miss Ruth Seabor.

The party hostesses are taking upon themselves the bitter responsibility of awarding prizes for the best costumes . . . a responsibility the directors of the North Avenue Day Nursery did not assume at their recent "Diamond Lil" ball. Judging will be done by way of a grand march that will start at 11 o'clock with a professional dancing couple in the lead.

Mrs. Hayden Harris in East for Visit.

Mrs. Hayden B. Harris is in the east for a gay little whirl. She will spend Thanksgiving with her daughter, Valeria, who is in school in Washington, and will be at home soon after that.

The William Burrys have closed their Lake Forest house and are at the Churchill for the early winter. They are not opening their house on Astor street this winter because they plan to go away after Christmas.

Two Christmas sales are on the calendar today, one at Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen's residence at 1430 Astor street, where articles made by the Italian women at the Eli Bates Settlement house will be displayed, and the other in the straw room at 900 North Michigan avenue, where things made by shut-ins will be exhibited under the auspices of the Vocational Society for Shut-ins. Both are all day sales, and at both members of the boards and their friends will assist in selling.

Second Kinsolving Musical Today.

The second Kinsolving Musical morning of the season is today and as usual, it will be in the crystal ball room of the Blackstone, starting at 11 o'clock. The Aguilar Lute quartet and Sophia Braslau will give the program. The members of the quartet are descendants of an old, aristocratic Spanish family. Their father was Don Francisco Aguilar, physician to the court of the king of Spain and Senorita Eliza Aguilar, the only feminine member of the quartet, was a constant companion of the former Queen Victoria.

Several luncheon parties are to follow the recital that Agnes Conover, pianist, is to give at 11 o'clock this morning at the Woman's Athletic club. Among the members who will be luncheon hostesses are Mrs. Henry Veeder, Mrs. Allan M. Clement, Mrs. Walter Peacock, Mrs. Brode Davis, Mrs. Edwin Sherman, Mrs. Edward R. Hulburt, and Mrs. Jefferson Jackson.

Genevieve Forbes Herrick, a member of the Washington staff of THE TRIBUNE, is to talk this afternoon about personalities of the capital at a tea that will be given for her by the Associate Alumnæ of Northwestern university. Mrs. Herrick is a graduate of Northwestern. The tea will be given in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon memorial temple of the university campus.

Tomorrow morning Mrs. Herrick will talk before members of the Contemporary club at the Fortnightly and in the afternoon she will be the special guest at a tea at the Woman's City club. Saturday the Chicago College club is entertaining at luncheon for her.

The spirit of Christmas will pervade the House of Biggs at 50 East Huron street today for the Big Sisters are holding their annual holiday festival and turkey dinner. The sale is to begin at 10 o'clock this morning and continue until 5 o'clock.

At 7 o'clock the turkey dinner is to be served. Then there will be a floor show, dancing, and cards. Some of those who will be assistants at the sale and hostesses at the evening party include Mrs. Edward S. Hines, Mrs. George V. McIntyre, Mrs. W. Harry Remien, Mrs. James Shea, Mrs. Harry Boyd Hurd, Mrs. Leo P. Cummings, and Mrs. Thomas F. Driscoll.

Paris Visitor Tells of Dress Shops There

"Just because his new wife wore the same coat every day for a few months the bridegroom made love to the wife of another newly married man who with her husband came to spend the week-end," said Mme. Elizabeth de Gramont yesterday afternoon addressing the Juniors of the Alliance Francaise who gathered at the home of Mrs. Charles S. Dewey for their first winter meeting this year. Mme. de Gramont did not state these facts thus baldly, but told the story in her own charming and gay manner.

The moral to her talk on "Les Grands Couturiers de Paris" was that in order to interest a husband or a future husband it is necessary to provide one's clothes with little "embellissements," "coquetteries" and "nouveautés" for the sake of variety.

Miss Louise Dewey introduced the distinguished Frenchwoman to the Juniors after she first had introduced to them their new president, Miss Jean Wilhelm. Among the most interested of those listening to Mme. de Gramont as she traced the history of several of the best known couturiers and also the technique of the dress was René Weiller, French consul general in Chicago. Mme. Weiller and Henri David were also there.

Following the lecture Miss Wilhelm and her mother, Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm, poured tea and chocolate in the Deweys' handsome dining room. The table was a picture with its high gold candelabra and three gold vases filled with white single chrysanthemums and the two silver services, one at either end.

American Opera Society Musical.

Also on yesterday's busy program was a delightful musical and luncheon given by the American Opera Society at the Arts club and two unusually nice tea parties, one at Mrs. Loyal Davis' apartment on East Delaware place and the other at Mrs. Edward R. Litsinger's residence on State parkway. Lucinda Monroe, soprano, accompanied on the piano by Willard Rhodes, sang excerpts from the American opera "The Marriage of Aude" at the musical, after which luncheon was served.

Some of those at this affair were Mrs. Ralph T. Winston and seven young women who were her guests, Miss Florence Otis and Miss Barbara Senn, both of whom are engaged to be married; Miss Dorothy Senn, Miss Frances Robinson and her house guest, Mrs. Clark Roberts of Detroit; Miss Betty Blair, and Miss Helen La Chance. Also Mrs. Archibald E. Freer, Mrs. Frank G. Logan, Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. Gerhardt F. Meyne, Mrs. Arthur B. Slade, Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Miss Nellie Carpenter, Mrs. Andrew Sherriff, Mrs. John Senn, and many others.

Faculty Club Plans Concert.

Members of the Women's Faculty club of Northwestern university medical school met for tea at Mrs. Davis' to discuss plans for the concert to be given by the Woman's Symphony orchestra at the Auditorium Sunday afternoon, Dec. 3, as a benefit for the club, which contributes to the free clinics of the school.

Miss Ebba Sundstrom, conductor of the orchestra, and Paul Kerby, who will conduct at the concert, were guests at the tea party, and so were some of the members of the women's board of the Passavant hospital. The women in charge of the sale of tickets for the concert are hoping that it will be even a greater success than the benefit they gave last year with Lily Pons as the star. Mrs. Davis is president of the club.

The guests at Mrs. Litsinger's tea party were the directors of the woman's auxiliary of Grant hospital, which is to hold its annual Christmas sale on Dec. 6 at Mrs. Otto L. Schmidt's residence at 1547 Dearborn parkway. The center of interest at the tea was a doll that is to be sold on Dec. 6, a marvelous doll that drinks milk and does other things a baby does. Other fascinating dolls and toys that will be on display at the sale were on view yesterday and also some lovely negligees that have been made by Mrs. Albert F. Madlener and Mrs. Frank S. Porter.

Movie Critic Shouts Praise of 'Henry VIII.'

nothing of the facts of life and to believe that a marriage is consummated by the ceremony.

"But," growls the king with evasive, doggy eye, "babies don't come out of cabbage, you know."

"Nein!" shouts her majesty gleefully. "De storks dey bringen dem an' dropen dem down de chimneys. . . ."

"Do you sing?" asks the king.

"Nein. But I play," responds his bride.

"I'll get you a guitar," he says, about to depart.

"Not moosick. Cards. I play cards for money," cries the atrocity among the pillows.

So Anne of Cleves and Henry VIII. play cards—and here is one of the most uproariously funny incidents ever screened. The game ends in an amicable agreement to divorce—with Henry conceding everything Anne wants—and she wants PLENTY! . . .

Then comes the charming Katherine Howard—court lady whom the king adores and whom he has beheaded for her faithlessness. And now your heart is sad—for the great, gross man is struck to the heart by revelation of her perfidy and his heart-racking sobs arouse passionate pity within you. . . .

Well, his final wife, Katherine Parr, is a fine nurse—and that is that. . . .

What an actor! WHAT an actor, Charles Laughton!

The picture is marvelously staged and costumed—without being in any way the oppressive spectacle. Acting is perfection throughout and never has a photoplay had better direction.

Have I convinced you that "The Private Life of Henry VIII." is a great picture? That's what I've been trying to do.

See you tomorrow!

BY MARY MEADE.

Party fare may have looked lovely thirty years ago, but we just can't imagine sitting down to it and knowing how to go about eating it. First we would be confronted with cheese straws tied in bunches with baby ribbon, a fruit salad from which poked stiff pineapple leaves at all angles, cup cakes with ferns sticking from the tops of them, or an angel food cake in the center of which is placed a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

But just because baby ribbons and foliage of grandmother's day are no longer necessary or in good taste, don't be caught in the error of thinking that food can no longer be smartly company-fied. To coax in this element of surprise, knowing cooks now serve up creamed dishes in patty shells, rosettes, toast baskets, rice or noodle rings when the occasion is a party. Creole shrimp is delectable in either the toast cases or rice rings.

CREOLE SHRIMP.

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon curry powder
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of paprika
Dash of cayenne
2½ cups milk
3 tablespoons tomato catsup
¼ cup cooking sherry
1½ cups cooked shrimps

Melt the butter, add flour, curry powder, salt, paprika, and cayenne. Stir in the milk gradually and cook. When thick and smooth add the catsup, sherry, and shrimps. Sprinkle with paprika or chopped parsley.

Which reminds me that a little sprinkle of paprika will go a long way in giving food a festive air. And don't always reserve it for company meals. A dash will brighten up the dullest mountain of mashed potatoes, creamed codfish, cole slaw, boiled turnips, and so on down the line. But remember, just a dash.

Salads have lent themselves to dressed up menus ever since the first old Roman tucked up his toga and experimented with greens, oils, vinegar, and spices.

INDIVIDUAL VEGETABLE SALADS.

Select a small, round head of lettuce and for each diner cut a round slice off the head. Lay these on a salad plate, topping each with a good sized tomato slice. Place a floweret of cooked cauliflower in the center of each tomato slice, surround this with a narrow row of finely chopped pickled beets, and make an outside row of half slices of hard cooked egg. Just before serving pour 2 tablespoons of French dressing over each salad.

Meringues, tarts, jelly roll—all these are inviting as company desserts. Here's an attractive plum roll which resembles a jelly roll:

PLUM ROLL.

1 No. 2 can plums
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon powdered cinnamon
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Rich biscuit dough

Roll the dough ½ inch thick. Pit the plums and cut them into quarters. Cover the dough with the plums and sprinkle with the sugar, lemon juice, and the cinnamon, adding a little more sugar if the plums are tart. Roll this like a jelly roll and place in a buttered baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for about 30 minutes, basting several times with the plum juice while baking. Serve with whipped cream or a fruit sauce.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DANCE FROCK.

Many of the new dresses are designed to cater to informal evening wear and afternoon, too. Here is a charming example. It's a stunning afternoon dress that could be worn also for less dressy evening affairs. It has the smart drop shoulder effect and adorably pretty sleeves. Black velvet, using bands of lacquer-red lame to trim the yoke and line the sleeve points will be chic.

The pattern, No. 3087, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure.

Film Actresses' Dressing Room Is a Bungalow

Styles Often Characteristic of the Stars.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

HOLLYWOOD—[Special.]—The studio dressing rooms of the women stars are interesting spots to spend a little time. Some of these are done in modern style, as Dietrich's; some semi-modern, as Carole Lombard's; some quite plain, no periods nor pretensions, and some, like Lillian Harvey's, are little bungalows, with living room, boudoir, kitchen and bath.

The kitchen in Lillian Harvey's bungalow is even more fascinating than the living room or boudoir. It is done in yellow, brown and white. Pale yellow walls, white woodwork, and a touch of brown brought into the curtains. The curtains are of white voile, trimmed with brown cotton ball fringe. The drapes, which hange from a wooden valance, are of white cotton pique plaided in yellow and brown and these are also trimmed with the brown cotton ball fringe. The chairs have seat covers of white and brown gingham, with tiny ruffles. The kitchen sink has yellow tiling and the shelves are covered with yellow oil cloth. The floor linoleum is a pale yellow trimmed in brown.

"But why talk about a movie star's kitchen?" sez you. "She's never in it!" Well, it was the kind of kitchen I'd like to have myself, and Miss Harvey, anyway, does eat there while she's working on the lot.

She tells me she uses a dry-cleaning fluid instead of soap on her face. It's called carbon tetrachloride Merck and non-inflammable. The French call it tetraclore of carbone and Miss Harvey says it forms the basic beauty formula for some of the smartest Continental women. She uses it to remove her makeup as well as a face cleanser. But she follows its use with a light application of odorless castor oil.

Does Dieting Fad Contribute Much to Divorce Rate?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

HOLLYWOOD.—[Special.]—An argument was on the other day between Mae Clarke, cinema star, and Grace Moore, of screen, stage, and opera fame. Miss Moore contends that dieting causes divorces. Miss Clarke holds that dieting has nothing to do with the failure of a marriage or divorce.

We thought if you ran out of arguments at your bridge party, you might do a Clarke-Moore dialogue on the reducing subject as it applies to divorce.

Miss Clarke says the too thin woman has no appeal to men, but neither has the too fat one.

Miss Moore claims the woman who talks reducing and practices it strenuously is not only a bore, but she robs her husband of the lovable dear he thought he was taking on with the ceremony.

Miss Clarke says the woman who indulges her desire for starches and sweets not only robs her husband of the lovely looking wife to whom he has a right, but she jeopardizes her physical well being just as certainly as does the rabid dieter.

A fat person, Miss Clarke argues, is is no more a well person than the too lean one. And the man married to a fat woman is likely to find her too weary for the slightest exertion. There is so much more of her to get tired.

The two debaters agreed, however, that there is a weight for every woman at which she may maintain looks and disposition enough for any man.

THE STAGE

Glenn Hunter, whose stage career is associated with the long runs of "Merton of the Movies" and "Young Woodley," will appear at the Blackstone theater Sunday, Dec. 3, in John Van Druten's comedy, "There's Always Juliet." Only two performances, matinee and night, will be given.

The occasion will be for the benefit of Emerson house, a social settlement at 1757 West Grand avenue. It will be the first of a series of Sunday entertainments at the Blackstone under the auspices of this organization.

This week you can get the big attractive jar of Noxzema for only 49c. Take advantage of this big saving. Get a jar today while the offer lasts. At all drug and department stores.

Swagger Coats Have Jabot or a Monk's Cowl

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The swagger coat that the followers of fashions in Paris wear this late fall has points of difference from its predecessor of last season. The swagger coat with a monk's cowl hung from a small collar is one of the pets of Paris. Women like the collar and cowl in fur like seal, nutria or leopard. Another swagger wrap that is chic-plus is Mainbocher's cloth coat which is trimmed with narrow woolen fringes, and worn with a fur jabot collar, like the one in the sketch. This kind of coat is good both for sports and city wear.

The swagger is all at the back, the front being quite plain, and worn open, as shown, when weather permits, so you see the vest and skirt dress beneath. The sleeves are cut raglan, and have twin lines of fringes running up the outsides in three groups. The marked flare at the back of the coat is made more noticeable by the rows of fringes, six in all, that are placed up the entire back at the sides.

A fur jabot, treated just like a jabot of batiste or linen, buttons on at the back of the neck and falls down in front in a double ruffle effect. The back of the vest is also made of fur, so the ensemble is very warm.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

AFTER THE INQUEST.

"Yes, Pryor," Prof. Fordney said to the valet. "It was a terrible tragedy." The two were seated in the late Mr. Miller's drawing room. "Having missed the inquest, I'd like to look at the clothes he wore the night of his death."

"Certainly, sir. They've just been sent back from the coroner's office. I'll get them at once."

In a few minutes the valet returned bearing a bundle of clothes, including a full dress suit.

"H'mmm," murmured the criminologist observing a button missing from the left coat sleeve. "Are you sure all of these clothes were worn by Mr. Miller the night of his death?"

"Positive, sir. I laid them out myself and helped him dress."

"Tell me what you know about the affair," the professor said on completing his examination of all the clothes and again glancing at the coat sleeve.

Pryor's story was that his master had attended the opera and had returned home at 1:30 a. m., saying he had stopped at a night club. He had gone to the library and requested the valet to make him some sandwiches and coffee, which he did. Upon returning to the library in about fifteen minutes Pryor had found Miller dead—his throat cut.

"H'mmm," again murmured Fordney. "Rather a puzzling case, Pryor, I wonder how those cigar ashes, interminglied with the blood, got on the back of Mr. Miller's collar. Careless handling, perhaps, but why are you lying to me? Your master did not wear this collar on the night of his death!"

HOW DID THE PROFESSOR KNOW PRYOR WAS LYING?

[See solution on page 31.]

Day Dreaming Is Inevitable in Adolescence

Exhibitionism Also Trait of Teen Age.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Today—our fourth day—we shall look at a fourth quality or development that accompanies the period of adolescence.

Along about this time in the life of boys and girls there is a renewal of a characteristic which parents notice in earlier childhood—that is, a tendency to day dream. It is not so obvious now, because as children grow older they become more reticent, but any one of us can look back and recognize the dreams of glory, of achievement, and of romance that filled many of our waking hours. It is, of course, a different kind of day dreaming or phantasy from that which goes on in childhood. And it concerns itself quite naturally with different things.

New physical forces are at work, new urges, and the future when adult achievements or experiences are possible, now lies just ahead. Rather rarely, I believe, are the day dreams or the phantasy of the adolescent told to any one—but if to any one, least of all to grownups. They long to sometimes, I truly think, but live in fear of a lack of understanding or even ridicule.

Many of their phantasies undoubtedly have to do with their newly developing sex impulses—and it is regrettable that they cannot realize that this is a natural thing, because it would help young people a great deal to do so.

As I want to keep our sixth day, Saturday, for a summing up, I am going to mention here the fifth aspect of adolescence which parents need to understand.

This fifth quality is one which outwardly shows itself in the know-it-all attitude and sometimes in selfishness—in the preening and "exhibitionism," to use a hard worked word. What lies underneath this fifth quality is an intensely real thing: it is a new sense of himself as a person, soon to be grown up, which comes to the adolescent boy or girl. To quote one authority: "It is a new sense of personal awareness." To quote another "with the increasing growth characteristic at this time, with the partly conscious partly unconscious feeling that something new has come into his life, the young adolescent is tremendously conscious of self and in quite a new way." This emphasis of self—or ego of you like the word—is the fifth quality normal for adolescence.

The preceding and following articles on adolescence are being incorporated in a booklet which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

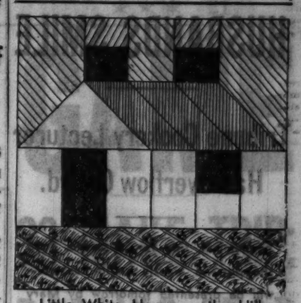
Ancient Pattern Outlines House in Unique Quilt



Little White House on the Hill.

BY NANCY CABOT.

You've been wanting something unusual in pieced quilts. Here's the answer. This cunning design that outlines a simple little white house quite clearly an old one, and originals of it are highly prized by their fortunate owners. It is not at all difficult for the quilter of average skill.

For a quilt pattern in this design send 5 cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, the Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

TELLS OF FOODS THAT WILL MAKE HUSBANDS SMILE

Tribune Cookery Lecturer Has Overflow Crowd.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 11:10 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The kind of food a man likes occupied a prominent place yesterday on the cooking program of Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood, who is conducting THE TRIBUNE school of cookery at the Aragon ballroom, 1100 Lawrence avenue. When more than 5,000 north side housewives surged out of the ballroom into the snappy November twilight they went with a dinner menu in mind that would please the most critical of husbands.

Again, as on Tuesday, the ballroom filled rapidly when the doors opened at 10 a. m. When the hour of entertainment began at 12:30 preceding Mrs. Chitwood's lecture, an overflow waited outside. Within, every balcony was filled and extra chairs lined the walls. The school will have two more sessions, today and tomorrow, closing with the awarding of grand prizes.

Each Wife Makes Selections.

Housewives made mental notes, selecting the recipes that might appeal to the men of their respective families, as Mrs. Chitwood mixed dish after dish.

"You know what I'm going to fix if I get home soon enough?" one housewife was overheard to say to her neighbor who was busily scribbling down recipes. "I'm going to make the baked lamb chop dish with tomato gravy, the old fashioned cabbage salad, the special baked potato, and, for dessert, butterscotch pie."

"I can hardly wait to make the stuffed onion salad," from the neighbor. "Whoever heard of a stuffed onion salad?"

But Mrs. Chitwood had. She combined the cooked onions from which the centers had been removed, with cooked, diced beets, carrots, navy beans, and salt, well mixed with French dressing.

Cabbage Fit for a King.

The old fashioned cabbage salad was nothing more or less than cabbage combined with cooked salad dressing, pimento and watercress, but, prepared by Mrs. Chitwood, it was a dish fit for a king. The same was true of the German potato salad, a combination of cooked potatoes, celery, onions, chopped fine, vinegar, salt and pepper and pimientos.

The lamb chops she placed in a biscuit pan, seared in a hot oven, and sprinkled with salt and pepper. To this she added canned tomato soup and baked until the chops were cooked through. She served this with toast.

Frank Bennett, with Cathryn Bennett at the piano, conducted community singing. Next came a brief concert by the Lawson Y. M. C. A. Glee club. Tony D'Orazi, cartoonist of the air, W-G-N; Phil Harris, screen and radio star, with Leah Ray, singer, both from the College inn of the Hotel Sherman, and dancers from the Murray Browne Dance studio, and Lawrence Gray of the "Sailor, Beware" cast at the Selwyn, were others to appear. Lois Grider during the intermission sang Cadman's "Moon Behind the Cottonwood" and Ball's "In the Garden of My Heart," with Ernau Akely at the piano.

The home method of using a lobster thermidor was demonstrated by Ernest Amiet, executive chef at the Palmer house.

Scalawags Appear Today.

The program today will include community singing led by Carl Craven, with Allan Grant at the piano. Quin Ryan will make an appearance with "Uncle Quin's Scalawags," a W-G-N feature, and Russ Russell, W-G-N staff announcer. Stars from the showboat Dixiana will present excerpts from "No Mother to Guide Her," and the Gladys Hight school of dancing will entertain. An added feature today will be a quartet from the Metropolitan Concert company.

The quartet is composed of William Davies, tenor and director; Ruth Dennen, soprano; Virginia Auyer, contralto, and Carroll Van Buskirk, baritone. Marie Adolph is the accompanist.

Following the intermission Edwin Kemp, tenor and opera star, will sing. Camil Virla, executive chef of Hotel Sherman, will give the visiting food expert's demonstration, and Nellie Snavely, director of home economics of R. Cooper Jr., Inc., will speak.

Scalawags at Cooking School Today

HARMFUL EYEBROW DYES PROHIBITED BY NEW YORK CITY

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Health Commissioner Shirley W. Wynne announced today that the board of health has amended section 128 of the sanitary code so as to prohibit in New York City the manufacture, sale, or use of eyebrow and eyelash dyes containing harmful ingredients.

This action, which anticipates steps now being taken by the federal government to amend the food and drug act, and which is the first of its kind to be taken by any city in the United States, is the result, Commissioner Wynne explained, of a series of eye maladies resulting from the use of such dyes in various sections of the country.

In all, he disclosed, seventeen women and young girls in New York are known to be suffering from such maladies, and one of them is threatened with blindness.

Shortage in County Funds, Ask Ouster of Treasurer

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Ouster proceedings against F. Price Smith, Woodbury county treasurer, will be filed Wednesday because of a $1,750 shortage in his office, County Attorney Max Duckworth said after a conference with state officials and the board of supervisors. Duckworth said he would take no removal action against John Milton Jr., deputy and personal tax collector, because the treasurer had already revoked his appointment.

PLANS TO TRY SLAYERS.

Sullivan, Ind., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Judge Martin Piggs said today an effort would be made to clear the Circuit court docket of other cases and try persons indicted for the murders of Andrew Reedy and his son, Oral, farmers living near Hymera.

Little Change in Condition of Maureen O'Sullivan

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Little change was reported today in the condition of Maureen O'Sullivan, Irish screen player, who is crtically ill in a Hollywood hospital as a result of an acute attack of appendicitis. Peritonitis developed after the operation.

SCOTTISH CATTLE EXPERT SAILS FOR STOCK SHOW HERE

Walter Biggar, noted international authority on beef cattle, whose farm is located at Dalbeattle, Scotland, sailed yesterday from Liverpool en route to the International Live Stock exposition which opens in Chicago the Saturday following Thanksgiving.

Biggar wired B. H. Heide, manager of the international show, that he would be in Chicago in time for a dinner to be given in his honor by the directors of the famous stock show on Thanksgiving day. Biggar has selected the grand champion fat steer of the International each year since 1927, also naming the world champions here in 1924 and 1925.

Three other judges in the list of forty-eight who will place ribbons, trophies, and more than $100,000 in cash prizes on the best animals in the stock show, are also coming from foreign countries. Jorge Pereda of Buenos Aires, Argentina, who will pick the champion Hereford cattle, is sailing for the United States this week. Two Canadian judges, John Miller of Ashburn, Ontario, and H. Noel Gibson of Komoka, Ontario, will arrive next week, they have advised Mr. Heide.

Lady Astor's Son-in-Law Is Elected to Parliament

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Lady Astor's son-in-law, Lord Willoughby de Eresby, was elected to parliament by a narrow majority today in the safely Conservative Rutland and Stamford division. He will be the first son-in-law to enter the same parliament with his mother-in-law, and, as both are Conservatives, they probably will sit together in the government benches. The election figures were a jolt for the government, whose majority of 11,640 at the general election shrank to 1,787 today.

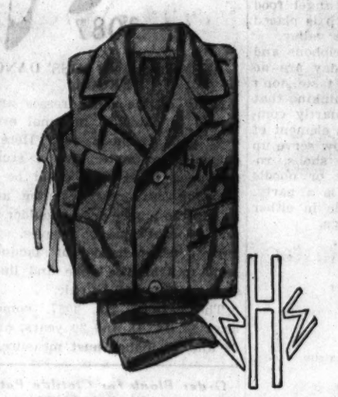
Handkerchiefs of imported linen have hand-rolled hems—corded borders. Choice of eight different styles of monogramming that we'll do in white, black or colors. Priced at 2 for $1, including monogramming.



Silk Pajamas with a self pattern—Don't take time out to turn these over in your mind. We men like them and particularly with the notched collar as you see them here. In blue and white—in a choice of three styles of monogramming. Like everything else presented here, these pajamas are unusual at their price. $6.

Silk Shorts with a monogram on the waistband aren't found on every gift list, but if you are not content with giving the usual things, by all means give serious thought to these and not alone because they are silk, but for their tailoring, comfort and good looks. Choice of three monograms. Priced at $1.95.

Braces are something to give this year without qualms or misgivings. You'll find these gathered under the heading of what's new as well as smart in men's accessories. These shown here qualify on both counts with monograms thrown in for good measure, $1.50.

White Broadcloth Shirts Monogrammed to Order

3 for $5.50

Don't sneer at the idea of suggesting shirts. There are few among us whose shirt supply has ever reached the point where we can come out and say "don't send shirts." In any event, shirts like these at least are never turned down and the reasons aren't difficult to find. You see them in the quality of the smooth-finished broadcloth, the well shaped collar of the collar attached shirt and the nicely finished cuffs and well tailored appearance of the shirts without collars. There are seven styles of monogramming to select from. 3 for $5.50.

Silk Mufflers—These are our "first nighters," of Italian silk crepe with shadow stripe border. Don't let the name we've given them mislead you as to when they are to be worn. Day or evening, they are well thought of at either time. Choice of four styles of monogramming. $2.50.

DARTMOUTH PICKS SQUAD FOR CHICAGO GAME

FANS: DON'T BE ASTONISHED IF CUBS GET HAFEY

Old Pre-Deal Denial Is Out.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

"——and now, Mr. Walker, and Mr. Seys and Mr. Weber, what have you to say of the Cubs' purchase of Chick Hafey?"

CHICK HAFEY.

In case you don't know, Mr. Walker, Mr. Seys and Mr. Weber all are officials of the Cubs and as merry a little trio of deny-ers as ever looked an interviewer straight in the eye.

The foregoing question was addressed to the trio yesterday by a young man who always is getting Diogenes confused with Ananias, and, en route to the library to look up the matter, decided to stop in at the Cub offices in the Wrigley building.

That "No, No" Chorus.

There was a pause after the question had been addressed to the trio. Then Mr. Walker tapped a baton on his desk. As the Cub acting president counted off the beat the trio boomed out, in perfect unison:

"There has been no deal for Hafey, cross our hearts and hope to die if there has been!"

So you can put it down in your loose leaf notebook that the Cubs won't get Hafey. On the day the Cubs announce the purchase of Hafey it will be a simple matter to remove the loose leaf.

The visitor, who always has believed everything that baseball magnates say, accepted the choral reply at face value, and said:

"It's probably just as well that you haven't bought Chick. In addition to being half blind, he is reported to have horrible miseries in his stomach, incurable bunions, water on the knee, and warts."

Mr. Seys Breaks Out.

At this Mr. Walker again tapped with his baton, but Mr. Seys was out of control. "All those ailments have been fixed up," says Mr. Seys with great spirit. "I personally have investigated and find that during the last half of last season he enjoyed the best health of his life. Outside of an occasional little touch of sinus trouble, he's in perfect shape.

"Hafey unquestionably is one of the greatest right handed hitters in baseball and there never was a man who could outthrow him. He's got a lot of speed in the field and on the bases and on top of all this is a fine gentleman who would be an asset to any club."

Mr. Walker was the next to take the rostrum. "When I said a little while ago that no deal has been closed for Hafey and that none is pending, I meant just that. But mind you I'm not staking my reputation for veracity on anything that might in the future develop out of a clear sky.

"I would buy Hafey," continued Mr. Walker. "But the deal has to be right and no Santa Claus transaction. The reported idea that we are going to give up Cuyler and Malone for Hafey is a big laugh. Ha! Ha!"

How About Bill Herman?

Acting President Walker said he hadn't even been approached on the rumored deal which had Bill Herman going to Pittsburgh for First Baseman Gus Suhr.

"Manager Charley Grimm advises me that all his ailments have disappeared and that he doubts that Adolfo Camilli will be able to beat him out of the first base job," said Mr. Walker.

The visitor then went on to the library. It seems that Diogenes was the one who went around with a lantern.

MOTHER REGRETS TRADE.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Klein is a bit regretful that her son, Chuck, is to play baseball next year with the Chicago Cubs rather than the Phillies. But she is glad of the opportunity that she believes he will have in Chicago.

Mrs. Klein read the stories of her son's trade to the Cubs and said:

"I like Philadelphia, but I do believe he will have a greater opportunity in Chicago."

Chuck left this city yesterday shortly before his trade was announced. He started on a hunting trip in the Kentucky hill country with Frank Pearce, a Philly player.

KLEIN IS PLEASED.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Chuck Klein, sold by the Phillies to the Chicago Cubs, came to Louisville today to lay in a supply of new bats with which he hopes to justify the faith of his new owners next season.

"I can't say just how pleased I am going to be with the transfer until I get a squint at the Chicago contract," Klein said. "The contract will not be sent me until around the first of the year.

"I'll play the very best ball I can for the Cubs, though, and hope that they will not have cause to regret the deal."

He said the Phillies organization had been "kind and considerate," but that he thought the transfer to the Cubs would give him a better chance to participate in next year's world series.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

NOBLE KIZER has been invited to take an all-star eastern football team to Los Angeles for a game on Christmas day with a group of all stars. . . . Tom Lieb of Loyola or Bill Spaulding of the University of California at Los Angeles will coach the western eleven. . . . Charlie Pyle has suffered a paralytic stroke. . . . Jess Hawley, who coached the Dartmouth team that defeated Chicago in 1925, has been scouting the Maroons this season. . . . He retired from coaching in 1928. . . . Jack Beynon, Illinois quarter back, resents his selection as the most handsome man on the campus. . . . He says it's just an advertising stunt by a photographer. . . . Gil Berry was chosen last year and he is now in the movies.

Moore, Iowa center, made Coach Solem wonder if he had his mind on the game when he came galloping to the sidelines after the first half of the Purdue-Iowa game and said: "Coach, I'm hungry. When do we get something to eat?" . . . He had his fill on the special diner provided for the Iowa boys when they traveled out of Lafayette after the game. . . . Already a winter race track jockey is coming to the front. His name is Herbert Simmons and he is breaking into the spotlight at Tanforan. . . . Gus Dorais of Detroit, who is reported to be in line for Sam Willaman's job at Ohio State, declined the position after Jack Wilce resigned. . . . One of the most valuable assistant coaches in the conference whose name seldom gets into print is Mal Elward of Purdue.

The total attendance at Northwestern games this fall will approximate 240,000. . . . This is about 15,000 more than saw the Wildcats last year, which isn't bad when you consider they have won only one game. . . . Walter Okeson, chief of the eastern college officials, has notified his hirelings that starting next year they will not be permitted to work in professional games. . . . The Big Ten always has had such a restriction. . . . Phoenix, Ariz., wants to send a team to the Chicago Golden Gloves tournament. . . . Bill Chandler, Marquette basketball coach, is glad the football season is over. . . . Eight gridiron men have joined his cage squad, which plays Northwestern on Dec. 12.

Tom Fontaine, Wisconsin half back, saved his best performance of the season for the Ohio State game, probably because his home town is Akron, O. . . . The brief bout between Paul Thompson of the Blackhawks and Scotty Bowman of the Ottawa Senators Sunday night must have been well meant, for both removed their heavily padded gloves. . . . That usually means something. . . . Among other things that King Levinsky's board of managers insist upon hen they sign for a fight is a contract calling for a return bout within 30 days in case the King runs second. . . . Ed Cullen, who will be quarter back on the Chicago team that plays Dartmouth, was a member of the Dartmouth freshman team four years ago. . . . When Jim Londos retires from wrestling he wants to enter an eastern university, preferably Cornell.

Maywood fans are strong for Andy Pilney. . . . After he defeated Northwestern with that touchdown run Saturday his uncle, who runs a tavern in Maywood, was host to the villagers. . . . How about a toast to Brancheau and Mazziotti whose blocking Pilney says made his touchdown possible. . . . Dick Voliva, smallest guard on the Indiana squad, is a member of the school's national championship wrestling team. . . . Gar Davidson of the undefeated Army eleven is probably the lowest paid coach in college football. . . . He receives only a second lieutenant's salary. . . . There are 14 full time employés on the Michigan coaching staff. . . . Al Wesson, publicity chief at the University of Southern California, came on ahead of the football team to furnish newspapers with data on the Trojans who play Notre Dame Saturday. . . .

Babe Didrikson, my old ping pong rival, will arrive in Muscatine, Ia., today to join a professional basketball team handled by Ray Doan. . . . If the rules makers want to give football more scoring opportunities all they need do is to take the restrictions off the back field shift. . . . Professional teams outside New York are yelping fiercely about Benny Friedman's refusal to play with the Dodgers on the road. . . . Benny, it seems, is the team's drawing card.

The Catholic Youth organization expects a full house at its boxing finals in the Stadium Dec. 1. . . . More than 14,000 tickets already have been distributed.

LONDOS' AERIAL ATTACK SCORES OVER M'MILLEN

12,000 See Old Master Win at Stadium.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

A reverent hush fell over the Chicago Stadium last night at 9:45 o'clock. There had been much ribald shouting for an hour and more before that fateful moment. Then a little man, with a chassis resembling those in the physical culture ads inspiring hope in the chicken breasted frames of the puny, came into the ring, and all was still. It was James Londos, the master himself, come back to his public after an absence of four long months.

JIM LONDOS.

Within less than an hour James proved to 12,134 of the faithful that he is still the master. He demonstrated this personally to another James, McMillen by name, within 54 minutes and one second, and with no less than his own copyrighted airplane spin, although they did him wrong by calling it a reverse body lock, which is a very garden variety sort of grip.

Boy, Was It Gorgeous?

James the master gave his all last night. Aside from the favored aviation hold, he included in his routine the famed escape from a head scissors, the rowing sequence, and he also brought along his bicycle with a dandy new coaster brake which served him well in the early portion of the performance when McMillen sought to stretch him out with his own little kink, the flying tackle.

Although outplayed through the air, McMillen more than held his own in the line, and matched the champion in first downs. A first down in wrestling consists in hurling the other half of the act among the customers. Londos counted his first one by tossing McMillen into the south press row. The authors in the north trench resented this as favoritism, and set up such a clamor that James obliged them within the next ten seconds by depositing McMillen in their laps.

All in all it was a decided social, artistic, not to say financial triumph. Maestro Joseph Foley gladly admitted the 12,134 who came to see the king's homecoming paid $17,014.30 for the privilege.

Shikat Gets a Draw.

An interesting prelude to the main entertainment of the evening was the business involving Richard Shikat, once a gob in the kaiser's navy, and George Zaharias, the Colorado crooner. Richard has been a member of all the wrestling parties, including the Republican, hard times, left wing, right wing, and goalie.

Despite the objections of the Londos bloc, he was admitted to membership, and the Londos people sic'ed Zaharias, as their outstanding bad boy, on him. Much to the customers' chagrin, it was ruled a draw.

The sound effects in the opening novelty were so faulty as to remind one of the old silent shows, but direction and staging were all that could be desired, and Dr. Karl Sarpolis, one of the principals, introduced at least one quaint touch. While mangling one leg of his partner, Thomas Marvin, he was pouring his own heel into Marvin's ear. Their act went the full 20 minutes and Referee Thiry decided that the doctor had outlicked and outslapped Marvin.

Among the Souvenirs.

Everett Marshall, the earnest Colorado blonde, put up with about 10 minutes of abuse from Frank Speers, late of Georgia Tech. Then he reached down and brought up one that he had made up all by himself one night while waiting for a train. It is called the two arm hold and completed the business in 11:05.

Ray Steele, rated an even more able practitioner than Marshall, drew one of the problems of the evening in Dutch Hefner, 225 pounds of ornery Texas blubber, who had been reported to be taking secret lessons from Zaharias. He was too much for Dutch, who finally resigned to a body slam in 18:41.

Weep No More, My Laddie; It's All Over Now Until '36

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—Of all the beautiful nonsense with which the mucky human race at times endeavors to assure itself that henceforth it is going straight, with love, not larceny, in its great, big, noble heart, the most pathetic demonstration that I have ever witnessed was that with which the athletes of all the more or less civilized nations closed the Olympic games in Los Angeles a year ago last August.

There were more than 100,000 spectators in the huge amphitheater and thousands of competitors, wearing the Olympic uniforms of their respective countries, had paraded to receive their awards and had remained upon the field to fuse their fine, clean, chivalrous spirits into one great lump of brotherly love. They were about the finest result yet produced, body and spirit considered, in the long and discouraging series of experiments by which it is the hope of mankind to produce some day a decent race.

If You Have Tears.

It is no confession for me to say that my own emotions took off and carried me up to quite a height while the ceremonies were going on. Any newspaper man who could have sat through those doings without partaking of the spirit of the hour and blinking an eye should have had his ticket taken up because a reporter should be able not only to see and hear the story which is taking place before him but to sense the feel of it, too.

At the moment when the guard of honor was carrying the olympic flag slowly around the field as reverently, I tell you, as though it had been the true pall of the Savior, and heading toward the exit tunnel, people were crying all over the place. If I let any tears they were not, however, for the solemn beauty of the moment, but for an unfortunate practical realization that it didn't mean a thing and that some nasty little fist fight in a border saloon or a squabble between politicians over the interest on some bonds could set those beautiful young men to knifing one another any day. It was one of those magnificent moments which mark the contrast between the potential glories of civilized people and their general average conduct.

They had 2,500 young men and women, Southern Californians, the most magnificent breed of young people that I have ever seen, sitting in a block at the north end of the stadium singing sentimental songs. At the close they sang the farewell song of the Hawaiians, Aloha. I had read some stories about the Hawaiians in their original, innocent state, an affectionate, charming people whom the U. S. A. just arbitrarily took over as though they had been so many pigs. This song, Aloha, is a weeper, anyway, even when sung by an eastern shore African in a New York speakeasy, but when these 2,500 young Californians poured it out, soft and gentle over the 100,000 spectators and the athletes, "Farewell to Thee, Farewell to Thee," it tore your heart out and waved the gory roots around.

As they sang this song, "Farewell to Thee," and people all over, including some of the athletes and officials, wiped their eyes and the bearers finally vanished into the tunnel with the flag of world friendship, the Olympic flame, a brave, gay blaze which had been burning in a big concrete dish atop the arch throughout the games began to sink into the plate. Slowly it died down until with a puff of black smoke it disappeared. A bugler, somewhere, sounded taps and then voices, very soft now, sang again, Aloha, Farewell to Thee.

Crowding the Hero Bench.

In my own story, I remember, I saved myself. I did not let go, after all. I wrote not that the Olympic flame died low and lower into the dusk, but just that somewhere downstairs in the engine room someone had turned out the gas, which was absolutely true. This was no spiritual flame at all. It was a gas company flame and now that the show was over the athletes were going home to become citizens again.

I was right, too, unfortunately. By this time, some of the Japanese athletes have marched and died in China and Jehol and of the Germans some have marched with Hitler and flogged the Jews. Of the Americans, possibly, some have lynched a colored man. I called the turn, but I wish I had been wrong.

Foundry Job Prepares Klein for Great Slugging Feats

[This is the first of a series of sketches on Chuck Klein, slugging outfielder, purchased Tuesday by the Cubs from Philadelphia.]

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Charles Herbert Klein was born Oct. 7, 1905, near Silver Nook, Ind., near Southport, which is about ten miles from Indianapolis. There were two brothers on the scene when Charles Herbert arrived, and another one, the baby, Ed, joined the Klein family circle a bit later.

CHUCK KLEIN.

All the Klein boys were and are husky. All found early in life that baseball is a swell game, though the four boys didn't agree as to which is the most delightful position. Chuck at first was a pitcher. One of the brothers was a catcher, and another an infielder. The fourth was a fairly good pitcher during his school days, though not as good as Chuck.

Chuck is the only one of the four rugged Kleins who went into organized baseball. The other three are following other business pursuits in Indianapolis. Two of the brothers—Art and Ed—have won a degree of athletic fame as bowlers. Indianapolis is quite a bowling town, and when Chuck isn't out hunting he and brothers Art and Ed frequently are to be seen in the winter time knocking over the pins. Each is rated as a steady performer in the 200 flight.

He Was Apollo Among Prep Stars.

Chuck is a bachelor. Some historians say he never has paid much attention to the gals. They say he'd rather sit around and play bridge. His neighbors in Indianapolis say this isn't true. Chuck isn't foolish over the fairer sex, but he knows beauty when he sees it.

Chuck went to Southport High. He was a member of the baseball, basketball, and football teams there and was a star at track. It was dressed in his track suit that he could best display his great physique. A lot of the girls at Southport High referred to him as an Apollo.

You would think that this would have spoiled Chuck early in life—getting so much admiration for his appearance and prowess. But today he is described everywhere as the most modest star in baseball.

After Chuck got out of Southport High he at first thought the best way to cash in on his mucular development was to get a job in a foundry. He found employment in a small establishment in the south end of Indianapolis.

He Had to Hold on Tight.

It so happened that much of Klein's work called for handling hot objects with tongs. His grip just had to be good. In this way he developed the remarkable forearms and wrists which have played such a great part in his career as a slugger.

He did not lose interest in baseball after going to work in the foundry and on Sundays picked up a few bucks with the Silver Nook Independents. He progressed later to a contract with the Indianapolis Keystones, a semi-pro outfit which played weekend games.

From his semi-pro activities in Indianapolis Chuck went to Evansville, where, in August, 1927, he entered organized ball, signing with the Three Eyes league team of that city.

With Evansville Chuck showed them he could hit a bit, though his records do not appear in the official archives of the league. He played in 13 games, went to bat 49 times, and made 16 hits, two of which were homers. His mark was .327 when he had to give up for 1927 because of injuries.

Chuck had been no gazelle in the outfield for Evansville and there were

LOUGHRAN, HURT IN SIXTH, WHIPS IMPELLITTIERE

Phelan Overrules Referee Who Stops Bout.

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The master boxer of the big fellows, Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, added another gem to his long victory string tonight as he outpointed Ray Impellittiere, newest giant fighter, after a fidgety referee had almost waved him out of the ring with a technical knockout defeat in the sixth round.

TOMMY LOUGHRAN.

New York rings haven't seen in years the sight to which a crowd of 6,000 was treated in the Coliseum, far up in the Bronx, as Loughran, in complete command up to the sixth round, suddenly ran into a right uppercut that tore a deep gash in the left corner of his mouth.

Referee Stops Contest.

Loughran staggered back as blood poured from the wound and streamed down his chest. Instantly Referee Pete Hartley, once a welterweight, stepped in, peered at the wound, and lifted his arms like a football official signalling a touchdown. The signal meant that Loughran had ben stopped by the 255½ pound boxer who was waging his first major battle.

Impellittiere, only 24 years old but 6 feet 7½ inches tall, promptly went to his corner and sat down as the crowd howled hysterically. Hartley mopped his face with his handkerchief, and Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York Athletic commission fought his way to the ringside. Loughran saw him coming and desisted in his efforts to get at Impellittiere on the stool. He raced to the ropes and yelled his pleas to the commissioner.

And the Fight Goes On.

Phelan was in complete accord. As soon as he could lift his voice high enough above the clamor to reach Hartley's ears, he ordered the bout continued. Hartley summoned Impellittiere from his chair as the giant's managers protested bitterly. But the fight went on.

No one about the ringside could ever remember a similar instance of a commissioner overruling a referee, but that made no difference to Loughran. Fighting as brilliantly as at any time in his career, Loughran never stopped punching from that moment on and won the unanimous decision of the judges and referee at the end of the ten rounds.

Hartley gave Tommy six rounds, Impellittiere two and called two even. One judge scored it exactly the same way while the other, although he scored five for each, voted Loughran an edge over the full distance.

GAMAGE QUITS AS COACH AT U. OF KENTUCKY

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Harry Gamage, football coach at the University of Kentucky, submitted his resignation to the athletic council today and it was accepted.

Gamage's five year contract expires July 1. His salary will be paid until then, provided he does not sign another coaching contract in the interim.

Beyond intimating that he intended to retire entirely from coaching Gamage made no comment on the resignation. Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, chairman of the athletic council, appointed a committee to consider a successor.

Maj. Ralph Sasse, former Army coach, and Paul Jenkins, Kentucky alumnus and coach of Ashland High school's state championship football team, are most prominently mentioned for the place.

Kentucky's team has been comparatively unsuccessful this year. The high points of the season were a 7 to 6 defeat of Georgia Tech and the holding of Duke to a one touchdown victory.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

SILVER FOOTBALL.

MEMBERS of conference football varsity squads soon will name the players who, they consider, have been of greatest value to their respective teams. From the list of ten so chosen will be picked the Big Ten player of greatest value to his team for 1933. This winner will receive THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Silver Football, sterling silver, actual size, mounted on an ebony base. To each of the ten players named will be awarded a white gold football, watch fob size.

The Wake urges members of conference elevens to consider their choice carefully. They know better than any one else the boy who has been of greatest value to them. It is essential their choice be on that basis and not with the thought of "honoring" some chap whom they like, as sometimes has happened in election of captains.

Since the plan was adopted in 1930 of having the players select the field from which the board of award of 23 members votes for a final choice, boys chosen have been, with possibly one or two exceptions, those deserving such honor. The players have been as anxious as coaches and other members of the board that this award be the most significant of conference football.

In one instance suspicion was voiced in other schools that the choice was an "honorary" selection and that another player was more deserving. If so, the action defeated itself. This player received only one vote by the board of award.

With such keen competition and with such a wide field from which to choose, it is necessary for every college to present its very strongest candidate from the viewpoint of ability, leadership, self-sacrifice and sportsmanship in order that he may have a chance for the Silver Football, an honor both to the player and to the college which he represents.

For those reasons players should give careful thought to their selections, just as serious as the board of award gives to determining the final winner. The Wake believes this is being done in nearly all instances. It is the keynote of the present system of determining the award. If any genuine doubt ever arose as to sincerity, the conditions, of course, would revert to the old method which had only one objection—that sometimes there were two candidates from one college, thus weakening the chances of each.

Around The Big Ten—Chicago.

Words cannot tell the epic feats
The Midway's sod has known;
The undergraduate repeats
In awed and rev'rent tone
The names of Steffen, Eckersall,
Des Jardien, Thomas, Page.
Alumni everywhere recall
How Crisler held the stage,
How hardy foemen quailed before
McCarty's smashing gains
Of 5 yards, 10 yards, 12 and more.
A new hand grasps the reins
The "Old Man" held for 40 years;
New stalwarts wear the "C."
But constant are Chicago's cheers,
Defeat or victory
Can never change the boundless pride
Of those who line the field,
For history has glorified
Chicago's burnished shield.

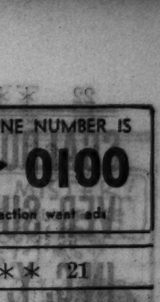
33 MAKE TRIP; PASSING STAR REJOINS TEAM

Back Field at Full Power for Maroons.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The Dartmouth football team was out in full force to drill for the Chicago game today, and at the close of practice Capt. Phil Glazer touched a match to a dummy, observing the traditional rite that football was over at Memorial field for another season.



PHIL GLAZER.

George Stangle, Dartmouth's injured quarter back, reported today, but worked out with the first team only a short while. Then Sammy Fishman and Norman Rand took over the signal calling duties for the remainder of the afternoon.

Much attention was given to placement goal kicking. Roald Morton, Bob Michelet, and Don Hagerman were all instructed by Coach Swede Youngstrom in this department, the ball being moved back gradually until this trio was putting the ball over on 40 yard kicks.

The squad left for Chicago tonight and will arrive there Friday morning.

Look Out Maroons!

Followers of the Green and the players themselves believe the 7 to 0 defeat by Cornell last Saturday was the result of staleness and for that reason Coach Cannell reduced the intensity of all of this week's workouts. As a result, every player on the squad appears to be at the peak of condition for the battle on the Midway at Chicago.

Facing Harvard, Yale and Princeton in order kept the Indians keyed up for too many week-ends and their showing against Cornell, especially their blocking and tackling, was far below that of some of the season's earlier games.

You may take the word of Harry Hillman, veteran Dartmouth trainer, that the players chosen for the invasion of the middle west are ready to battle from the opening whistle to the closing gun.

Backfield Is Intact.

With both Bill Clark and Jack Hill ready for duty, the Dartmouth backfield will have its full strength for the first time since early in October.

Dartmouth has several challengers to Jay Berwanger's title of "iron man." Moe Frankel, giant center played 60 minutes against Cornell to join the roster of stars who can take it and keep taking it for a full afternoon. Frankel has become a specialist at recovering opponents' fumbles. He performed that valuable feat in every game this year except the one with Harvard.

The trip will mark Dartmouth's fifth jaunt to the environs of Chicago. The Chicago A. C. was met in 1894 and 1898, Chicago in 1925, and Northwestern in 1928. Thirty-three men were picked to make the trip. They are:

ENDS—Dick Carpenter, Elbert Camp, Dick Wells, Bill Embry, Earl Arthurs, and Bill Mack.

TACKLES—Capt. Phil Glazer, Don Erion, Phil Conothan, Don Hagerman, and Red O'Hare.

GUARDS—Bob Michelet, Ray Hulsart, Bob Sweeney, Irvine Silverman, Bob Lapidus, and Myron Ritter.

CENTERS—Moe Frankel, Herb Stearns, and Aldis Butler.

QUARTER BACKS—George Stangle, Norman Rand, Sammy Fishman, and Gene Burnkrant.

HALF BACKS—Jack Kenny, Roald Morton, Bill Clark, Jack Hill, Wilbur Powers, and Bob Bennett.

FULL BACKS — Harry Deckert, Dave Hedges, and Rudy Pacht.

SCOUTS WARN MAROONS.

The University of Chicago football squad took time out yesterday to hear Maroon scouts describe Dartmouth as the heaviest team in the east, with the best defensive line—a team capable of playing brilliant football when aroused. They also heard that the Green team, stung by a series of close defeats, including last week's 7 to 0 upset at the hands of Cornell, will be duly aroused when they face Chicago at Stagg field Saturday.

Then the Maroons heard that Jack Hill, Dartmouth back field star, who was injured early in the season, will be ready this week to add his punch behind that big line, and also that the passing combination, Deckert to Stangle, is almost as potent as the Dartmouth combination which breezed up and down Stagg field in 1925.

Maroons Are Aroused, Too.

After all this the Maroons, who are themselves no little aggravated by recent close defeats, betook themselves to the field for a strenuous scrimmage, which was mostly on offense.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy likely will use the same style of attack which gained so much ground against Illinois, namely line plunges, and sweeps, and short and long passes.

Another development yesterday was the appearance of Bill Berg, a senior, at full back. Berg played guard as a sophomore and end as a junior.

The homecoming aspect of Saturday's game, late in developing, was proceeding smoothly yesterday, with plans completed for a dance at Ida Noyes hall tomorrow night, fraternity decorations, and a tea and other festivities at the Reynolds club following the game.

SHAMROCKS BEAT HIGHLAND PARK ELEVEN, 3 TO 0

The Chicago Shamrocks professional eleven defeated the Highland Park team, 3 to 0, before a capacity crowd last night in the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue. McWilliams kicked a field goal from the 26 yard line in the third quarter for the only points of the game.

Pug Rentner, former Northwestern star, was the leading ground gainer for the losers, who advanced to the Shamrocks' 9 yard line in the first quarter.

Wallace and Haberski Box onRainboCard

Five boxing matches and a wrestling bout will comprise the professional card tomorrow night at the Rainbo fronton. Negotiations for a six round windup between John Liston and Bill O'Connell were dropped when O'Connell was stopped by Frank Misko here Tuesday. Johnny Coulon is seeking a contest to replace it.

George Haberski, local 128 pound boxer, and Sammy Wallace, California Negro, meet in a five round affair. Art Donovan, Al Schiarato and Robin Shrosbee have signed to appear in four round bouts against opponents yet to be selected.

The show scheduled at the Coliseum annex Monday, was canceled yesterday when Al Sweeney, matchmaker, couldn't obtain a suitable main event. The next date at the Coliseum is Dec. 4.

Champion Barney Ross started workouts yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium for his nontitle contest with Billy Petrolle at New York Dec. 6. He will begin sparring tomorrow.

Frank Misko boxes Bob Groshek and Tony Bruno, Milwaukee, faces Ray Tramblie in two matches at eight rounds at Milwaukee next Thursday. Eddie Black, Milwaukee, and Charlie Crocker, Iron Mountain, Mich., meet in a six round bout.

Freddy Miller, featherweight champion, is to head the show next Wednesday at Arcadia Garden. He may oppose Kid Irish. . . . Davey Day, lightweight, will make his next appearance at New York Dec. 6. . . . Bill Reardon, 135 pound boxer, has been retired by his co-managers, Sam Pian and Art Winch. . . . George Neron, Greek heavyweight, took a workout yesterday at Kid Howard's gymnasium.

Bob Groshek has signed to meet Chief Miller, Iron Mountain middleweight, at Green Bay, Wis., Dec. 12, and Young Jack Gibbons of St. Paul, Minn., at Sioux City, Ia., Dec. 18. . . . Puggy Weinert yesterday repudiated his agreement to box Dick Sisk at Cicero stadium Dec. 1, forcing the matchmaker, Edward Purvis, to seek a new windup. He is attempting to close one between Kid Leonard and Solly Dukelesky.

Oscar O'Hanion, Waukegan, Ill., bantamweight, who has been boxing professionally in St. Louis, Mo., as Terry O'Hanion, is home for Thanksgiving. . . . Charlie Young is paired with Frank Ketter at Marigold Garden Monday. Billy Gladstone and Chuck Reed meet on the card.

Salvatore Ruggirello, eastern heavyweight, probably will face King Levinsky at Milwaukee Dec. 8. . . . Ten contests are being arranged for the opening amatuer show at Lawndale gymnasium next Wednesday. F. M.

Miss Basler, Mrs. Hammond Reach Ping-Pong Final

Miss Flossie Basler, defending champion, and Mrs. R. G. Hammond of Highland Park reached the final round for the Chicago district women's singles championship in the annual tournament of the Western Ping Pong association, at 222 South Wabash avenue last night. They will meet for the title tomorrow night. More than 100 will begin play for the men's singles championship tonight.

Half Backs Must Soon Be African Dodgers to Score

BY PAT DWYER.

It is part of the game to voice blatant disapproval of wrestlers and pugilists while they bounce about a ring; it is good form to jeer at baseball players, and the act of making bank shots with pop bottles off umpires' heads is considered good taste and well directed enthusiasm in some sectors. Umpires and referees in particular are public enemies, and fans believe they deserve what they receive. A pitcher who forces three runs across the plate to lose his own game is legitimate prey for disgruntled baseball bugs and no one thinks of coming to his rescue.

Football, however, seems a trifle different. The referees may be derided, of course, when they inflict penalties, but no one boos or hisses a player if he fails to catch a pass or is thrown for a loss, or if he misses an attempt for a field goal. This forbearance is gratifying to humanists. They believe that the dawn of mob tolerance is at hand, and after watching the behavior of football crowds over a period of years we were inclined to accept the belief—until an item of news came from Hamilton, N. Y.

The Festive Spirit Overcame One Fan.

Syracuse and Colgate played a football game at Hamilton last week. Three quarters had passed and the fourth quarter was wasting away, with Colgate still on the tail end of a 3 to 0 score. As usual, the fans had whooped and cheered, but no one had gone so far as to visit vocal or physical chastisement upon the players. It came to pass that Colgate eventually arrived with the ball at Syracuse's six yard line. It was third down and goal to go.

Upstate New York is peculiarly adapted to winter sports, and although Hamilton is perhaps 140 miles from Lake Placid as the crow flies (you'll have to check the crow for that: As a rule they are untrustworthy and permeated with deceit) one of the Syracuse fans caught the winter sport infection. He made a snowball, wound up, and delivered a fast curve.

Great Spot for an African Dodger.

It was not across the pan, but eventually wound up in the center's face. It hit his left arm as he was making ready to snap back the ball and burst in a cloud of snow, blinding him and causing him to pass wild.

Happily a Colgate man recovered the ball and Colgate finally won, but the police were not able to recover the winter sportsman who conceived the strategy for Syracuse.

If this is to be the start of a new practice, football players will do well to wear heavier headgear and celluloid spectacles, and when they run for touchdowns they may have to dodge eggs in October, water bugs in November, and snowballs in December.

NESTOR JOHNSON SEXTET MEETS BLUE RIBBONS

The fourth regularly scheduled league game in the Chicago Amateur Hockey association engages the Blue Ribbons and the Nestor Johnson sextet tonight at the Coliseum.

The two teams will be battling for second and third place. The winner will go into a tie for those places with the Baby Ruth sextet. The Butterfingers are in first place with two victories in as many games.

Bears Turn Collegiate; Bar Gate at Drill

George Halas, owner and coach of the Chicago Bears, has gone collegiate. He announced yesterday that all Bear practice sessions for the remainder of the week will be strictly private, a policy adopted by several Big Ten universities during the fall.

Halas, whose squad faces the Portsmouth Spartans at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon, ordered a two hour drill yesterday.

Halas made a personal inspection of Wrigley field before he ordered the boys to start work, fearing spies would be in the stands.

The reason for the lengthy private drills is that if the Bears are victorious Sunday afternoon they will clinch the western division championship of the National Professional Football league. If they gain the sectional title, they will qualify to meet the eastern division champion for the league crown.

Halas was pleased with the spirited workout. With the exception of George Corbett, who was injured against the Boston Redskins, every member of the Bears squad has participated in the last two drills. Corbett may be unable to play against the Spartans.

March Returns to Blackhawks' Lineup Tonight

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The Chicago Blackhawks arrived here from Boston today prepared to take the ice against the New York Americans at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. It will be the first appearance of the Chicago team in New York this season.

Manager Tommy Gorman, in commenting on the loss of the game in Boston, said: "It's a tough assignment to meet the Bruins in a hockey encounter anywhere, any time, with an intact team, but when you have two of your regulars out it's just too bad. It will be a different story next Sunday when we meet the Bruins at the Chicago Stadium, for Tommy Cook and Mush March will be back in the lineup. Cook has been 'poison' to the Bruins for years."

March, who had three stitches taken in his right eyelid after a collision in last Sunday's Ottawa-Hawks game, will play against the Americans tomorrow.

New York's ace goalie, Roy Worters, will not be in action. He is ill, and will be out of the game for at least two weeks. His place will be taken by Maurie Roberts, who was recalled from the Cleveland team of the International league.

The recalling of Roberts was made possible when the Hawks agreed to send Joe Starke, substitute goaltender, to the Cleveland sextet. Starke will return to the Hawks as soon as Worters recovers.

Manager Gorman also announced that the deal with Wichita involving Tom Coulter and Helge Bostrom, which stipulated that the two must be played together on a defense line, had been rejected by the Wichita club, who said they could not use Coulter. The Oklahoma City team of the American association assumed the contract today, and Coulter and Bostrom left immediately for Oklahoma City.

NAZI SPORT HEAD REAFFIRMS BAN ON GERMAN JEWS

Order Defies U. S. Threat to Boycott Olympics.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

Berlin, Nov. 22.—Capt. Hans von Schammer-Osten, reich sports leader, supreme authority in all matters affecting athletics in Nazi Germany, issued a new order today regulating the admission of Jews to German athletic organizations. The new order is of special significance because it reaffirms discrimination against Jews despite the decision of the American Amateur Athletic Union to boycott the Olympic games in Berlin in 1936 unless this discrimination is removed.

The order provides:

1—All persons elected to offices or boards of German athletic organizations must be in a position to meet the conditions of the government decree for the "restoration of professional civil service" which bars all Jews except front combatants. If the person to be chosen is a woman her father, brother, or husband must likewise meet these conditions.

Enforcement Automatic.

2. The acceptance of non-Aryan members to athletic clubs is left to the decision of various athletic leagues, and in cases where these fail to issue regulations, to the decision of individual clubs. Since, however, all league clubs have been "coordinated" and put under Nazi rule, enforcement of the so-called Aryan paragraph follows automatically. Exceptions are to be made only in individual cases if the interest of the club makes this imperative.

The decision of the American Amateur Athletic union gradually is beginning to become known to the German public. More papers are carrying the news today. The guiding principle seems to be to spread the bad news slowly to avoid shock.

U. S. SOFTENS DEMANDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The American Olympic association, composed of every major amateur sports governing body of the country, today held out the olive branch to Germany on the question of Jewish participation in sports and in the Olympic games of 1936 at Berlin.

A resolution, temporizing the stand taken by the Amateur Athletic union at its Pittsburgh convention, was unanimously adopted. It expressed the hope that full freedom of participation would be extended German athletes of Jewish faith and promised American participation if that were done.

Sherrill Opposes Action.

As it convened in quadrennial session it appeared likely the association would follow the stand taken by the A. A. U., its major member, and declare for American withdrawal from the 1936 games unless the German government "in fact as well as in theory" abided by the Olympic principal of non-discrimination against any race, color, or religion.

Such a resolution was offered. But after listening to a stirring address oy Brig. Gen. Charles H. Sherrill, American member of the international Olympic committee, in which he warned that such action would do more harm than good, not only in Germany but in the United States as well, the more temperate course was taken by the convention.

One factor influencing the action was the cablegram yesterday from Dr. Theodore Lewald, himself of Jewish descent, and the other two German members of the international committee, declaring the pledge given the committee at Vienna in June was being adhered to.

Avery Brundage of Chicago was reelected president of the association for another term; Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft of Princeton was named vice president, Frederick W. Rubien was reelected secretary, and Gustavus Town Kirby succeeded George W. Graves of Detroit as treasurer. Dr. Graeme Hammond was reëlected president emeritus.

Name Lineups for Charity Polo Games Here Dec. 9

The makeup of the polo teams which play Dec. 9 and 10 for the benefit of disabled veterans of the world war, was announced yesterday by Maj. Hamlet C. Ridgway, general chairman of the committee in charge of the events. The games are to be held at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The feature game of the first evening will be played between a Chicago Riding club team made up of James Hannah, Maxwell Corpening, and Frank Bering and a 124th Field Artillery trio, consisting of Maj. R. G. Hunter, Capt. W. S. Everett, and Lieut. C. M. Schuh.

In the other Dec. 9 game the North Shore Polo and Hunt club will meet the 122d Field Artillery. George Bates, David Silberman, and John Bowers will play for North Shore, with William Collins as a substitute. The artillery will send Lieut. C. L. Harris, Lieut. C. M. Johnson, and Lieut. A. E. Zimmerman into the field.

On the second night of the show the United States army team from Fort Sheridan will meet the winners of the preceding evening's feature match. The army team will consist of Capt. C. A. Wilkinson, Capt. C. E. Davis, and Lieut. Lawrence Smith.

The 124th Field Artillery Cardinals will encounter the winners of the North Shore-122d Field Artillery game in the other Dec. 10 contest. Lieut. Don Rice, Lieut. Romeo Mura, and Lieut. Lewis Levine will make up the Cardinal trio.

ANYBODY CALLED WARBURTON JINX FOR NOTRE DAME

Freshman Gains in Role of U. S. C. Star.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Everett Robinson, one of the better of Notre Dame's freshmen players, got a new name today. He was Cotton Warburton, Southern California back field star, as far as the Notre Dame varsity and shock troops were concerned, and he lived up to his press notices by running through the varsity for several long gains in a defensive scrimmage.

COTTON WARBURTON.

Robinson, a small, speedy, shifty back of the Warburton type, comes from Wallace, Idaho. The varsity made every effort to drag him down, but despite the general weakness of his supporting cast and the lack of familiarity of this cast with Trojan plays, he was able to run the ends for consistent gains.

Marek Plows Through.

If the regulars watched Robinson too closely, Max Marek, the Chicago Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, tore loose for gains through guard and tackle. He was imitating Homer Griffith, Trojan full back.

There was an obvious lack of familiarity with Trojan plays among the many sophomores on the shock troop or second team. The varsity players knew the assignments well but failed to tackle cleanly.

The ticket sale was progressing briskly today and a crowd of 40,000 seemed assured.

TROJANS AT TUCSON.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Schools in Tucson were closed to enable students to watch the University of Southern California football team, en route to South Bend, Ind., for its game with Notre Dame, hold a 90 minute workout here today. A crowd of 2,000 turned out, many bringing the Trojans rabbit's feet and other good luck charms for use in Saturday's encounter.

On the first team Cotton Warburton and Homer Griffith alternated at quarter back, with Wotkyns and Propst at full. McNeish and Clarke were used at left half and Clemens at right.

Youell Is Ill.

Poulsen was used at center in place of Youell, who was suffering from car sickness. Another change ordered by Coach Howard Jones was the shifting of Dittberner to right tackle in place of Harper. Others in the varsity line were Capt. Palmer, right end; Stevens, right guard; Rosenberg, left guard; Bright, left tackle, and Bescos, left end.

The workout lasted longer than anticipated and the Trojans' special train left here half an hour behind schedule. The next workout will be held at Hutchinson, Kas., tomorrow.

PURDUE POLISHES BUCKET.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The old oaken bucket, symbol of football supremacy between Purdue and Indiana, kept safe in a vault in the university business office for the last year, was given its anual dusting and polishing today.

The bucket, first established as a trophy in 1925, when the two teams battled to a 0 to 0 tie, has since picked up six "P" links on the chain attached to the handle, representing Purdue victories, and one "I" link, representing the 7 to 6 upset the Boilermakers suffered in 1930.

"Keep that bucket!" was the slogan on the Purdue campus today, as excitement over the impending traditional battle with Indiana began to mount. Although the bucket will be sent to Bloomington for the game, athletic department officials refused to divulge how or when.

The Boilermakers were sent through another intensive scrimmage on offense and defense today as coaches sought to regain the scoring punch that was lacking against Iowa.

INDIANA SCRIMMAGES.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Coach E. C. Hayes experimented with his lineup today, using various combinations he may start against Purdue Saturday, in a long scrimmage with the freshmen.

A back field composed of Veller at quarter back, Dauer and Sawicki at halves, and Keck at full back, received the most attention while another composed of Yoder at quarter, Babb and Sutherland at halves, and Burton at full back, flashed plenty of speed.

With Kelso selected for center and Vercuski more or less definite at one of the tackle positions, Coach Hayes centered his attention on picking the guard who will team with Jones and the other tackle. Beeson and Fred Antonini may receive the assignment.

OREGON STATE SQUAD DOES ITS LESSONS BY MAIL

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Away from thier home campus for a three weeks' stretch, 26 Huskies from Oregon State today enrolled in a "corresponding school."

The correspondence will be exchanged by the instructors at Corvallis and Coach Lonnie Stiner's football squad, which arrived here today to prepare for a Thanksgiving day game at Lincoln with the University of Nebraska.

Afternoon practice sessions at the Creighton stadium between now and Thanksgiving day will be preceded, Stiner decreed, by forenoon class room sessions. The squad forgot neither books nor mudcleats in its preparation for the New York trip that resulted in a defeat for Fordham. Additional class assignments will be mailed here.

PLAY HANDBALL MATCH.

Maurice McCarthy, 1931-'32 City A. A. U. champion, will meet Eddie Kapp, champion of Division Street Y. M. C. A., this afternoon at the Division Street Y. M. C. A., in an exhibition handball match.

Gophers Prepare to Claim Share of Big Ten Title

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Minnesota's unbeaten football team this afternon prepared for Wisconsin and at the same time prepared their claim for at least a share of the Western conference championship in the event the Badgers are whipped Saturday. While none of the coaches is willing to be quoted, it is common topic of conversation among the players that they have as much right to the title as Michigan, granting that Michigan beats Northwestern this week.

Michigan has won four games, these players point out, and were tied once, by Minnesota last week. Last year, of course, Purdue, which had a standing of 1.000 at the end of the season did not lay claim to the title because of a tie game with Northwestern while Michigan was undefeated and untied. But it is pointed out that despite tie games with Indiana, Purdue, and Northwestern, the tie with Michigan makes the two teams equal.

There was much more optimism in the Gopher camp today when the ailing players, Dick Smith, Bell Bevan, Sheldon Beise, and Glenn Seidel reported in fine fettle. Trainer Dave Woodward then revealed that the Gophers should be in first class shape for the reception of the Badgers.

BADGERS STILL IMPROVING.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Evidence that the Wisconsin football team still is improving its defense as well as offense, and may provide the Minnesota Gophers with more opposition Saturday than they expect, was displayed today and yesterday in scrimmage with Wisconsin's huge freshmen.

While the freshmen were able to wither the Badger varsity with Ohio and West Virginia plays, they have had little success in their attempts to break through the varsity line with Minnesota maneuvers. This situation prevails despite the ability of freshmen to perform Minnesota plays remarkably well.

Supporting the conviction that the varsity team has improved is the fact that the freshman scrimmage teams contained most of their best players.

Foundry Job Helps Klein Hit Long Ones

no bitter sobs in southern Indiana when, during the winter, he was transferred to the northern sector of his native state. The spring of 1928 found our hero playing the outfield for Ft. Wayne of the Central league.

A prohibition agent who was able to get away from his snooping long enough to see some of the Ft. Wayne games took a fancy to Chuck's hitting and tipped off Philly scouts. No action was taken by the scouts, however, until Chuck had played 88 games for the Ft. Wayne team. In these 88 games, Chuck made 26 homers while compiling an average of .331.

The Phillies bought Klein for a sum said to be some place between $200 and $7,500—probably about $4,000—and the big lad got in 64 games with the Phillies during the balance of the 1928 season. Chuck was a pretty raw rookie, but his mark of .360 made baseball followers sit up and take notice right off.

Chuck went back to Indianapolis, but had an impatient winter. Major league pitching hadn't been nearly so tough as he had been told it was and his greatest desire was for the 1929 season to get under way so he could pin back the ears of a lot of these pitchers he's heard were such a deceptive lot.

Of course even the eager Chuck didn't have any idea that he would set a new National league record for homers in his first full year in the majors. But that's exactly what he did.

ILLINOIS FEARS SCHUSTEK'S LOSS FOR OHIO BATTLE

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—There was apprehension in the Illini camp today as the Illini went through their last hard paces for Ohio State, that Ivan Schustek, right end, will be unable to appear against the Buckeyes.

Schustek, former Schurz High school athlete from Chicago, and his companion end, Fred Frink, have played brilliantly all season and the prospect of losing him for the final contest alarms the Illini. Schustek's performances against the Michigan and Northwestern ends were regarded as especially praiseworthy.

Schustek was bumped in the Chicago game and has not reported for practice, although he will undoubtedly accompany the squad when it departs for Columbus tomorrow night.

Today Zuppke looked over all his available ends, including the veteran Casey straw, Vin Van Meter, letterman last season, Will Waller, Bob Wright, and Harvey Benson. Benson, a junior, broke into his first big game against Chicago when he played a quarter.

Crain Portman and Frank Froschauer are battling for the left half back position and there is a chance that Zuppke will start the former at Columbus. Otherwise the starting lineup promises to be identical with that used against Chicago.

OHIO CRIPPLES RETURN.

Columbus, O., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The siege of injuries which has beset the Ohio State squad during the preparation for the Illinois game here Saturday, was alleviated somewhat today when Lud Yards, second string tackle, and Dick Heekin, first string half back, returned to practice.

Ted Rosequist, tackle, and Jack Smith, half back, still are unable to report. Smith is given an outside chance to play, but Rosequist's presence against Illinois is very doubtful.

According to the official bulletins of the publicity bureau on the secret practice, today's drill was light. It consisted of the routine limbering up session, a signal rehearsal, a drill designed to prevent fumbling with a wet ball, and a lecture in which Assistant Coach Floyd Stahl, who scouted Illinois, outlined the Indians' plays.

THIS BANK IS OUT $30; CALL WASN'T FROM PUG LUND

Rice Lake, Wis., Nov. 22.—(AP)—An impostor who pretended he was Francis [Pug] Lund, football star at the University of Minnesota, recently defrauded a local bank of $30, it became known today.

A man representing himself as Lund, a native of Rice Lake, called the bank from Milwaukee before the Northwestern-Minnesota game. He said he had left Minneapolis the day before the game to visit at Waukesha, near Milwaukee, and had lost his purse.

The caller explained he did not want to notify his parents, but asked that the bank wire him the money. The bank complied and the mistake was not disclosed until Lund was billed at Minneapolis for the amount.

DUQUESNE CARDS GAME ON MIAMI GRIDIRON JAN. 1

Miami, Fla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Completion of arrangements for a post-season football game here New Year's day between the University of Miami and Duquesne university of Pittsburgh was announced today by T. E. Price, chairman of the committee in charge.

Price said he had talked by telephone today with Elmer Layden, coach at Duquesne and that terms for the game were agreed upon. It is understood Duquesne has been given a $3,500 guaranty.

Kipke System? It's Simple; Just Win and Keep Quiet

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Michigan apparently is ready to claim its fourth consecutive Western conference football championships, barring an upset Saturday at Dyche stadium by Northwestern's Wildcats, which would undoubtedly be the upsettingest upset of the season. Granting the likelihood of this championship, it will be the fourth in five years to which Harry Kipke has directed his alma mater, yet for some reason or other neither the sportswriters nor the public has dubbed Michigan football as the "Kipke offense."

HARRY KIPKE.

This over sight doesn't seem at all fair to Kipke, who at the age of 32 or roughly about half the years credited to the venerable Pop Warner, of Carlisle, Pittsburgh, Stanford and Temple university, has compiled a better won and lost record than most of the coaches in the country. It may be that the football public has become tired of repetition of such phrases as the Rockne shift, the Warner system, the Jones revolving shift, but more logical reasons for the slight to young Mr. Kipke are that he labors in the shadow of Fielding [Hurry Up] Yost and that after all he hasn't startled the public with a spectacular shift, spread line, or fantasy to which his name might be permanently attached.

Yost Is Showman.

Hurry Up Yost, an exhibitionist on the gridiron with the instinct of a dramatist, furnished Michigan with point a minute teams and when Yost announced his retirement as head coach he kept popping out for retirement on the Monday after the Wolverines lost a game until many were skeptical that Kipke actually would be the football coach when Michigan brought him back to Ann Arbor after a year's service at Michigan State college. And Kipke may have felt some such misgivings, for he'd played under the old man for three years and one doesn't suddenly commence giving orders contrary to the wishes of the man who had bossed him and for that matter who still was his athletic chief.

The first year Kipke was in the big time and theoretically on his own, he listened a lot and said yes, for being a very intelligent man he realized that he was blessed with luck to be head coach at Michigan, even if in name only, and that the percentages all were with him for retaining indefinitely a nice salaried berth. Even when it became apparent that Yost actually had retired from active coaching, and Kipke began to manufacture a string of Michigan championships of his own, he adopted a permanent policy of reticence.

System Is Simple.

This attitude was splendid business, but it also meant that none would drag Kipke from the shadows of the sidelines and hurl his name across the continent as the inventor of the Kipke style of football.

Michigan's football strategy is simple. It is so understandable and adheres to the fundamentals so closely that it is impossible to make a genius or a wizard out of the man who coaches it. Facetious critics, sometimes envious coaches who saw their teams beaten by a bunch of boys who blocked better and tackled almost without error, dubbed Michigan football as the "punt, pass, and prayer" style of play. Since Kipke certainly didn't invent the punt or the pass, and since the Colonels of Centre college first brought the public prayer meeting to the gridiron, it still was Michigan football and not Kipke football. Kipke, however, has done quite well with this slogan in his recent magazine writings.

Michigan football is based on defense, and while one admires a stubborn resistance, the boys who get their names in the history books are those who have taken spectacular chances. They shoot at the moon, as the saying goes, and when they hit, contrary to all expectations, theirs is the greater glory. But when the final averages are compiled in football the teams which take fewer chances and which, nine times out of ten, are standing by to take advantage of the other fellow's mistakes, will have more victories than those who took the hazard.

Some Stars Are Needed.

Defense, of course, will stop the other fellow, but unless you intercept a pass or block a punt there'll be few touchdowns. So Michigan drills its kickers, who, incidentally, are backed up by ends and linemen to stop the receivers, perfects passes for long gains and hopes that occasionally its ball carriers will break away for scoring runs. And generally one of the boys can step up and kick the points after touchdowns or score from the 20 yard line with a field goal. Put it all together, and you have an offense that has lost only one game since 1929.

Parenthetically we should add that any university wishing to copy this system should make sure that its squad has speed, heavy aggressive linemen, an exceptional passer, and an exceptional kicker. But perhaps we shouldn't have mentioned that.

Kipke probably is not envious of those coaches who claim prior rights to this play or that shift. It's Michigan football, not Kipke football, but Kipke is reasonably certain he'll have a job next fall which is balm indeed for any publicity slight to his ability.

Hawkeyes Burn Old Shoe; Husker Game Is in Bag!

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Before "burning the old shoe" today, the ceremony which marks the close of home practice for the season, the University of Iowa football team went through a hard drill for the Nebraska game.

Coach Solem worked the Hawkeye first team on offensive and defensive scrimmage, in which forward passing featured the varsity attack. Dick Crayne, full back, and Zud Schammel, guard, were not in uniform on orders by the coach.

Both men suffered injuries in the Purdue game and precautions were taken to assure their being available for the Cornhusker engagement.

The freshman team had no success with Nebraska plays, most of them being stopped by varsity linemen behind the line of scrimmage.

If the "burning shoe" legend which Solem brought here from Drake university holds true, the Nebraska game already is won. According to tradition the captain must stand 20 paces from a heap of inflammable material and toss a lighted football shoe over his head. If the shoe ignites the bonfire it is an omen that the Hawkeyes will win their final game. Capt. Moore was accurate in throwing the shoe today, although he could hardly miss since his target was big enough to hit if he had been blindfolded.

SOPHOMORE TO DIRECT YALE IN HARVARD GAME

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Still juggling his lineup, almost on the eve of the objective Harvard game, Head Coach Reggie Root injected a new man into his first Yale team today in the person of Jerry Roscoe at quarter back.

Roscoe, a sophomore from San Diego, Cal., supplanted Tommy Curtin, who has alternated all season between directing the team and running from left half back. Curtin went to the half back position on the second team.

HARVARD STRESSES PASSES.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Harvard's offensive maneuvers received a thorough overhauling today when Coach Eddie Casey, aided by Arnold Horween, his predecessor, tried to speed up and perfect the timing, which has not really clicked once this season.

Most of the session was devoted to individual assignment work and the customary signal drill stressed forward passes. It appeared certain that the Crimson would take full advantage of Yale's reputed weakness by carrying on a sustained air attack.

SOLVED! THAT ILLINOIS RACING BOARD MYSTERY

All Likely Candidates Are Ineligible.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The mystery about Gov. Horner's delay in naming the members of the new Illinois racing commission has been solved.

It has been discovered that nearly all the big horsemen and the big horse track men in the state cannot accept this job—without pay—and so become members of the board of three which will attempt to govern the turf sport in the state.

Otto W. Lehmann has been mentioned as a member of the commission. He's on the ineligible list because he is the president, a stockholder, a member of the board of directors and what not at Arlington Park.

Peabody, Wright Ineligible.

Stuyvesant Peabody can't take the job because he is the president of the Lincoln Fields Jockey club and a high official in the American Turf association.

Warren Wright, who no doubt would make a very fine member of the commission, is on the ineligible list because he is a member of the board of directors of the Arlington Park Jockey club.

Robert M. Sweitzer might be one of the great stars of the commission team, yet he isn't eligible to play. Mr. Sweitzer is a member of the board of governors of the Washington Park Jockey club.

Charley Bidwill, who is secretary, treasurer, or president of most all the sports ventures in town, could be a great triple threat man for the commission back field, but he's not eligible for the team. He holds office or is a stockholder in at least three of the big tracks on the Chicago circuit.

Outsiders' List Swells.

Laurence Armour, Charles McCulloch, Charley Krutckoff, Patrick Joyce, Thomas McHale, Leonard Florsheim, Lawrence F. Stern, Charles F. Glore, John R. Thompson Jr., and Albert Sabath are others whose names are frequently mentioned as possible members of the commission. Yet they can't serve, because they are either stockholders, directors, or an officer of some sort or another in one or the others of the various racing associations which operate tracks here.

The new commission law specifies that officers and stockholders in any track operating in the state cannot serve as members of the racing commission.

The law provides that one member of the commission be an owner or breeder of thoroughbred horses. Most of the Illinois men who can qualify for this commission membership are stockholders in one or another of the tracks.

It all indicates that unless the racing associations fire some of their directors or force others among their stockholders to sell their holdings the new commission will include names that are not generally known about the race tracks or in turf circles.

Can't Start Firing Now.

The race tracks can't very well do any firing until January or February, when their annual stockholders and directors' meetings are held.

The politicians—of course they are eligible to the commission—may grow restless in the meantime and demand the board be selected at once.

TWO CHICAGOANS RECEIVE ILLINOIS HARRIER LETTERS

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 22.—Special.]—Capt. One More Upset Will Bring Title to Morgan Park

Will Morgan Park, the mystery eleven of the Chicago Public High School league, add another upset victory to its long string Saturday afternoon? The answer will be supplied after 60 minutes against Harrison Tech at Soldiers' field in the finals for the league championship.

In the underdog rôle Morgan Park has displayed more power than when it is an overwhelming favorite. It pulled through its south section schedule with three victories and one tie after it was expected to be defeated several times. Last Saturday in the semi-finals Morgan Park was rated weaker than Lindblom, its opponent, but Morgan Park came through with a 7 to 6 victory to qualify for the finals.

Morgan Park again will be the underdog when it faces Harrison Tech, principally because of the latter's undefeated record. Harrison, 1931 league champion, is confidentit will capture the second title in its history, but there are no signs of overconfidence in the Harrison camp when Morgan Park's unusual winning ways are recalled.

Coach Bob Dougherty sent the Harrison eleven through a two hour drill yesterday at McKinley park. Morgan Park's squad, under the direction of Coach Bob Antonides, worked for more than an hour on the school field. Three regulars, Tommy Tompkins, quarter back, Ed Karge, guard, and Douglas Carroll, half back, remained on the sidelines because of injuries and probably will be unable to play against Harrison.

Coach Antonides was pleased with the work of substitutes in the week's practice. He plans to have Donald Rich, 143 pound guard, replace Karge; Kenneth Thompson, a senior, in Tompkins' position and John Palka at Carroll's half back post.

The Chicago Catholic High School league's finale, which brings together Fenwick of Oak Park, winner of the west division title, and Loyola academy, champion of the east division, at Soldiers' field Sunday afternoon, is expected to draw one of the largest high school crowds of the season.

Both teams are undefeated, but in the matter of points scored, the Oak Park eleven holds the edge. Fenwick, in scoring six consecutive victories, compiled one of the best records ever made in league competition, rolling up 168 points to its opponents' 14.

ST. JOHN ELEVEN MAY LOSE CONRAD FOR MOOSEHEART

Capt. John Conrad of the St. John's Military academy football team, who was expected to lead the cadets' attack against Mooseheart in their game at Wrigley field Saturday afternoon, probably will not be in the lineup. The announcement was made yesterday when it was learned that Capt. Conrad had left for Tiffin, O., where his mother lay ill.

Capt. Conrad, one of the fastest half backs in St. John's history, probably will be replaced by Joe Aldendifer, 17 year old substitute, who has been a member of the team for the last two years.

Gates Resigns as Business Head of P.G.A.

The withdrawal of Albert R. Gates of Chicago as business administrator of the Professional Golfers' association, to become effective Jan. 1, featured the second day of the organization's annual meeting at the Morrison hotel yesterday.

Economic conditions were given as the reason for the action. The office of business administrator will be abolished with Gates' withdrawal. He will continue, however, as legal counsel for the P. G. A.

"After thirty-five years of active legal practice and three years as business administrator of the P. G. A. I welcome a chance to get away from heavy duties," Mr. Gates said. "While I doubtless will be busy in the office as general legal counsel I will have an opportunity to play some golf and get some fun out of life, too. This year I was able to get in only one game of golf, and that's tough on a man who loves the game."

The annual election of officers was held at the conclusion of yesterday's meeting, all being reëlected as follows: George R. Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J., president; Tom Boyd, Staten Island, N. Y., vice president for east; James Wilson of Ravisloe, Chicago, vice president for middle west; Dan Goss of Birmingham, Ala., vice president for south, and J. J. Martin of Tacoma, Wash., vice president for west; R. W. Treacy of Milwaukee, secretary, and Jack B. Mackie, Inwood, N. Y., treasurer.

Vice presidents at large include Johnny Farrell of Quaker Ridge, N. Y., for the east, and Willie McGuire of Houston, Tex., for the west. Charles W. Hall of Birmingham, Ala., was named honorary president, and Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen honorary vice presidents. Alec Pirie of Old Elm, Chicago, continues as honorary life president.

The announcement several months ago that Bobby Jones had designs on returning to competitive golf immediately brought up the question of whether the Atlanta wizard would be hitting the ball as yore. Now comes Frank Walsh, Bryn Mawr professional, with eyewitness testimony that Bobby is doing just that, if not better, already. Frank, who had been at Pinehurst, last week journeyed over to the new Augusta National course at Augusta, Ga. in company with Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., and Al Watrous of Detroit for a few rounds with Bobby.

Walsh not only praised Jones' present play as "marvelous," but also added that the Augusta course is the finest he has seen in this country. Jones' first actual appearance against old rivals and new will take place over the Augusta links on March 22, 23, 24, and 25, when a hand picked band of about 20 leading professionals and ten amateurs, among whom are expected to be Johnny Goodman and George Dunlap, will be invited to play.

Walsh, who will leave shortly for Florida to begin the swing around the entire winter circuit, said that he had signed a highly satisfactory contract for another year as professional at Bryn Mawr.

Daniel W. Ashley will succeed Robert W. Umberger as president of the Sunset Ridge Country club for 1934. Other officers included Comfort S. Butler, vice president; T. E. Quisenberry, treasurer, and J. E. Almond, secretary, with Daniel J. Donohue, George H. Dovenmuehle, and Gross T. Williams as newly elected directors. Sunset Ridge completed its third year of operating in the black.

Chester Leatham recently was unanimous choice for the 1934 presidency of the Edgewood Valley Country club, to succeed Dr. Olaf J. Olafsson, who completed his second succesful term.

Hasenpfeffer DaysAreCome in Wisconsin

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Portage, Wis., Nov. 22.—Winter has made a temporary retreat from the game fields up here where coveys of prairie chickens still give the sportsman a thrill. Although ice still covers the mallard ponds, the temperature has been so mild that hiking over the fields and through the marshes has been a pleasure. Fat, saucy, red and gray squirrels are numerous near the bird feeding stations stocked with corn. Even red headed woodpeckers can be seen in the woods and an occasional hawk swoops low over brown marshes to seize a crippled pheasant or a luckless mouse.

Although traces of snow are hard ta find here in the valley of the Neenah creek, farther north near Stevens Point there still is plenty. Exploring the private pheasant preserve and trout hatchery owned by Oscar Weber of Stevens Point, we saw the wooded hills covered with snow and when we made a few casts around a spring hole stocked with trout we stood upon solid ice.

Trout Will Take Fly.

Inasmuch as a state hatchery license permits the owner to produce and take trout throughout the year, we were able to see a graphic demonstration of the fact that brook trout will take a fly even when ice is on the pond and the weather is cold enough for any normal winter day. Standing on the edge of a deep spring at the Eske Spring group of potholes, with snow all around wooded slopes and a crust of ice on the shoreline, you could toss out a fly with a fly rod and see the vividly colored brook trout strike just as if it were May or June, instead of November.

At Neenah creek, some seven miles from Portage we are in the midst of the hasenpfeffer and pheasant season. Sniff the air near the hunting lodge on the Beyer pheasant preserve and you get the pungent odor of hasenpfeffer, that famous old rabbit dish. Out in the fields the mahogany Irish setters swing to a point on ringnecks which can be hunted on a licensed preserve until Jan. 5.

Reluctant to Take Wing.

Today we found these crafty birds in the heaviest cover, reluctant, as usual, to take to wing. And passing the brush piles it was possible to look into them and see the plump cottontails quite indifferent to the ranging bird dogs.

MONEY EXPERTS TELL FALLACIES OF U. S. PROGRAM

Assert "Inflation Fear" Retards Recovery.

BY REUBEN CAHN.

Leading eastern monetary experts, not identified with the government or with any political party or corporation, and therefore not suspected of the slightest prejudice are entirely in agreement with the position taken by O. M. W. Sprague, treasury department expert, who sent his resignation to the President on Tuesday as a protest against the financial policies of the government.

The writer recently attended a meeting of economists in the east and talked with a number of recognized financial specialists. Without exception the experts were firmly of the opinion that raising the price of gold and subsequently stabilizing it at from $35 to $41 per ounce would not have the slightest chance of raising the commodity price level. They were also strongly of the mind that the consequently ensuing disillusionment will be followed by wild inflation unless the general public is aroused to the dangers involved.

Inflation "Last Resort."

It is pointed out by the technicians that inflation is not something which in the past has been sought after, but is the last resort of a busted nation, which has no other means by which to turn. Nations have inflated in the past, but they didn't do it from choice. Now it is being urged as the means by which the world's wealthiest country may attain recovery from a depression. It is no means to that end.

The specialist distinguishes between inflation and devaluation. Devaluation —reducing the gold content in the dollar—does not in and of itself bring about a rise in prices. And yet a rise in values is the only purpose back of the devaluating process now being employed. After devaluation, people do not have more currency, nor more in the bank, nor higher wages, nor less debts. In fact, the assets and the liabilities of all except the government are the same. Devaluation might influence a few products which are exported or imported but the effect here is lost if the other countries devaluate.

England Works Out Problem.

Devaulation does have other uses, the economists point out, but these are not uses, which we are aiming at. England, which valued her pound too high in 1925, found that she did not have the gold to maintain the pound at so high a price and was forced off the gold standard. She needed devaluation. England is striving to correct the error she made in 1925 but in doing it has scrupulously avoided inflation, and is enjoying a fine business recovery as a result. The United States was not forced off the gold standard and has plenty of gold to maintain the dollar at its old parity.

Since the purpose the government had in mind was to inflate, get prices up quickly, it would have been better, one authority told the writer, if first of all there had been an issue of greenbacks. Because then, it would have been perfectly clear to all what was being done. The man on the street would not then be saying, as he now is, "what is it all about."

But It Won't Raise Prices.

However, greenbacks, unless they created a fear of complete ruin, would not force prices up either. Suppose they were issued in redemption of bonds, the people who owned the bonds would receive currency, and this would merely increase the cash reserves of the banks. It would not make the banks more willing to lend nor make the borrower more willing to borrow.

The same thing can be said about credit inflation. For three years the government and the banks had been attempting to put up prices, or keep them from going down by credit inflation. Those who were at it saw that in a period of prosperity prices rise and the amount of credit increases, and they reasoned post hoc, propter hoc. But it doesn't work that way. Credit increases during a period of prosperity because there are business men who see profit opportunities in using credit, and merely making more credit available is not going to make business men use it. A nation can't bring back prosperity by credit inflation.

Spend to Sham Prosperity.

Expenditure inflation is something different. An effective expenditure inflation putting people to work on public projects and the like, oils the wheels of trade. "If you carry on expenditure inflation energetically enough," an internationally known figure told this writer, "you can bring on a sham prosperity which will last for a while. It will last as long as people see that prices are rising. Every one can be a good business man then. But when you stop putting out the money in wages and materials you stop the sham prosperity. Everybody wants to sell then and no one wants to buy.

"Then it becomes nesessary to have a fresh shot of inflation. You have a new crisis then, a new demand for more expenditure inflation, a new rise in prices, a new issue of greenbacks and then a new crisis. One inflation necessarily leads to another. That is why it is truthfully said that inflation once started cannot be controlled."

Case of the Farmer.

He continued: "It seems to be the farmers who are most determined to bring about prosperity from inflation. They think that they can pay off their debts with an inferior money and have their farms clear. Of course, they forget that it is not the price that they get which alone determines whether they are prosperous or not, but the difference between what they get for the products they have for sale and what they have to pay for what they buy.

"The farmers can pay off their mortgages only with the excess of income over expenditures. It may be that their expenditures will rise faster than their income. The German farmers, it is true, paid off their mortgages with the depreciated money and thought that they were well off. But they had to borrow money with which to carry on their operations. They did so at excessive rates of interest when prices were high and the result was that six years after the inflation the German farmers were worse off than before the inflation."

What we have been having with our daily increasing price of gold is not inflation, but the threat of inflation. There is good reason for believing that the mere fear or threat of inflation, does not put prices up. In 1896, there was a fear of inflation in the United States. At the time, all over Europe, there was prosperity and prices were rising. But in the United States, there was a reversation to depression and prices were falling. Why? Because of the fear of inflation, under Bryan's free silver scheme.

Fear Drives Prices Down.

It might be presumed that the fear of inflation would send prices up. It didn't, prices went down. People took their money out of the country, fearing to invest it. There was widespread slackening in the capital goods industries, and prices and business went down. As soon as the election was over and the fear of inflation disappeared, prices rose and business revived.

Just so, at the present time, with the fear of inflation, even with actual evidence that devaluation is impending, the capital goods industries are stagnant and all fear to invest. It is for this reason that the eastern financial economists, who have no axes to grind, have concluded that the threat of inflation, represented by public statements of administration leaders, and the rising price of gold is holding back business recovery rather than promoting it.

ROOSEVELT WILL MONETIZE SILVER, PITTMAN SAYS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A prediction that President Roosevelt would move to restore silver to monetary glory before congress convenes on Jan. 3 came today from Senator Pittman [Dem., Nev.].

Pittman disclosed in a cable to Sir George Schuster at New Delhi, India, his belief that President Roosevelt would aid silver. The cable congratulated Sir George on approval by India of a silver anti-dumping agreement worked out at the London economic conference at which Pittman was one of the American delegates.

"We deeply appreciate India's action relative to silver agreement," Pittman cabled. "The President has under consideration action before congress meets. Congress will undoubtedly carry out agreement."

FEDERAL PUBLIC SERVICE CORP. TO BE REORGANIZED

The reorganization committee for Federal Public Service corporation, composed of Mord M. Bogie and Charles H. Bliss, yesterday announced a plan which has been approved by the bondholders' protective committee, the noteholders' protective committee, the preferred stock committee, and the United States District court for the northern district of Illinois.

The plan provides for the organization of a new company which will acquire the holdings of Federal Public Service corporation and will issue securities deliverable to holders of certificates of deposit. The basis of exchange will be as follows:

UTILITIES END SAMUEL INSULL $21,000 PENSION

Directors Cut Off Payments Dec. 31.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Samuel Insull, now living in exile in Greece, will lose the $21,000 in pensions he is receiving from the companies he formerly headed at the end of this year.

Directors of the four companies paying the annuities met yesterday and voted to discontinue the payments as of Dec. 31. Insull is receiving $6,000 a year each from the Commonwealth Edison company, the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and $3,000 a year from Peoples Gas Subsidiary corporation.

The action was announced in a brief statement issued last night from the executive offices of the company.

"For Interest of Stockholders."

"The directors," the statement said, "have carefully considered this question for some time and came to the decision that the continuation of the payment of Mr. Insull's pension is detrimental to the best interests of the companies and their stockholders."

The action was seen as a further step by the present management toward a complete divorcement of the name Insull from the three Chicago operating companies which he formerly headed. The step has been under consideration for several months and was brought to head by the recent attempts of the federal government to extradite the former Chicago utility dictator.

Laid to Insull's Absence.

Insull's refusal to return and the diplomatic incident growing out of the failure of the United States to win his extradition is said to have cemented the decision of directors to cut off his pensions.

The step, it was said, has no relation to the impending trial of Insull's associates on charges of mail fraud growing out of the operations of the Corporations Securities company.

Originally Insull was granted pensions by the four companies aggregating $50,000 a year. This was reduced to $21,000 a year, however, after the new management, headed by James Simpson, was in office a few months. The $6,000 a year was the maximum allowable under the pension systems of the three operating companies. Insull is reputed to have received $500,000 a year in salaries alone at the peak of his career. If the fees he received as a director of the 50 odd concerns which he dominated are included, it is estimated his income from these sources approached $1,000,000 annually.

Present Income Unknown.

What, if any, income Insull now has in addition to his pensions is not known. His former associates are steadfast in their declarations that he is without other means of support. His personal property, including his house furnishings and family silver, were taken by his creditors.

The cutting off of the pension marks the final step in the downfall of the House of Insull. The family is scattered. Mrs. Insull is living in Paris and has been separated from her husband for several months. Martin Insull, younger brother whom Samuel Insull made head of his ambitious Middle West Utilities company, is living with his wife in a modest boarding house in Orilla, Ont.

Samuel Insull Jr. who was destined to step into his father's shoes as head of a great utility system, is the only member of the family remaining in Chicago. He is employed in a junior capacity by the companies which he might have headed and is awaiting trial with 15 others for the part he played with his father in the luckless attempt to turn back the tide of relentless economic history.

Steel Industry Shows Upturn; Outlook Better

Prospects for a rebound in the steel industry have improved, according to the Iron Age, even though current bookings have risen only to a slight degree. The railroads have actually begun to buy steel, and the estimate on the production of automobiles next month has been revised upward.

"While it is still uncertain how much these factors will affect iron and steel output between now and Dec. 31, there is a growing belief that the production rate has been scraping bottom and that a rebound is due, possibly early in the new year," declares the review.

Ingot Output Rises.

While the schedule for steel ingot output announced on Monday by the American Iron and Steel institute was 26.9 per cent, or two-tenths of one per cent lower than the rate reported at the beginning of the preceding week, the present average of operations, according to reports assembled by the Iron Age, is 27.5 per cent, against 26 a week ago, and may reach 28 before the end of the week.

The rate of ingot production has risen 7 points to 45 per cent of capacity in the Wheeling district, 2 points to 32 in the valley, 8 to 32 at Buffalo, 2 to 42 at Cleveland. Operations have been maintained at 27 per cent in Chicago, 21 in Pittsburgh, and 17 in eastern Pennsylvania.

The review reports that although assemblies of automobiles for this month will probably not surpass 55,000 units, the estimates for production in December have been advanced from 75,000 to 100,000.

Expect Upturn in January.

"Output is expected to take a sharp upturn in January," says the review, "and manufacturers are confident that assemblies for the first quarter of 1934 will total at least half a million units. Retail stocks of automobiles have been virtually wiped out, insuring a considerable backlog of orders for replacements alone."

Some railroads may buy an aggregate of nearly 300,000 tons of rails with their own funds, according to the Iron Age. Applications for governmental loans to finance purchases of rails so far cover about 500,000 tons.

Fabricated structural steel fell last week to 7,900 tons from 35,825 in the preceding week.

In both pig iron and finished steel higher prices have been announced for the first quarter. Basic, foundry, malleable, and bessemer pig iron has been raised 50 cents a ton at Everett, Mass., and $1 in eastern Pennsylvania, as of Dec. 1.

JUDGE NAMES 3 TRUSTEES FOR ROCK ISLAND

Orders Collateral Sale Delayed.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday appointed former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, James E. Gorman, and Joseph B. Fleming temporary trustees for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company. The Rock Island, one of the nation's most important transportation systems, filed a voluntary bankruptcy action on June 7 of this year when it was unable to meet maturing obligations.

J. B. FLEMING. [Koehne Photo.]

FRANK O. LOWDEN.

In announcing the appointment of the three trustees Judge Wilkerson said their names were selected from a panel submitted by the interstate commerce commission. All were recommended by the commission as being qualified to fill the position.

Mr. Lowden, whose residence is in Oregon, Ill., has served as a member of congress and was governor of this state during the war. He is an attorney by profession.

Gorman Road President.

Mr. Gorman, a native Chicagoan, is the present president of the road. He entered railroading with the Burlington in 1877. He has served in various capacities with a number of roads and has been head of the Rock Island since 1917.

JAMES E. GORMAN.

Mr. Fleming is a member of the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin. He spent his youth in Grundy county, Ill., attended Illinois Wesleyan university, and entered the law business in 1905 in the office of former Mayor Hempstead Washburn. He has been connected with his present firm since 1918.

Appointment of the three trustees followed a petition filed on Oct. 24 in which the Reconstruction Finance corporation and five bondholders' committees representing $250,000,000 in outstanding liens asked that the district court name "impartial trustees." At that time it was agreed that should more than one trustee be named one should be Mr. Gorman.

In accordance with the statute under which the railroad's bankruptcy action was taken, appointment of the three trustees is temporary. Judge Wilkerson stated yesterday that a meeting will be held in his court on Dec. 28, at which time all parties interested in the Rock Island will be

ChicagoPower Output 7.1 Pct. Over Last Year

The lead which electricity production for both the nation and the Chicago area has been maintaining in recent weeks over production in the corresponding periods of 1932 was slightly reduced last week.

National output for the week ended Nov. 18, as reported by the Edison Electric institute, amounted to 1,617,249,000 kilowatt hours, 5.6 per cent greater than the total of 1,531,584,000 in the like week of 1932. The favorable margin for the week ended Nov. 11 was 6.3 per cent. However, conforming to the seasonal trend, last week's production was slightly higher than that of the preceding week, which amounted to 1,616,875,000 kilowatt hours.

Chicago Output 7.1% Over Year Ago.

On the other hand, the output in the Chicago district, totaling 102,928,000 kilowatt hours, was lower than that of the preceding week, which had risen to the unusual figure of 104,928,000 kilowatt hours. The week's margin over the total of 96,147,000 kilowatt hours in the like week of 1932 was 7.1 per cent, compared with 9 per cent for the period ended Nov. 11.

The announcement of the Commonwealth Edison company says that last week's output made a reasonably good showing considering that it was the first week after the closing of the Fair.

Figures for Chicago District.

Following are the output and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district:

KILOWATT-HOUR OUTPUT.

Week Ended	1933	1932	Per Cent Increase
Nov. 18....	102,928,000	96,147,000	7.1
Nov. 11....	104,452,000	95,864,000	9.0
Nov. 4....	98,298,000	92,997,000	5.7
Oct. 28....	103,182,000	94,317,000	9.3

The trends in the major territorial districts were mixed. In New England, output exceeded that of the like week of 1932 by 8.4 per cent, against 6.6 per cent in the week ended Nov. 11. The gain was 1.9 per cent, against 1.6, in the west central region, and 3, against 2.6, on the Pacific coast.

In the middle Atlantic region, the margin was only 4.6, against 5.1; in the central industrial area, 8.7, against 9.9; in the Rocky mountain district, 26.6, against 30.6.

Output in the southern states was 3.9 per cent less than that in 1932, compared with 1 per cent in the preceding week.

NATIONAL LIFE HEAD'S MARBLE MANSION SOLD

A. M. Johnson's Home May Be Hospital.

BY AL CHASE.

One of Chicago's outstanding pieces of residential real estate, where Sheridan road turns at the foot of Devon avenue and the lake, was purchased yesterday by a syndicate identified with the Edgewater hospital. It is understood that the famous white marble mansion erected in 1910 by Albert Gallatin Wheeler, and the residence adjoining it on the west now occupied by Paul Rader, evangelist, eventually will be razed and a new hospital erected, or be remodeled and used in connection with new additions.

The property was purchased by Dr. Arthur E. Gammage, head of the staff at Edgewater hospital, 5700 North Ashland avenue, from Albert M. Johnson, president of the National Life Insurance company [now in receivership], for $75,000, subject to an incumbrance, according to the revenue stamps on the deed. Dr. Gammage then conveyed title to Frank A. O'Connor of Dubuque, Ia., attorney for the syndicate. The property has a south frontage on Sheridan road of 386 feet and 253 fronting on the lake.

One of City's Show Places.

When Mr. Wheeler, builder of the Illinois tunnel system, erected the seventeen room marble residence, it was considered one of the show places of Chicago. It was stated that his total investment was $250,000. The house was connected by a tunnel with a garage which contained a heating plant, seven rooms and space for four cars.

It was purchased by Albert M. Johnson in 1916 for an undisclosed consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $150,000. THE TRIBUNE of that date spoke of the sale as "said to be the largest deal in residence property in the history of the city."

Another Home Goes Business.

Another big residence only a few blocks south of the former Wheeler house, at 6038 Sheridan road, has just been leased for business purposes. This was the home of the late Ald. John Powers and has been rented by his widow, Franc L. Powers, for a term of years to the Columbia School of Music, now at 509 South Wabash avenue, where it has been for three decades.

The music school will move from the loop to North Edgewater on Jan. 1. Harry L. Levinson of Schoenlank & Kirschner was broker for Mrs. Powers. Wallace E. Shirra was her attorney.

Dollar Firms as Gold Price Is Unchanged

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—Foreign exchange markets surprised the financial community today by paying no further attention to the strictures of O. M. W. Sprague concerning the administration's monetary policy, after the sharp break in the price of the dollar late yesterday.

Through the greater part of the day the dollar held above its closing price of last night, while the pound and franc sold off a few points.

Reasons for Steadiness.

Among the reasons seen for this steadiness was the fact that the dollar was more than 50 points lower in the exchange markets than its value as set in Washington; also that the RFC held its domestic price for gold unchanged at $33.76, equivalent to 61.22 cents for the dollar.

After closing last night at a gold value in francs of 60.36 cents, the dollar held firm in the trading in London and Paris and advanced here to 60.57, up 21 points. In the first two hours it had risen to 60.65, but reacted.

Francs, after closing last night at 6.49 cents, were up to 6.50 at the opening here, but eased off to 6.46¾. Sterling, having closed last night at 5.42, rose only to 5.44 and then softened to 5.39.

Thinks Dollar Low.

The market evidently took the position that the pound and franc were higher than they ought to be at $5.44 for the pound and 6.50 cents for the franc, and that Prof. Sprague, after all he had said in the way of warnings to the administration, represented only the opposition views to the Roosevelt policy.

London set the price of gold at 126 shillings 6 pence, down 6 pence, owing to the continued advance of the pound against the franc. This was equivalent to $34.41, or 65 cents higher than the price set by the RFC.

National Bank Capital Notes to RFC Barred

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—The New York Clearing House association has been informed by the controller of the currency that national banks may not issue capital notes to the Reconstruction Finance corporation and that they may only sell preferred stock to that organization, as the controller interprets the banking law.

A month ago the large New York banks decided to accede to President Roosevelt's request that the clearing house banks here take the lead in the government's campaign to expand bank capital preparatory to federal insurance of bank deposits which is to begin next January.

Unwilling to Sell Stock.

They were unwilling at that time and are unwilling now to sell preferred stock to the RFC, however, so that the controller's ruling has reopened the entire issue.

The Manufacturers' Trust company some weeks ago sold $25,000,000 of capital notes to the RFC to expand its capital resources, and three other state chartered local banks and trust companies have completed the procedure necessary to issue capital notes.

A substantial majority of the state banks will carry out their plans to go along with the issuance of capital notes, it is said, but the national bank situation is composed by the controller's ruling and the unwillingness of the national bank executives to sell preferred stock to the RFC.

Wish to Protect Control.

Their opposition is based on the provisions for the sale of preferred stock to the government organization, as certain conditions might arise, in their opinion, which would permit the government to dictate to or even to change the management of a bank whose preferred shares it holds.

National bankers feel it is not unreasonable for them to wish to be on a footing at least as desirable as that applicable to the state banks.

Action by stockholders would be necessary if the issuance of preferred stock were decided upon by the directors of national banks.

BRAZIL DROPS GOLD MILREIS; TARIFFS RISE

Rio de Janeiro, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Brazil abolished the gold milreis today by a government decree stabilizing the tariff and other receipts previously collected on a theoretical gold basis.

The action was understood to be a preliminary to the abolition of gold clauses in contracts of foreign utility companies.

Taxes have been payable in gold, but henceforth will be calculated on a basis of eight paper milreis to one gold milreis. This means a tariff increase since the gold milreis has been computed as worth 6.2 paper units.

U. S. Sells 21,000,000 Lbs. Grease from Pig Program

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The farm administration announced today that it had sold 21 million pounds of inedible grease obtained from the emergency pig marketing program. Prices ranged from 2¾ to 2⅞ cents a pound. Bids on 19 million pounds were accepted from Procter & Gamble, soap manufacturers of Cincinnati; 700,000 pounds went to the Tobias Pergament company of New York, and 300,000 pounds to the Colorado Animal Byproducts company.

FEDERAL BOND LEADER RAKES MONEY POLICY

C. F. Childs Asserts It Ruins Credit.

"Destroying capital, confiscating wealth, making miracle maneuvers, and politically interfering with all business in spite of natural laws is an economic crime."

"Delay of recovery is due to uncertainty of future dollar value."

"Politicians are like the sun dial which shows the hour only as long as the sky is clear."

"Crises and depressions, commensurate with a nation's wealth, will recur as long as civilization lasts."

"Economics is a merger of politics and psychology."

"Silent acquiescence may be patriotic, but why countenance the slaughter of the innocents without registering a protest?"

"No nation can raise the standard of living by raising prices through monetary manipulation or restriction of output and production."

"The deliberate engineering of a panic with regard to its currency is one of the most dangerous things a government can do."—Excerpts from a bulletin by C. F. Childs, leading government bond dealer.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

In the most scathing denunciation of the administration's monetary policy that has yet been made, C. F. Childs, head of one of the nation's foremost houses specializing in United States government bonds, yesterday declared that confidence in the credit of the federal government has become impaired as a result of "experimental, unorthodox policies and clandestine relations with ill-famed money." His remarks are contained in a bulletin now being distributed by C. F. Childs & Co., through their Chicago and New York offices.

Emphasizing that government bonds have declined substantially because of the threat of printing press money Mr. Childs urged a return to sound money and abandonment of current experiments.

Bonds Decline 493 Millions.

The decline in the value of outstanding government bonds in the three weeks period between the President's speech on Oct. 21 and Nov. 10, he said, amounted to $493,000,000, an average shrinkage of 2.40 per cent. Government bond quotations have continued to decline since Nov. 10.

"With sound money," said Mr. Childs, "we can refund every issue [of government bonds] at lower interest rates, but with fiat money we may experience repudiation, confiscation or ruin."

Likening the administration's monetary and economic experiments to the prohibition experiment he said the introduction of fiat money would injure principally wage earners, salaried employés, people on pensions, savings bank depositors, insurance policyholders, mortgage and bondholders and endowed institutions, despite political

GERMAN STEEL TRUST MAY BE RULED BY STATE

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A plan to reorganize the German billion dollar steel and coal trust and give the government indirect control over it will be submitted at a stockholders' meeting in Essen Nov. 29.

To be known as the Steel Union, the new grouping proposes a setup with a capitalization of between 500 and 600 million marks [now about $195,000,000 and $234,000,000], mostly accounted for by exchanges of stock in four major companies against stock in the new trust.

Besides steel mills, iron foundries, coal and coke plants, there are to be included in the suggested structure United Steel Works, Phoenix Steel and Mining and the Zypen companies.

With the Gelsenkirchen properties forming the keystone of the projected merger, the government would become one of the principal factors in the steel and coal industry. In July, 1932, Friedrich Flick, controller of the Huge Gelsenkirchen interests, relinquished his stock to the government, acting through the huge Dresdner bank syndicate. Flick was said to have built the giant organization too rapidly and on weak financial underpinnings which necessitated action by banks.

Illinois Bell Telephone Maintains 8% Dividend

Directors of the Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of $2 a share, thus maintaining the 8 per cent annual rate which has been in force since 1908. Practically all the dividends distributed go to the parent company, American Telephone and Telegraph, which last week continued the $9 annual rate which it has maintained through the depression period.

OCTOBER CIGARET OUTPUT IS HIGHER THAN YEAR AGO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—October production of small cigarets in the United States gained 825,042,900 over the corresponding period last year, the internal revenue department reported today, the total output was 9,176,407,703 compared with 8,351,364,803 in October a year ago. Large cigaret production was 284,200 against 302,650 in October, 1932.

The production of small cigarets was 3.7 per cent below the September figure of 9,527,722,933 cigarets, but for ten months of the current year a gain of 9.5 per cent was reported.

Total output for the ten months ended with October was 97,128,778,733 cigarets as compared with 88,652,830,126 in the corresponding period last year.

Bar Silver Rises ¼ Cent; Active Futures Higher

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The silver market for both spots and futures advanced slightly. Bar silver was quoted at 44¾ cents an ounce, up ¼ of a cent and the active months in the futures market gained 30 to 43 points.

A million to lend to 4,000 or more

If 4,000 Chicago families stepped into this bank today or tomorrow, or any time this month, they would find that we have a million dollars of surplus funds which we will be very glad to lend them.

And how!

The amount may be $50 to $5,000, if you please; the note for one year — or less, as you prefer — with the moderate charge for the loan added to the note. You will get the exact amount you want — you will know exactly how much you have to pay back. (There is no accruing interest or extra charge whatsoever during the term of the loan) . . . If you have bankable collateral use that for security; if not, we will lend on the reputation of yourself and two of your friends — the best and most bankable "collateral" on earth with us . . . Time passes very quickly when you owe money — but before you know it you have accumulated the full amount of your loan by the time your note falls due.

Let this be 4,000 invitations all in one, when we say to you and to 3,999 other fine people — "Come in."

New York, Nov. 22.—Heavy selling of United States government bonds, with consequent losses of 6-32ds to 28-32ds point on the day, generally lower prices for domestic corporation issues, and higher quotations for leading foreign loans characterized dealings in bonds on the stock exchange today. The turnover in the listed market jumped to $16,045,500 from $12,715,100 on the previous day, with the totals for United States government bonds $6,626,500 and $3,253,100 for the respective days.

The government bond market opened weak as the aftermath of Prof. Sprague's statement of the administration's monetary policy, which was given out after the close of the previous day's market.

Open at Low Level.

The opening prices on the Liberty loans and long term treasury's issues were at or near the lows of the day. The market was nervous throughout the day and the final prices were nearer the lows than the highs of the day. The treasury 3¼s, 3½s, and 3s touched new lows for the year.

In the domestic corporation group high grade as well as the lower rated issues were under pressure. The losses ranged from fractions up to a maximum of 6 points, with the more active issues generally showing the smallest declines. In comparatively few instances, however, were new lows for the year uncovered. As expressed by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE averages, rails, utilities, and industrials were lower in that order.

Dutch East Indies Liens Lead.

In foreign loans Dutch East Indies issues led the advance, scoring net gains of 4¼ to 6 points. Most of these issues reached record highs. French government and municipal loans climbed fractionally to 2 points and Swiss government 5½s ascended 1⅞ points. United Kingdom loans were boosted 1½ to 2⅜ points and most of the German issues pointed higher under the leadership of the government 7s and 5½s, which were up 1⅜ to 2½ points respectively.

On the curb exchange domestic bonds traveled irregularly lower, many issues losing a point or more. Advances and declines in the foreign group were about evenly balanced.

Cerro de Pasco Copper.

Investors' Guide: Cerro de Pasco—how does it rate?—T. J.

Answer: Cerro de Pasco Copper corporation is one of the important copper producers in the world. Its mines are for the most part located in Peru. The ore contains a substantial percentage of important by-products, including gold, silver, lead and zinc. Extraction of lead and zinc has been discontinued due to low prices for these metals.

Imposition of the 4 cent United States tariff on copper has forced the company into European markets, where it must compete with other low cost producers. Because of the low price received the company has cut down operations to as low a point as possible without closing down completely, turning out only about four million pounds of copper a month.

The following figures reflect the sharp drop in prices of copper and silver as well as curtailment of production:

	Sales.	Loss.	Share.
1932	$ 7,774,000	$5,161,000	$4.60
1931	12,379,000	2,964,000	2.64
1930	23,145,000	1,987,000	1.77

* Profit.

At the close of 1932 current position was impressive. Cash was $673,000, United States government and other obligations $4,750,000 and metal inventories, at or below market, $3,759,000. Current liabilities totaled $577,000.

Profit and loss deficit was $3,283,000.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 1,122,842 shares of no par stock on which nothing has been paid since Feb. 1, 1932.

The company has extensive and rich ore reserves. Its immediate future apparently is dependent primarily on the course of the world price for copper, although a secondary source of consideration is the price for silver.

The company has made extensive improvements since 1928 on which no benefits have yet accrued, due to the low rate of operations. Any improvement in prices should cause this to be reflected in operations.

The stock is speculative.

General Motors.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate it if you would advise me of the amounts and dates of dividends paid on General Motors common in 1932 and 1933.—G. K. H.

Answer: A dividend of 25 cents per share regular and 25 cents extra is payable on the common stock on Dec. 12, 1933. Regular quarterly dividends of 25 cents a share were paid on Sept. 12, June 12, and March 13, 1933. Dividends of 25 cents a share were paid on Dec. 12, Sept. 12, and June 12, 1932, and one of 50 cents a share was paid on March 12, 1932.

STOCKS DRIFT TO LOWER LEVEL IN DULL TRADE

Traders Await Clearing of Monetary Situation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—The stock market held quiet. Traders apparently could not decide on the significance of exchange movement or arguments over the administration's controlled dollar experiment, and were inclined to withhold trading until the situation clears a little.

The market drifted lower and the turnover was extremely light. Leading issues sold off a fraction to 2 points or so, but much sharper losses occurred in a number of preferreds. New York Steam preferred dropped 12⅝ on nominal selling, and setbacks of 2 to 4 points and more were suffered by the preferreds of American Water Works, Goodyear, New Haven railroad, National Lead, Mathieson, and others.

Trade Reviews Encourage.

The midweek trade reviews were mildly encouraging, showing further indications of business improvement. Figures on electric power output were not much changed from the previous week, but railroad carloadings and steel summaries afforded some cheer over near-by prospects.

Most of the day's speculative play in common stocks was carried on among the silver, gold, and chemical shares.

Homestake Mining, which has been in a somewhat dormant mood for several days, fell 17 points on few sales, but Alaska Juneau and McIntyre, which usually trail the leader, made a showing of strength, the latter forging ahead nearly 2 points. American Smelting and U. S. Smelting both scored fractional gains on the day.

Liquor shares dropped to new lows on the move in their third decline in as many days. Holders of these issues were still worrying over the Pennsylvania liquor tax problem.

Rails Irregular.

The rails were irregular most of the day, but the closing gong found most of them behind minus signs. The high priced Norfolk and Western was an exception, mounting 4 points on small volume. Joliet and Chicago fell more than 22 points.

Farm implements were dull with grains, but showed up somewhat better on the final returns than some other "slighted" groups.

Two or three motor stocks did well, Mack Truck being prominent.

Steel and the pivotal industrials were narrow. Most of the food shares held firm, but Borden was an exception.

The market for the most part was a series of back and forth movements, with recoveries growing fainter and fainter toward the close. Professionals accounted for most of the business.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE

Money rates quoted by Chicago banks are as follows: Customers' commercial loans, 4 to 5 per cent; collateral loans, 5 to 6 per cent; brokers' loans, 1½ to 3 per cent; commercial paper, 1¼ to 3 per cent; bankers' acceptances, 30 to 90 days, ⅜ to ½ per cent; 120 days, ⅜ to ⅝ per cent; 150 to 180 days, 1 to ⅝ per cent.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Call money, steady; ¾ per cent all day; time loans, steade; 60 days, ⅜@1 per cent; 3 to 6 months, 1 per cent; prime commercial paper, 1¾ per cent; bankers' acceptances, unchanged. Bar silver steady, ¼ cent higher at 44⅜ cents.

FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Bar gold declined 6 pence to 126s 6d. Money, ½ per cent; discount rates, short bills, 1@1⅛ per cent; three months' bills, 1⅛@1⅜ per cent. Bar silver, quiet; ⅛ lower at 18⅝d.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Three per cent rentes 64 francs 65 centimes; 4½ per cent rentes 81.37. Exchange on London, 83.82½. The dollar was quoted at 15.35.

GRAINS DECLINE, BUT LATE RALLY REDUCES LOSSES

Monetary Situation Seen Dominating Trade.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The monetary situation continues to dominate the action of the grain markets, and the widely varying views expressed by professional traders as to the final outcome is reflected in extremely erratic fluctuations in the markets. Prices of all grains declined yesterday.

Liquidation by recent wheat buyers found support lacking until the May had declined 2⅝ cents from the preceding close, touching 89⅞ cents at the extreme. A good class of commission house buying developed in the last half hour of the session, and the finish was on a fair rally, but net losses of 1⅜ to 1⅝ cents were shown, with May at 90¾ to 91 cents, while the December was 87⅜ to 87¼ cents.

Cash Wheat Starts Moving.

Aside from the monetary situation, the trade had numerous reports which, under normal conditions, might have resulted in considerable speculation. It was reported 300,000 to 400,000 bushels of hard winter wheat would be brought here from Omaha, but whether it was for milling purposes or to start rebuilding the depleted local stock was not known. Two cargoes of spring wheat have already cleared from Duluth for Chicago and another cargo is now being loaded, while 148,000 bushels were shipped to Milwaukee.

Duststorms were reported in Kansas, and complaints of dry weather from the winter wheat belt are increasing. The same situation applies to Argentina.

Buy Wheat Futures.

Exporters were again good buyers of wheat futures at Winnipeg and the Canadian market closed ½ to ⅝ cents lower, failing to follow the full decline in Chicago. Export sales of Manitobas aggregated 800,000 bushels. Liverpool wheat was ¾ to 1 cent per bushel lower at the close.

Export sales of 38,000 bushels corn, including 34,000 bushels yellow, the first of this variety to be sold so far, were reported by the Farmers National Grain corporation yesterday. The grain, which is understood to be held at eastern port, was said to have brought around 8 cents over Chicago December, a figure slightly less than fresh shipments could be laid down from here. This makes a total of nearly 80,000 bushels domestic corn sold abroad in the last three weeks.

Oats weakened with other grains and closed ½ to ⅝ cent lower, May being 37⅞ cents. Rye was off ½ to ⅝ cent, with 92,000 bushels arriving here from Montreal. May closed at 68¾ to 68½ cents. Barley finished 1⅜ to 1⅞ cents lower, with May at 49¼ cents.

DECEMBER LARD HOLDINGS LIQUIDATED; PRICES DROP

Renewed liquidation of holdings of old December lard, from which there were liberal changes to the May delivery, combined with weakness in cash lard, were leading features in a fair trade.

Old December declined 20 cents, and other futures were off the same except for new January, which lost 27½ cents, and 25 cents lower, the latter on old style contracts.

Cash lard was weak, with a fair demand and ample offerings. Regular was off 20 cents to 5.25, loose 22½ cents to 5.02½ cents, and leaf 20 cents to 5.30 cents.

Liverpool lard was 1st 6d lower on spot and leading futures.

Bellies trade was moderate with old December off 40 cents and new 35 cents. Other futures for more deferred deliveries were 12½ to 30 cents lower. Prices:

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

A FEW MEN IMMEDIATELY!

This announcement is addressed to men who are determined to settle down to some permanent business. Most men who have been in other lines know that they must either learn a new trade or profession [which is out of the question for most men with family obligations] or they must get into the selling field—and especially where they do not have to be "spellbinders" or glib talkers.

Specialty selling has proved for years to be the foremost of all classes of selling for real income. But when you can attach yourself to an organization that makes and sells—world wide—the leading specialty in its class, the most widely endorsed, the fastest growing in sales, and paying you generously, there is more than a "break" in this kind of work.

There are men right here in Chicago who have made from $300 to $400 and over since Nov. 1. There are many others who have made close to that—many who never had the slightest sales experience in the past—men from every walk of life, ranging from 25 to 48 years old. You may not make over $135 the first month, but there is no limit beyond that. There are men nationally who average from $5,000 to $8,500 a year, and many of them! They all started with smaller incomes, but they, like you, had the benefits of being trained by successful men. You do not buy anything; deposit or invest any money. But if you have good character references and are looking for a full time, permanent opportunity, it is here waiting for you, provided you come in earnest.

I shall interview personally applicants who will call from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 23, in room 940 Engineering building, 222 N. Wells-st.

AT ONCE.

Three intelligent, neat appearing men who desire a permanent connection with national organization; must be willing to work 8 hours a day; start on our terms. This means about $40 a week to start. If you mean business apply Employment Manager.

ROOM 618, 203 N. WABASH-AV.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

BE IN MONEY MAKING CLASS BY THANKSGIVING!

Next week a very important national holiday occurs. If you have been out of work for some time, or have lately lost your position, you and your family are facing a most stern reality. The longer you go unemployed, the harder it will be. Your independence and your future demand permanency and profit. They call for a regular position in life. And this time you very likely would like to be independent of bosses, seasons, consolidations, and the causes that squeeze the little fellow out of it.

If I believe that you are qualified for this work—if you have good character references, are between 26 and 47 years old, have good health, look like a worker and not an alibi-inventor, and if you have the same confidence in this company that I show in you, then we can get together and work to put you into earnings before Thanksgiving. But if you want only a takeover, it would not pay you to start, or pay us to teach you, because you do not get into the biggest earnings at once. It takes time to develop into the $100.00, $135.00 and $150.00 a week class of men whom you will meet in this business. This is not the top, either, but it is altogether enough to encourage a man whose income is stopped to try for something that he can tie to—without investing or depositing a penny or buying any goods.

There are a good many hundreds of offices in this wide world of ours—and seven large factories making this and other products—and the men who are the biggest earners are men who are on just the same basis that you will have beneath your efforts. Their families are not placed in our estimation or our plan above your family. Their earning could not mean any more to us than it should mean to you—or to them, in our estimation, than we hope it means to you if you join us. It then becomes our business to train you in a practical manner, just as every man here or internationally has been trained.

Men living on the south and southwest sides and in all adjacent suburbs increto will find an opportunity ready for them if they are ready. We are very proud of our reputation of dealing fairly with the men and with the public. We have grown to a position of top importance in the whole line. Scores of men in America alone are averaging from $3,750.00 up to better than $12,000.00 a year. So many men in the last named class, but a number that would surprise you! Still, in starting, all but a few of that number made only $100.00 to possibly $200.00 their first month. It took you years to learn your former trade, business or profession, and it probably will take you some little time to learn this business well enough to make a big income. But not nearly so long a time as you devoted to your former work.

You are invited to call at Room 420 in the Hyde Park Natl. Bank Bldg., Lake Park-av. and E. 53d-st., from 9:30 a. m. to 1:00 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 23.

FOUR MEN

Who Desire a Permanent Connection—Not a Mere Stop-Over.

Here is a job for sincere men who are tired of the experiments and miracles of the old depression era—men who want to get their feet firmly under them on a worthwhile proposition which will enable them to take fullest benefit not only of present bettered conditions but of the brighter period that lies ahead.

Interest every minute. No disheartening dry spells. One business that returns a good living for every honest day's effort.

But—just because it is a money maker—we want NO men who have a tendency to ease up when they have reached a goal.

STARTLING FACTS THAT PUT REAL DRAMA INTO SELLING.

And we will prove every claim by actually going into the field with you and showing what our men are doing every day. We expect, in return, conscientious effort, a full day's work and loyalty that will carry you into the higher positions which this national organization offers.

What we have is a necessity covered by exclusive patents. The men we choose have an opportunity to make from $38 to $75 a week to start.

We submit the following earnings of a few men in our business for last week taken at random:

P. L.	$204.84	A. H.	$92.62
F. D.	112.55	A. B.	58.95
S. P.	72.94	A. P.	55.20

Applicants must be of good appearance and have the best of references. No investment of any sort is asked or required—except the investment of your time in a real future, if you are selected.

Interview will be granted Thursday ONLY between 9 and 11:30. Room 1020 Mather Tower, 75 E. Wacker-dr.

A $30 JOB

for a man with some direct sales exp., who is interested in a steady job. This is the most successful and appealing work yet devised for present conditions. One of the oldest, largest, and best thought of institutions of its kind in the city offers this opportunity. Not selling merchandise. Personal interview between 9 and 4 p.m. Ask for nearest office. South, 2237 W. 39th-st.; West, 2656 W. North-av.; North, 3036 N. Lincoln-av.

I WANT

USED AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

CADILLAC

A Good Used Car Proves the Owner's Good Judgment

IT IS BETTER BUSINESS TO BUY a moderately priced good used car carefully conditioned than to buy a mediocre new car at the same price.

CADILLAC SELLS VALUE IN THEIR diversified exchanged car inventory and each one is backed by Cadillac's 31 years reputation for honest and fair business dealings.

WE LIST ONLY A FEW. OPEN TILL 9 P. M.

1933 CADILLAC AND LA SALLE Show and Demonstrating V-8s, V-12s, and V-16s, will soon be available at worth while savings. Choice of colors, styles, and equipment in this group. Take advantage of this opportunity by an early appointment for trial ride and our latest quotation of price.

CADILLAC V-8 CUST. 5 PASS. 355 '31 Sedan; orig. beige finish; harmonizing brown silk mohair interior show no sign of use; 6 wire wheels, almost new Firestone tires; side mts., covers, grills, and all desirable Cadillac equip. Conditioned and warr. $1,295.

LA SALLE V-8 TOWN SEDAN, 345 '31. A striking example of the values now offered at Cadillac. This distinctive 5 pass. finished in dark blue, with black fenders and trim. Has Lorraine spot, grille, white wall tires, and all La Salle appointments. Specially priced Holiday Value. $795.

BUICK "86" VICTORIA COUPE. The popular 1931 model has been conditioned by our skilful craftsmen and its mechanical condition will serve as new. Deep maroon finish, tan broadcloth interior, beautiful chrome trim, luggage compartment, practically new tires. Original cost $1,735; our new low is only $545.

LINCOLN SPORT CONVERTIBLE '30 Coupe, beautifully finished in black, with deep orange stripe and Marocco upholstery. Its 6 wire wheels have almost new tires side mts., Lorraine spot, rumble seat; the chrome trim is distinctive and has new car appearance and performance. Only $795.

OLDSMOBILE 8 DE LUXE '35 COUPE. Compact, stylish 5 pass. model, used little. Deep maroon finish and gray silk mohair interior; six all steel wheels, side mounts, etc. Fisher no-draft vent, and all latest impr. $795.

PACKARD STAND. 8 DE LUXE '30 7 pass. sedan. Original Packard green, with black leather and broadcloth interior; has 6 wheels with splendid tires and covers; fender lights, trunk rack, etc. The appearance, condition, and performance of this car make it outstanding at $595.

TELEGRAM RECEIVED AT HOME ON TUESDAY.
Reproduction of message sent by Earle Wynekoop to his mother, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, from Peoria after he had left Chicago with Stanley Young. (Story on page 1.)

Sunday night. 1
Precious - I'm whirled - you are gone — you have called me up — and after ten minutes or so, I called and called — no answer!
Maybe you are sleeping —
You see I'm but I want to hear your voice again tonight —
I would give anything
I have — to spend an hour — in real talk with you — tonight —
and I cannot — —

LETTER TO SON SCANNED FOR SLAYING CLEW.
Reproduction of letter written by Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop to her son, Earle, but never mailed. It, with many other letters and telegrams, plays part in the investigation. [TRIBUNE Photo.] (Story on page 1.)
